Several Rescues At Nonantum Fire

Firemen Assist Several Families At Two-Alarm Fire

A fire which started in the cellar of the three story brick and frame structure at 138 Adams street, Nonantum last Friday night endangered the lives of 10 persons and resulted in a number of rescues by Newton firemen. The fire started in the cellar of the building in some wood piled near a furnace. Several men were holding a political conference in Columbus Building which adjoins the structure where the fire occurred. They noticed smoke issuing from the building at 10:20 and pulled an alarm from Box 24 at Hose 8 house nearby. The first floor of the building is occupied by a market and barber shop and the two upper floors by Antonio Magni and family and Giuseppe Colletti. Members of these families, including small children were assisted from the building by Hoseman Nicolas Bibbo and Frank Turner of Hose 8 Chris Keating and Roland Marchand of Engine 1. Some of those rescued had to be taken down ladders. Angelo Anicelli of 192 Adams street assisted Mr. Colletti to the street. A second alarm pulled at 10:30 attracted a large crowd to the scene. Considerable damage resulted from smoke and water although the fire was confined to the first floor.

LOTON DREW JENNINGS

Loton Drew Jennings, a prominent lawyer with offices at 15 Congress street, Boston, died after a short illness on Wednesday, December 2, 1931. He was born at North Wayne, Maine, April 14, 1877, the son of Hiram N. and Emma Palmer Jennings. He entered the seminary at Kent's Hill, Maine, graduating in the Class of 1895, and then entered Bowdoin College from which he was graduated in 1899. While there he was a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity and for two years played center on the Varsity football team. After graduation he attended Harvard Law School, from which he received his degree in 1902. He then became a member of the Massachusetts Bar, and has since practiced law in Boston. For many years he was associated with the late Anson M. Lyman. On July 28, 1908, he married Maud Stearns, of Auburn, Maine, who, with a son, Loton Drew Jennings, survives him. Services will be held at his late residence, 71 Hancock street, Newton Centre, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday, December 5th. The honorary pallbearers will be A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., Walter S. Came, Dr. William E. Preble, Willard P. Libby, Chester C. Butts, Arthur T. Haven, Henry T. Brine and Rogers Dow. Interment will be in Wayne, Maine.

THREE INJURED IN COLLISION

Cars driven by Helen Ellis of 551 Chestnut street, Waban and George Shaldone of Reservoir street, Needham collided Wednesday afternoon at Homer and Walnut streets, Newton Centre. Miss Ellis, Shaldone and Albert Dandonia who was riding with him all claimed to have received injuries.

Elks Plan Sunday Memorial Service

Elks' Hall

Newton Lodge, No. 1327, B. P. O. Elks, will hold its Memorial Day Exercises on Sunday evening, December 6th, at the Elks' Home, Newton, at 8:00 p. m.

The first Sunday in December has been designated by the Grand Lodge of the Order as a day on which all Elks and their friends gather to express the sentiments of true Elksdom in paying tribute to those who have passed beyond.

The committee has arranged an impressive program, and have secured as the speaker Hon. John P. Brennan, of Cambridge Lodge of Elks. Music will be furnished by the Newton Lodge Quartet: Joseph Antonelli, Thomas Coppinger, Louis Tabaldi and George Brophy.

The following Officers of Newton Lodge will participate in the exercises: Dr. Fred M. Lowe, Exalted Ruler; D. Walter Kearns, E. Leading Knight; William F. Parker, E. Loyal Knight; Hugh Boyd, E. Lect. Knight; Thomas F. Coppinger, Secretary; Vincent M. Turley, Treasurer; Matthew Hurley, Tiler; Thomas L. Ryan, Esquire; Edwin N. Soule, Chaplain; Francis V. Terry, Inner Guard; George King, Organist; William U. Fogwill, William A. Sprout, Stephen B. Hughes, J. J. Coppinger, William Hopkins, Trustees.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE AT PARAMOUNT

On Saturday morning, December 12 at ten o'clock, the Paramount Theatre will give a special show for the benefit of the poor families of Newton. There will be no admission charge but those who attend are asked to bring clothing, canned goods, vegetables and toys suitable to bring Christmas cheer to homes where otherwise there would be none. The city firemen have agreed to fix toys in need of repair. It is asked that all clothing be clean and sanitary and that the size of shoes and stockings be marked on slips of paper tied to the bundle. Mr. J. N. Snider, manager of the Paramount, hopes that the people of Newton will get behind this performance, as they did for the benefit performance for the unemployed recently, and get into their attics and old trunks and see how many discarded articles they can find. The services of the entire theatre staff are given free at this show.

WEST NEWTON WOMAN AUTO VICTIM

Mrs. Mary O'Neil of River street, West Newton, was struck by an automobile Tuesday evening while crossing Prospect street, Waltham. Her right leg was broken in two places and her right elbow fractured. She was taken to the Waltham Hospital. The car which hit her was driven by Herbert Johnson of 58 Curtis street, Waltham.

Several Aldermanic Contests At City Election Next Tuesday

Three Contests For Aldermen-At-Large, Five For Ward Aldermen—
No Opposition in Mayoralty or School Committee Seats

On next Tuesday, on December 8th, the city election in Newton will be held. Mayor Weeks will have no opponent. The anticipated fight for the office of School Committee member from Ward 6 will not occur because of the withdrawal of Mr. Lockett. Only a small percentage of the voters will go to the polls. This apathy on the part of the voters of this city is proof that they do not realize to what extent their interests are affected by the power vested in the Newton Board of Aldermen and the actions of this governing body. The tax rate of the city, changes in zoning, permits for gasoline filling stations, street improvements, the condition of the water supply, new schools and their locations—these are but a few of the things vitally affecting the people of Newton that are determined to a great degree by the Aldermen.

There are 14 Aldermen to be elected on Tuesday, December 8: Seven Aldermen-at-Large and seven Ward Aldermen. Some of the present Aldermen who are candidates for re-election have no opposition. Included among these fortunate men are Alderman Howlett in Ward 1, Aldermen Gordon and Smith in Ward 4, Alderman Pratt in Ward 6, Aldermen Hawkins and Murray in Ward 7. Members of the present Board of Aldermen who have opponents are Alderman Grebenstein in Ward 2, Alderman Bowen in Ward 3, Aldermen Chandler and Temperley in Ward 5, Alderman Holden in Ward 6. There are contests in Wards 1, 2 and 3 for the positions to be vacated in these Wards by Ward Aldermen Powers, Woodcock and Prior.

In Ward 1 the candidates for Ward Aldermen are William A. Sprout of 14 Thornton street, Newton, and Harold A. Murray of 181 Pearl street, Newton. Mr. Sprout has been actively interested in the affairs of Ward 1 for many years. He has been associated for many years with the Walworth Manufacturing Company of Boston. Mr. Murray has not heretofore manifested any activity in public affairs. He has been an accountant by occupation.

In Ward 2 George W. Grebenstein of 36 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, who is the present Alderman-at-Large has two opponents—Reuben Kilgman of 156 Watertown street, Newtonville, and Frank L. Wilcox of 464 Albe-marle road, Newtonville. Kilgman ran against Grebenstein two years ago and was defeated by the latter after a campaign which resulted in Kilgman being haled into court by his opponent for libel. The charge was dropped when Kilgman apologized. Mr. Grebenstein is a manufacturer of automobile tools. Mr. Kilgman is a clothing salesman. Mr. Wilcox is manager of the Curtis & Pope Lumber Company yard at Newtonville. He has been prominently identified with patriotic and fraternal organizations in this city.

For the office of Ward Alderman in Ward 2 there are also three candidates—Angelo T. Annicelli of 192 Adams street, Nonantum; James T. Flynn of 15 Carter street, Newtonville, and Donald M. Hill of 16 Madison avenue, Newtonville. These men seek the office to be vacated by Alderman Fred W. Woodcock. Mr. Annicelli is in the real estate and insurance business at Nonantum. Mr. Flynn is a lawyer by profession. Mr. Hill is engaged in the leather business at Boston.

In Ward 3 Alderman Benjamin J. Bowen of 13 Hillside terrace, West Newton, is being opposed by Alfred V. Guzzi for the office of Alderman-at-Large. Mr. Bowen, who is completing his third year as a member of the Board, is associated with the New England Telephone Company in Boston. Mr. Guzzi is employed by the Newton Street Department.

There are three candidates for the office of Ward Alderman in Ward 3. Chester Prior, who has served for the past 4 years will not run for re-election. Those who will try to succeed him are Bernard D. Farrell, Jr., of 3 Cherry Place, West Newton; J. Ward Kelly of 21 Taft avenue, West Newton and Julius B. Ramm of 32 Elm street, West Newton. Mr. Farrell is a salesman for the Woburn Hart Oil Company; Mr. Kelly is a photographer for Bachrach Inc.; Mr. Ramm is a clothing salesman in Boston.

In Ward 5 John Temperley of Thurston road, Newton Upper Falls, who has served the past 4 years as one of the Aldermen-at-Large from the Ward is being opposed by James W. Gibson of 422 Chestnut street, Waban. Willard L. McKenzie of 8 Richardson road, Newton Upper Falls, is also a candidate. Mr. Temperley is in the printing business at Newton Centre and has been in close touch with public affairs of this city for over 40 years. Mr. Gibson, who is in the real estate business at Newton Centre is attempting to break the custom which has prevailed for the past 34 years since the city has been operating under its present charter whereby each Ward has 3 aldermen. During this long period each of the three villages in Ward 5, Newton Upper Falls, Newton Highlands, and Waban has had one of the three aldermen each year. Waban has usually been represented by the Ward Alderman and is at present in the person of James R. Chandler of Ridge road, whose re-election is virtually assured. If Mr. Gibson were elected, Waban will have two aldermen and the Upper Falls none.

Mr. Chandler has an opponent for the office of Ward Alderman in the person of Frank J. Murphy of 960 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls. Mr. Murphy is an electrician.

In Ward 6 Sydney B. Holden of 38 Braelard avenue, who is a candidate for re-election as Ward Alderman is opposed by Anthony Oliver of 1324 Centre street, Newton Centre. The latter is a newcomer to Newton Centre and an ambitious youth. He announced his intention to seek an aldermanic office before he became eligible to vote in this city.

GREBENSTEIN DENIES RUMOR

Alderman George W. Grebenstein, who is a candidate for reelection, is being accused of opposition to a move to have the City of Newton take out automobile liability insurance to protect its employees in case of accidents in which automobiles they are driving may be involved. Mr. Grebenstein asserts that he is not opposed to the city taking out such insurance.

Last year as a result of a number of claims having been presented against the City because of accidents in which city owned automobiles were involved, Alderman Powers at a meeting of the Board remarked, after a claim against the City had been given leave to withdraw, "Inasmuch as the City is not liable for any damage which may be caused by automobiles owned by it, drivers of City owned automobiles should exercise unusual care." Alderman Grebenstein coincided with this view of Powers. The newspaper in an adjoining city in referring to their remarks gave the impression that they had accused City employees of being responsible for accidents. As a result of this misinformation the two aldermen were severely criticized at the next meeting of the City Employees' Local.

REPORT OF THE CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES

Reports from Local secretaries in Greater Boston and outlying cities indicate that the sale, so far, is keeping pace with that of 1930.

The spirit of giving is growing day by day to meet the pitiful need of help all about us. There is confident belief that the sale of Seals in Newton to carry on the important and ever watchful care of the health of Newton children, will be foremost in the hearts of Newton citizens. A dime saved here or there in purchase of Christmas gifts will easily total to a generous purchase of Christmas seals, and will put in the heart of every one a warm glow of satisfaction in having contributed to a gift of health.

Residents Demand Real Junior High

Petition Being Circulated in Wards
1 and 7

A petition is being circulated by parents of children attending the so-called junior high school at the Bigelow School building on Park street, Newton. While designated as a junior high school this educational unit provides facilities for only the 7th and 8th grades. Children of the 9th grade in the Bigelow district must go to the Newton High School at Newtonville as the converted grammar school building at Newton Corner has insufficient facilities to provide complete junior high accommodations. Last year a wing was built onto the school building to provide a gymnasium. When this wing was to be constructed it was stated that its erection would make the Bigelow School a real junior high; but such a result has not been achieved.

Contrasted with the excellent facilities provided at the Day and Warren junior high schools in Newtonville and West Newton, and by the Weeks junior high school at Newton Centre, which cost well over $750,000, the alleged junior high school at Newton is but an apology. The petition which is addressed to the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee reads as follows:

We, the undersigned, residents of Wards 1 and 7 of the City of Newton, respectfully petition the School Committee and the Board of Aldermen to take at once such measures as will make the Bigelow School in Ward 7 conform to the standards of the Newton school system as a complete Junior High School, for operation as such by September, 1932.

NEWTON POLICEMAN SHOOTS SELF

Patrolman Frederick J. Reagan of the Newton police was seriously wounded Tuesday night when a bullet from a .38 calibre service revolver entered the left side of his chest and passed through his body until it nearly emerged from his back. Reagan was at his home, 119 Norwood avenue, Newtonville, and was cleaning his revolver when the weapon discharged. His wife summoned Dr. Anton Fried and Reagan was rushed to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. He is resting comfortably and will recover.

Four Conflicts In Manchurian Crisis

Exchange Professor Tells Newton
Rotarians

Members of the Newton Rotary Club were given an interesting and detailed word-picture of conditions in Manchuria at the regular meeting of the local service organization at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday. The guest speaker, Prof. Lucian C. C. Porter of the University of Teintsin, China, and exchange professor at Harvard University, from his opening remarks to his concluding appeal kept the entire attention of his audience with his description of the series of conflicts leading to present conditions.

With the aid of a map his remarks regarding the location of the various railroads, cities and scenes of conflict were clearly illustrated. Many did not realize that Manchuria is a region of about 360,000 square miles which would include a portion of the United States equal to the states bounded on the north by the Canadian border, on the south by the Ohio river and the southern boundary of the state of Pennsylvania and east of the Mississippi river from Wisconsin to the Atlantic ocean and including all of New England. Manchuria is rich in resources with the valleys of the two largest rivers providing much fertile soil for agriculture and the mountain regions offering much in the way of forests and minerals. The production of whale oil is another large industry in this region. In China many of the young men have gone north into Manchuria and at the present time more than thirty million Chinese are residing in Manchuria and have had much to do with its development. The railroads have been built largely with foreign capital with Russia putting the first line through before the end of the 19th century and before the Russo-Japanese war under an agreement with China. The Russian desire to control this region politically was smashed when Japan was victorious at the war between the two countries. After the war the branch railroad which connected Port Arthur, the southernmost Korean port, with Mukden and other large cities of the interior was ceded to Japan. In 1915 China entered into an agreement with Japan whereby the Japanese were to be given the option on all foreign loans sought for the construction of railroads. Some of these railroads have not been paid for and in some cases even the interest on the loan

A Living Trust

—so called because it goes into effect immediately. It is a simple contract whereby a man turns over any portion or all of his property to the Bank as trustee for the latter to manage. It is flexible so as to meet any man's needs and may be terminated at any time.

It is designed to relieve a person of all of the perplexing problems involved in the management of property. The expense of the Living Trust is extremely modest.

Our interesting booklet explains the different kinds of trusts. Ask for a copy of "Concerning Wills and Trusts."

THIRTY-TWO VARSITY LETTERS AWARDED FOR GRIDIRON PLAY

Letters were awarded thirty-two members of the Newton High School varsity football squad at the meeting of the High School athletic committee this week. The list includes twenty-nine seniors, two juniors and the manager to make the longest list for many years. In addition five major letters were awarded to the five members of the cross-country team who placed in the interscholastic run and three minor letters in the same sport. Cross-country being a minor sport only minor letters are given except to point winners in interscholastic competition. Twenty-three intermediate varsity letters and twenty-seven junior varsity letters with intermediate letters to two assistant managers and four junior varsity awards to four other assistant managers.

The appointments of R. E. Lavery as ice hockey manager and of Stearns MacNutt as basketball manager were also approved.

SPORT NOTES*Two On Crimson Sextet

Newton will have two representatives on the Harvard varsity hockey squad this winter in the persons of Francis Gleason and Wilson Crosby. For many years Newton youths have played a prominent part in making Crimson ice history. With both of these youths playing defence it will be interesting to watch the extent of their success in stopping Alie Fletcher, former Newton athlete now at Yale, Frank Spain, former Newton high star now at Dartmouth and are local college hockey players. Harvard is being coached again this year by Frank Stubbs, former Newton high and Harvard star. Crosby is one of eight letter men on hand while Gleason, a sophomore was outstanding last year on the Harvard freshman six. Crosby prepared at Exeter and Gleason at Country Day.

With Husky Freshman

Northeastern University freshmen track prospects should take a decided boost with the word that Walter Holmes, star negro sprinter, of the Newton High team last year, is to enroll this week. Holmes was one of the outstanding runners on Newton's championship team last season. Husky freshmen track candidates are practicing in preparation for the opening meet with the Brown freshman on Jan. 16. Other members of Newton's 1930 team are candidates. George Lamb, Newton distance star, who scored many points for the Husky freshman in cross-country this fall, is the leading distance runner. Lamb was runner-up to Uniacke of Bowdoin for the N. E. freshman intercollegiate title. Bill Quigley, Newton high relay runner a year ago, is a leading candidate in the 300-yard run.

McCruden To Be Mainstay

Jimmie McCruden, ex-Newton high distance star, is expected to be the mainstay of the Northeastern University varsity two-mile relay team this winter. He is the college half-mile record holder, as well as the Eastern intercollegiate indoor and outdoor 880-yard king. He also was N. E. A. U. 600-yard champion and joint holder of the Husky record at this distance.

WINTER SPORTS SCHEDULE ISSUED

At a meeting of the Newton High School Athletic Committee on Tuesday of this week the schedules for meets and games for indoor track, basketball and hockey, as arranged by Dr. Oscar Martin, Faculty manager, were approved. As in previous years the track team will engage in four dual meets and the four big interscholastic meets at Northeastern University; the B. A. A. at Andover Academy, and the State meet. The State meet this coming February will be held at the Boston Garden instead of at the East Armory. This will be a boon to the many school teams which compete with spiked shoes all winter as spikes will be permitted at the Garden. Many schools have been handicapped in previous years by competing at the East Armory where only rubber soled shoes are allowed. The local dual schedule opens on Friday, Jan. 8th, with Medford on the Northeastern University track at the Boston Y. M. C. A.

The basketball team has thirteen games scheduled with one open date for which Dr. Martin is trying to complete arrangements for a fourteenth contest. The schedule includes two games with each team except with Milton Academy. The one meeting between these two quintets will be staged at Newton on January 13th. The Suburban league schedule will open with a trip to Somerville on January 19th. Rindge, Cambridge Latin are the other members of the Suburban league basketball circuit. The Newton five will open the season against one of the strongest teams on the schedule on January 6th with Watertown visitors. Newton will also close the season against the same outfit with a trip to Watertown on Feb. 19th.

The hockey team, with its usual optimistic attitude towards having plenty of outdoor ice, opens its season the earliest of the three winter sports teams. Coach Dr. Martin's sextet will swing into action the day after Christmas and the Newton hockey fans hope Santa Claus will bring plenty of ice. The start is made early in order that the Greater Boston Interscholastic league may take advantage of the Boston Garden surface for a complete set of games between the eight league members on seven Saturdays. This arrangement means that most of the eight league teams will be opening their season with a league game. Newton will meet Stoneham, Melrose will face Belmont, Cambridge Latin will play Arlington and Rindge will oppose Medford, the newcomers to the circuit in place of Woburn. The schedules follow:

SPORT NOTES*Add To Crimson Prospects

With football over and attention being turned to winter sports the Harvard track team, captained by "Gene" Record of Brookline, began practice this week with prospects of a bright season. Several veterans are on hand with good running and field event men coming up from the varsity, Hamilton Kollmyer, quarter-miler, Joe Fox, distance runner, and the two local youths who are rated as veterans, Harold Ham competes to some extent in the weight events last year and is a prospect this season. Carl Pescosolido, star sprinter on the freshman team last year, is expected to carry much of the burden in the shorter dashes.

ALL SCHOLASTIC HONORS FOR NEWTON PLAYERS

With the schoolboy football season over the annual selection of all-scholastic teams naturally follows. On the various all-teams this season Newton youths have shared well. As is our usual custom we present a team composed of players selected from Newton and Newton's opponents of the season. Our team this year is the strongest that can be named, we believe, with such restrictions and it would hold its own with many of the all-teams chosen from the entire field. Our selections are made from the play of each individual in the game with Newton and not on the reports of the entire season which are only gleaned from hearsay.

Joe Reagan, Somerville captain, is named captain of our all-Newton-and-opponent eleven. Teaming with Plummer, who played end on offence and centre on defence this pair ruined the Newton attack time after time and were the biggest factors in the Somerville line which enabled the Dickerman outfit to beat Newton. Chesterfield's ball-carrying ability and speed wins him a place in the back-field. It was his touchdown that tumbled Newton. Had Newton tied Somerville that afternoon it would have ended in a tie for the Suburban league title and had Newton won from Somerville the hunting would now be resting in the Newton trophy case.

Carl Stein and Ray Moss of Everett were also outstanding in Everett's 7 to 6 victory over Newton. Stein made many of the tackles while Moss, not only backed up his line in fine style while playing a six man defence, but scored the touchdown which with Gallagher's placekick gave Everett its tying and winning points. It will be remembered that Newton received the opening kickoff and immediately tossed a pass deep in its own territory on first down. It was a so-called "trick" play and went for a fair gain but like all such plays can be used with safety but once in a game. When Newton received the kickoff at the opening of the second half Moss sized the situation up and was prepared for anything. When Newton unfortunately tried the same trick play he just raced in to intercept the pass and was off for the touchdown. It was one of the most noticeable pieces of quick thinking on the field of play that we witnessed all season. This gives four of the seven places in the line to the only two teams which defeated Newton, the two tackle berths and the centre. For the other end Martowski of Waltham stood out despite the one-sided Newton victory. He spoiled many a play for Newton and on the offence cleared the path for his teammates often. His handling of a forward-lateral pass as the middle man was clean and enabled Blekaitis to get away for goodly gains. The two guard berths go to Frank Vassalotti of Newton and Burgess of Rindge. The former played his steady reliable game which brought him all-scholastic honors last year while the latter was the hardest man for Newton to get out of the way in its 6 to 0 league win over Rindge.

Our backfield Warren Huston of Newton, Billy Chesterfield of Somerville, Oliver LaRonde of Cambridge Latin and Vito Ananis of Rindge offers a quartet of lads whose ability could present a diversified attack that would penetrate the defence of the strongest lines. With Huston throwing the passes and Chesterfield on the receiving end the aerial threat of this backfield would be tremendous. Ananis was one of the hardest running backs of the year on a mediocre team. With a strong line in front of him and with LaRonde and Huston to block, both being capable of clearing out in great style, many so-called "perfect" touchdown plays might well result. LaRonde also stood out on a weak Cambridge Latin eleven that fought gallantly but failed to emerge victorious in a single one of its eleven games.

But along with these eleven players many others played good football. For honorable mention we name the following:

Ends—Caroselli (Everett), Perkins, Levenson, Malloy (Newton), Hayes, Carleton (Somerville), Cahill, Swartz (Brookline), Parker (Rindge) and Saxe (Quincy).

Tackles—Gullian, Giles, Kevorkian (Newton), Sherrill (Brookline) Dzenolet (Camb. Lat.).

Guards—Collura (Waltham), DeMaio (Newton), Dumas (Everett), Boucher (Camb. Lat.), Liard (Arlington).

Centres—Lyons, Patterson (Newton), Lourie (Brookline), Gallagher (Waltham), Aylward (Woburn). Backs—Gagliardi, Schwerdt (Everett), Falco, Lynch, Androski (Somerville), Blackler, Duane, Cahill (Newton), McGrail (Brookline), Blekaitis (Waltham), Hopkins (Camb. Lat.) Scheeren (Woburn), Hicks, Pochini (Arlington).

In the all-scholastic selections by other papers Newton fared well indeed. The Transcript publishes an All-Suburban league eleven that is a composite vote of the five league coaches, each refraining from voting for players on his own eleven. On this composite team Warren Huston is a unanimous choice for a halfback position. Frank Vassalotti was named by Coach

Letters in football at Tufts have been awarded with two former Newton high stars in the list. The two are Romaine Cole, end and captain of the Newton High 1927 team and a senior at Tufts, and Gordon Linberg, star tackle on the 1929 Newton High team, a sophomore.

NOVEMBER BUILDING REPORT

The report of the Public Buildings Department for the month of November shows that 70 permits were issued during that period. Of this number 23 were for single dwellings calling for an estimated valuation of $205,000; 24 for private garages with an estimated cost of $12,885; 21 for alterations on buildings with an estimated cost of $10,741.

Up to December 1st, 1931, the number of permits issued by the Buildings Department totalled 865 as compared with 1006 issued during the similar period in 1930 and 1348 issued in 1929.

LOCAL CITY EMPLOYEES' MEETING

The regular meeting of Newton City Employees' Local No. 175 will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 sharp, in Columbus Hall, corner Watertown and Adams streets, Nonantum. Nomination of officers for the coming year will take place and other business of importance.

The meeting will adjourn at 8:30 at which time the candidates for different municipal offices in Newton will speak. The public is invited to attend.

ELKS' PENNY FOOD SALE

Newton Lodge of Elks will hold a Penny Food Sale on Saturday night, December 19, at the Elks' Home, Centre street, Newton. The entire proceeds of this sale will be devoted to the Welfare Work of the Lodge and will be used for the distribution of Christmas Charity to the poor of Newton. All donations of foodstuffs will be appreciated. There will be an entertainment, a buffet supper will be served and dancing will be enjoyed. Three awards of merit of $100, $75 and $50 will be presented. Members of the Elks and the general public are urged to co-operate in making this affair a success.

The Weavers Guild of Boston will have an exhibition and sale of hand woven articles at the Bonner Atwood Studio, 763 Washington street, Newtonville, on Dec. 7, 8, 9.—Advertisement.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTS

ELECTION DAY. Tuesday, December 8th, is Election Day. Vote! Even if there are no great State or national crises, VOTE!

This is what Hon. Frederic W. Cook, Secretary of State, has to say upon the subject of voting. In his office, he has opportunity to see many angles of citizenship in its problems and duties, so that his appeal should have the consideration of all thoughtful people. The privilege and duty of voting should be taken seriously. The habit of voting may be acquired by exercising it.

"Frequently, much too frequently, we hear complaint that our government is controlled by bosses and that the people as a whole have no voice in public affairs. To a certain extent this may be true, but the blame for this condition, if such condition exists, is due, not so much to the so-called bosses or selfish interests as to the apathy, the negligence, of the great masses of voters themselves.

We voters may have any kind of government we desire. The great trouble is, we fail in such large numbers to express that desire in the only way that counts—by the ballot on election day. There is only one way to drive and keep corrupt interests out of government and that is by defeating them and their candidates for office."

"Members of women's clubs all over the Commonwealth are today actively campaigning in the interests of one of their members for national office, and I hope she will win for she is in every way qualified—but do these same women take a like interest in town, city, state or national elections? Do they participate in primaries, caucuses or conventions? Are they identified with one or the other of the leading political parties? Do they insist that the party to which they belong shall nominate candidates as well qualified for public office as is Mrs. Poole for that high office in national club life for which you women are unitedly supporting her? We cannot be sure of having good public officers unless the voters of both parties first go to the polls and nominate them and then elect them."

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Chinese Embroideries and their Stories" will be the fascinating subject of a talk which Mrs. Frederick Morris will give before the Newtonville Woman's Club, at the Central Congregational Church, on Monday, December 7th, at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Morris will explain the meaning of the different figures embroidered on Chinese fabrics, and more fully to illustrate her stories she supplements her lecture with a superb collection of Chinese embroideries. This talk will help those who already possess pieces of Chinese art to a fuller appreciation of them, and will teach others to buy more understandingly in the future. The lecture is open to all members and friends of the Club on payment of an admission fee of fifty cents.

Another all-day meeting of the Hospital committee will take place on Thursday, December 10th, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The committee will meet at the Newton Hospital and as before the members will bring lunch, and coffee and dessert will be served. The work accomplished at the last meeting was greatly appreciated and the ten ladies who met at that time all report a delightful time. Mrs. R. Ward Hillman, the former chairman, met with the committee in the absence of the present chairman, Mrs. Henry J. Baringer.

Christian Era Study Club

The Christian Era Study Club will hold a meeting on the afternoon of December 7th, at the home of Miss Margaret Haskell, of 5 Vista avenue, Auburndale. Papers on "Ireland and the Fenians," and "Mexico and Archduke Maximilian," will be given by Mrs. Clarence S. Hosmer, and Mrs. Edward P. Allen, respectively.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Dr. Harry B. Bernstein of Oriental University, Washington, D. C., will address the West Newton Women's Educational Club at their meeting on Friday, December 11th. At present he is the leading plastic surgeon in Boston, and his interesting career, which has called him to the four corners of the world, has eminently fitted him to present an unusual interpretation of his subject "Plastic Surgery."

The Juniors have extended an invitation to the Senior Club members to meet with them, on Tuesday evening, December 8th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Parish House of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church.

West Newton Junior Educational Club

The Juniors of the West Newton Educational Club are fairly well launched for a successful season with Miss Barbara Lester, president; Miss Kate Black, factotum; Miss Harriet Hadd, Secretary; and Miss Eleanor Rhodes, treasurer.

By means of a rummage sale in October, held in West Newton square, the treasury at the moment is treble what it has ever been in the history of the Junior Club.

At the November meeting, tryouts were held for a play to be presented in February, for the benefit of Newton's Unemployed Fund. The leading parts are being taken by Miss Constance Dort, Miss Phoebe Giles, and Miss Barbara Lester. More about this anon!

A dance, that is to take place at the West Newton Neighborhood Club, December 21st, is progressing famously. The committee for the dance is: Miss Elizabeth Bencks, Miss Margaret McGary and Miss Kate Black.

This year the Juniors have admitted four new members: Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Elizabeth Bencks, Miss Margaret McGary, and Miss Leona Trask. The December meeting will be held Tuesday evening, December 8th, at the Baptist Church, when the Juniors will entertain the Senior Club.

Auburndale Woman's Club

"The Devil's Disciple," by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented before the Auburndale Woman's Club at the next meeting, Tuesday afternoon, December 8th. The Reader, Adele Hoes Lee, a member of the faculty at the Leland Powers School of Oratory, is well-known to Club audiences. This play of Shaw's is his only one in which the scene is laid in America. Mrs. George E. Felton will be chairman of the day.

Social Science Club

Dr. H. H. Powers, well known author, lecturer and travel-leader, will speak to the Social Science Club on Wednesday, December 9th, at 10 o'clock. His subject will be "The Legacy of Isabella, the Catholic." This will be a guest meeting, held in the Parlors of the Channing Church.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On Wednesday, December 9th, at 3 p. m. a delightful occurrence will take place, for the Newton Centre Woman's Club, when daughters of members, in the Junior Club have invited all members of the Senior Club to be their guests, and have arranged an afternoon of unusual interest. There will be a few musical selections, and Mr. Julius Lucht will speak on the work of the Newton Library. Tea will be served.

At 10:30 a. m., Thursday, December 10th, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole will resume her morning Current Events talks. Her first talk was given as a lecture following the dinner in her honor at the Clubhouse, November 12th.

On Friday, December 11th, at 2:30 o'clock, the Club will be hostess to the Twelfth District Legislative Conference. Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, first vice-president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Harriet Russell Hart, Legislative chairman, will be the speakers. Tea will be served following the Conference.

Newton Community Club

The Newton Community Club will hold its next meeting on Thursday, December 10th, at 2:30 o'clock in the Underwood School Auditorium.

Mrs. Helen L. Green, one of the Club members, has collected costumes from the out-of-the-way corners of Europe, where few travelers touch in their tours. These costumes have come from the remote regions unspoiled as yet by standardized fashions. From France, Breton coiffures and sabots are fairly familiar, but less often seen are the German Schwalmish dames in tea-cup hats and multitudinous petticoats which will appear on Thursday. It will be discovered that Holland has more to offer than the well-known Vollenhane and Warken caps; and that the Spreewald region of Germany is like a mammoth flower garden when her lovely women are attired in their beauteous gowns. All may know "Bavarian" shorts and Spanish mantillas, but even so, they cause a thrill each time they are seen. Children dressed in long, sweeping dresses, aprons, and tiny hats, is the style in Hesse, one of the provinces of Germany. Those taking part in the display of these fascinating costumes are: Bavarian, Margaret White; Breton, Bobbie Furman; Holland, Faith Wing and Helen Bradshaw; Breton, Gladys Rogers; Hessian, Bessierella Bacon; Spanish, Mrs. Wye Shaw; Schwalmish, Emma Montanarri; Spreewald, Martha Wing; and America, Doris Lockwood.

On the musical program there will be the well-known pianist, a Newton man, Mr. Claire Leonard, Harvard graduate A.B. and A.M., a young man who won the John Knowles Paine Traveling Fellowship at Harvard, so enabling him to study with Mlle. Naida Boulanger in Paris for two years. Mr. Leonard taught music for six years at Harvard, was choir master and organist in three churches in Cambridge, and now teaches at the Longy School of Music.

The Newton Glass Company is exhibiting a collection of etchings, aqua tints, mezzos tints, and dry point. This exhibit is sponsored by the New York Graphical Society and the etchings were done by American and foreign etchers.

A group of women have been invited to attend this meeting as guests from the Mother's Club of the Stearns School Center.

At the close of the meeting there will be a Food Sale to aid the Philanthropic Fund. The committee consists of Mrs. Harold Moore, chairman; Mrs. C. C. Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Douglass, and Mrs. Lona White. Those helping to solicit food are Miss Marian Bryant, Mrs. Sayford Bacon, Mrs. Frank Dennison, Mrs. Leslie Marshall, Mrs. Ralph Angier, and Miss Adelaide Ball.

If anyone has any clothing suitable to pass on to needy families they are asked to notify Mrs. Harry M. Weber, Newton North 2295.

Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, the Club president, requests any members having toys at their disposal to get in touch with her at once, as the Christmas party is near at hand.

Shakespeare Club

The Shakespeare Club has a great treat in store for the meeting to be held December 12th.

Miss Virginia Drew will be the hostess and also will have full charge of the meeting, scheduled as "Christmas Festivities". There will be prize Shakespearean contests and other surprises.

As Miss Drew resides in Hingham, Mrs. William E. Moore of 55 Hillside road, Newton Highlands, will open her home for the occasion.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

An outstanding date for members of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club at the Club Workshop, is Sunday, December 13th. The annual Crèche Exhibition, which is free to all, will open at 2:30 p. m. and close at 10 p. m. The hostesses in the afternoon will be Mrs. Harry P. Forte, president; Mrs. Seward W. Jones, and Mrs. Walter B. Goddard; and tea will be served by Mrs. Joseph C. Allen, Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne and Mrs. Carl Kolb.

Carols and other Christmas music will be rendered by the Club Chorus in the evening.

The Crèche Exhibition will be in charge of the Art Committee; the Christmas tree decorations in charge of the Garden Club, and the decorated tables will be in charge of Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs.

Twelfth District Conference

Several pertinent legislative measures will be discussed at the Twelfth District Legislative Conference, on Friday, December 11th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Clubhouse of Newton Centre Woman's Club. This is the first in the series of ten conferences arranged by the Division of Legislation of the State Federation, of which Division Mrs. Fred V. Hart, of Lynn, is chairman. Mrs. Seldon E. James, of Wellesley Hills, the district director, and Mrs. John F. Capron, hostess president, will assist with the program.

Senator William F. Shanahan, of Swampscott, will discuss compulsory automobile insurance, and Representative Mary Livermore Barrows, of Melrose, will present the pros and cons of jury service for women. Other speakers will be heard on the pre-primary convention bill, and the measure concerning mass distribution as carried on by chain stores.

There is widespread interest in the legislative program announced for this year, which will make a distinct departure from the former time-honored custom of endorsing a few selected bills, state and federal, at the Midwinter meeting of the State Federation, which was superseded two years ago by the policy of "no endorsements." According to the new plan, the individual Clubs will be asked to vote on specified measures of legislation, and to send in the result of the vote before the midwinter meeting of February 18, 1932. A special meeting has been called for December 18th at the Boston Y. W. C. A. when the Executive Board in conference with the Legislative Division will select measures for consideration this year.

The hope and aim is to interest every Club member in legislation, declares Mrs. Hart. The new plan will distribute the responsibility, she explains, and so bring about a fairer expression of opinion than was possible with the former delegate system of voting.

State Federation

WAR VETERANS' CHRISTMAS. Mrs. Walter H. Woods, State chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans, gives the following helpful suggestions to those who are eager to give the War Veterans cheer at Christmas:

The hospital authorities ask that gifts (unless marked for individuals) be sent as soon as possible. Gifts of neckties, handkerchiefs, small table mirrors, bud vases, plants, etc., are welcome. Also, a small sum of money is such an unlooked-for and joygiving event in the lives of those men who have no one to give them money, and who would like to send home some small gift, or purchase necessities for themselves, that no one can realize how much this slight thing can mean. Mrs. Woods gives further help—she and her committee will be glad to assist givers. They will send addresses of men and women veterans, or more wonderful yet, in unselfish giving of their time, they will shop for those who ask them to do so. These may send cheques to the committee treasurer, Mrs. Carroll K. Martin, 12 Hillside road, East Milton, and they may state, if they wish, what part is to be spent for the men in the hospitals, for the needy families, or for the women veterans.

In Massachusetts alone there are about 4,000 disabled veterans in hospitals or ill at home. There are about (Continued on Page 9)

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL

The Temperance Education course at the School last Monday evening attracted a considerable number for its debate on "Total Abstinence", vs. "Moderation".

Mrs. Guy Warring, who is on the Woman's National Committee for Prohibition Reform spoke not so much for the values or possibility of "moderation" in drinking, as she had been expected to, but confined her talk to the instances of non-enforcement of the prohibition law. She seemed to think that it was not possible to enforce the law, because, human nature being what it is, people would want to continue to drink. She stated that corruption existed in many places as the result of the prohibition law.

Mrs. Wm. H. Brown, chairman of the Massachusetts Law Enforcement League, came expecting to speak only on the need for total abstinence. She did this, and also spoke about enforcement of the prohibition law. In regard to the latter, she said that the law has been tried only twelve years and we are just learning how to enforce it, which we can do if those who believe in it will help to form public opinion. She said it took 60 years to prevent the smuggling of slaves after the slave trade was forbidden. Among other arguments for abstinence, she stated that Life Insurance Companies find that as a rule total abstainers have much longer lives.

Mr. Herbert Parsons, in charge of law enforcement for Massachusetts, will come before this class next week and speak on "Methods Used to Control Liquor." Visitors will be welcome.

Mr. Shaver's class period last Monday was given over to the reports of three projects; Miss Miriam Allen of Waltham reported interestingly of her teacher-training class at her church; Miss Lullona Barker reported upon a class along this line in a Newton church, and Miss Isabelle Chute explained the coming meeting of Newtonville church school teachers on Friday, December 11, at which time the subject will be "Creative Teaching."

Miss Bessie Stratton's class has been working upon the dramatization of hymns; the idea being that the words of the hymn can be better appreciated through some simple form of drama or pageantry.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

Newton is to have something new this year — a Community Christmas tree which will be illuminated on Christmas eve, in Washington Park, Newtonville. This Christmas tree is an outgrowth of the annual singing of Christmas carols, and it is being arranged by a committee representing a number of Newtonville churches and other organizations. There will be singing at the tree, led by a trained chorus of carolers.

The tree will be a living tree, planted so that it will grow permanently in the park; and this tree is already provided for. Mrs. P. E. Woodward, of 125 Highland avenue, Newtonville, is in charge of the funds for the lighting, etc., and contributions, of $1 to $5 may be sent to her.

It is hoped by the sponsors for this Christmas eve observance that it will be the first of an annual series of such affairs. The old custom of going about the city singing carols has been popular, and it will continue to please the many who are unable to go outdoors to gather at any central celebration, but it has been felt for a long time that in some part of Newton there should be a general Christmas eve outdoor gathering, with an illuminated tree and with inspiring Christmas music. This has taken definite form this year in the Washington Park Christmas tree, provided by popular subscription.

The setting is attractive, and when this living tree is lighted by glowing electric lights, and with the chorus of trained singers leading the songs, it is believed that this Christmas eve will be one of the most beautiful ever celebrated in the Newtons.

NEWTON WOMEN INTERESTED

Mrs. James H. Wright of Copley street, Newton, Mrs. Eben H. Ellison of Sargent street, Newton, Mrs. William H. Nelson of Mason road, Newton Centre, and Miss Emma M. Sibley of Blithedale road, Newtonville, are interested in the "brilliant diversification" to be given in the ball room of the Hotel Statler, Boston, on Tuesday afternoon, December 8, by Jacques Cartier, internationally famous dancer.

POLICE NEWS

Charles Connors, 20, of Walters avenue, Brookline, and Nicholas Francis, 24, of 596 Tremont street, Boston, were in the Newton court last Friday charged with breaking and entering and attempt to commit larceny. Their cases were continued to December 3rd, and each was held in $5000 bail. The pair were captured early the preceding morning by Patrolman Cummings in the market of Firoangelo Gasbarri at 427 Langley road, Newton Centre. Cummings noticed an automobile cruising near the store and upon approaching the place he found the glass in the door of the market broken. Drawing his revolver, Cummings entered the market and discovered the two crouching behind a counter at the rear of the store. They offered no resistance.

Friday evening about 6:40 an automobile was driven part way over the footbridge which spans the Boston & Albany railroad tracks near the Newtonville railroad station. The driver then abandoned the car. Patrolman Maguire had the automobile removed from the bridge. The car was registered in the name of Katherine McBreen of Cobden street, Roxbury. At 11 o'clock that night Joseph McBreen of Ash street, Waltham, reported to the police of that city that the car had been stolen between 5 and 6 while parked in front of his house. Subsequently McBreen admitted that he had been driving the car.

The first case to be tried in the new court house at West Newton on Monday was that of Edward Stanton and Melvin Chambers, owners of a market at Newton Upper Falls. They were charged by Agent Perrine of the Newton Health Department with having had in their possession for sale fish that was tainted. Each was fined $10. In court the same day Wilhelm Magnuson, 18, of Hillside road, Dedham, was fined $5 for driving a truck without proper lights. His employer paid the fine at the suggestion of Judge Bacon. James Parker of 732 Beacon street, Boston, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, was held in $600 bail for trial on December 6. He was arrested Sunday night by Serg. Crowley and Patrolman Stanton.

Alfred Smith, 19, of 313 Adams avenue, West Newton, was arrested Monday by Patrolman Dowling charged with the theft of a diamond ring and a pocketbook containing $20. He was in the Newton court the same day and Judge Bacon continued the case until December 3, holding Smith in $1000 bail. The alleged theft occurred two months ago at the shoe repairing shop of Salvatore Campisi on Washington street, West Newton. Campisi's son, Joseph, 11 years old, was the witness against Smith. The boy had been in charge of the shop during his father's absence on the day of the alleged theft. He stated that Smith came into the shop and after playing a game of cards with the boy departed. Then the boy noticed that the drawer of the desk in the shop was opened and the ring and wallet were gone. Campisi testified that he did not tell his father of the theft until two days after it occurred.

LASELL SEMINARY

On Tuesday morning, Mrs. G. M. Winslow addressed the students at Chapel. Her subject was "World Portraits."

"Vocational Work" was the subject of Miss Matson's Chapel talk on Wednesday morning. Miss Matson is the Director of the "Clothes Institute" at the Wm. Filene's Sons' Company.

On Tuesday afternoon, December 1, the Faculty and Students in residence at Woodland Park Hall were "At Home." Guests were shown through the dormitory and also through Woodland Park School, the Junior Department.

The first Tea Dance of the year, under the auspices of the Student Council, will be held at Bragdon Hall on Saturday afternoon of this week. The guests will be received by Mrs. Winslow, Dean Potter, Mrs. McDonald and Miss Wright.

Rev. Garret Morgan, Pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Lynn, will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday, December 6.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

There will be a bridge party at the Commonwealth Country Club on Saturday evening, December 5, in aid of the families of Disabled Veterans. Among those entertaining at dinner preceding the bridge are Meses, Alex R. Kettle, Raymond T. Langenbach, Harry E. Moore, Charles E. Murnan, H. C. Perry and Renshaw Smith, Jr. Others entertaining at dinner are Mesdames L. Polch Coy, Arnold B. Davis, Kenneth K. Donley, Robert E. Green, Whitney E. Harmon, Martial E. Lebon and Robert S. Wayland.

Request Performance of "Heidi" Saturday, December 5, at 2:15, Repertory Theatre, Huntington avenue, Boston. Sale of tickets at the Box Office and Herriek's only from Wednesday, December 2, to Saturday, December 5. Morning tickets not good for afternoon performance. Telephone Kenmore 8181.—Advertisement.

Miss Marjorie Fales of West Newton and Miss Elizabeth Bartlett of Newton Centre are members of the membership committee sponsoring a Guest Night Program at the Boston Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening, Dec. 10. Old and New members, 1,000 having been added this last month, will join for a supper party when music and monologues will be the special entertainment.

The entertainers will be Miss Hope James and Miss Marion McCarthy and Leighton Rollins of the Copley Theatre will be an informal speaker. The hour is 6:15 o'clock and every member is allowed to bring a guest, providing registration is made with the Membership office by Wednesday noon.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER D. R. GUEST NIGHT

Guest night for members and friends of Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, will be observed on the evening of Wednesday, December 9th, by a program that promises many delightful features of entertainment. The Executive Board, as hostesses for this festive annual event, have arranged offerings that should appeal especially to husbands, brothers, and friends, who have at this meeting opportunity to hear of patriotic interests and to enjoy sociability.

Mr. Peter Murray, Character Impersonator and Singing Humorist, will give a program of drama, humor, and music, and he will have as co-entertainers, Mrs. Mina G. Del Castillo's famous trio, in musical selections. Mrs. Del Castillo is known in the woman's club world for her musical attainments, and for the many honors in club office which she has held.

Following the program there will be an informal reception, with the regent, vice-regent, and other officers and guests of honor greeting the many guests and refreshments will be served during a social hour. Mrs. Warren F. Gregory opens her home, 377 Walnut street, Newtonville, for this event, with the regent, Mrs. John F. Dunton greeting the members and guests for the program at 8 o'clock.

A recent delightful social event, and one most successful financially, was the bridge party held at the Hunnewell Club parlors, Newton, on the afternoon of Thursday, the 19th, when every available space in these capacious parlors was taken in tables by members of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., in entertaining their friends.

The committee in charge of the event included Mrs. Edgar M. Horne, chairman; Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Mrs. William L. Ratcliffe, Mrs. Elmer Gibbs, and Mrs. Charles E. Morrow. The regent, Mrs. John F. Dunton; vice-regent, Mrs. Walter C. Whitney; recording secretary, Miss Emma Downing Colledge; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert J. Estabrook, received the guests in an informal reception as the players arrived.

Proceeds from the party were swelled by the sale of dainty baskets of candies and nuts, during the afternoon, by attractively-gowned daughters of members.

Members and others who wish to assist in preparing Christmas baskets of delicacies, and boxes of gifts for the War Veterans in hospitals, which is an annual Christmas service of the Chapter, are asked to leave their gifts, such as books, neckties, candies, fruits, games, or other articles, at the home of Mrs. George N. Putnam, 109 Vernon street, Newton. The Chapter is especially anxious this year to do all possible to make Christmas and the days to follow a little brighter for "our boys" this year, when conditions may seem to make it harder for their own families and loved ones to serve them.

MIDDLESEX COURT, M. C. O. F.

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., will hold a dancing party on Tuesday night, Dec. 8th, at Elks' Hall, Centre street, Newton. The committee in charge includes Kathryn C. Hannon, chairman, assisted by the members of the Degree Staff of the Court. The proceeds will be given to the fund to establish a scholarship at Regis College as a memorial to the late Rev. James O'Neill, formerly High Chaplain of the M. C. O. F.

WILL ANNOUNCE WINNERS OF EDISON ESSAY CONTEST NEXT WEEK

Owing to lack of time for the judges to pass upon all of the essays on the life of the late Thomas Alva Edison, submitted in the contest conducted by the Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Supply Co. of 11 Main street, Watertown, the names of the prize winners will be announced in next week's issue of the NEWTON GRAPHIC. There is great interest among the contestants as to who will be awarded the $69.50 Easy Electric Washer, the Philco Radio and the Sunbeam Mix-Master. The contest closed Saturday, November 28th.

NEWTON YOUTH HONORED AT YALE

Lloyd B. Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Osborne of 450 Crafts street, West Newton, has been elected chairman of the Senior Class Day Committee for the Commencement of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University next June. This is one of the highest elective honors given at that college. Osborne is also prominent in extra-curricular activities. He has held the Boston Masonic scholarship throughout his four-year course and this year received the New York Princeton Club scholarship.

His athletic activities have been confined to swimming in which he excels. As a freshman he captained his class team and the past two years as a member of the varsity set several new records and scored many points for the Blue. He was elected captain of the swimming team for the coming season. The past summer he represented Yale on the All-United States swimming team which traveled to Hawaii and Japan, engaging in several meets with university teams in both places. He has won his major "Y" in swimming and is also a member of the undergraduate Athletic Association.

In his first year he was a member of the Freshman Student Council and as a junior and senior a member of the Sheffield Scientific School Student Council. He was treasurer of the Junior Prom Committee. His clubs include the St. Elmo and the Aurelian Honor Society. He prepared for Yale at Newton High School, graduating in 1927 and attended Phillips Exeter Academy one year before entering Yale.

NEWTON DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

During the past year the Newton District Nursing Association has made over 18,000 visits to the sick and gone into 1500 homes. Through their three clinics they have supervised the feeding and care of 250 babies and have trained 250 mothers in the wise care of their children. Although their income from patients this year has been far less than before, the free patient list has been much longer. The Association therefore stands more in need of help than ever before.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

If you haven't visited the new police headquarters, remember it is open at all hours and any officer is authorized to take you in.

Keeping Up Appearances

It is now time for men who resemble Santa Claus to go into rehearsal. They need only the invitation because all sorts and kinds of men seem to have an idea they are akin to Santa Claus in physical appearance. It has long been a notion of mine that old Saint Nicholas was rotund. There seems, however, to be no hard and fast rule in this regard. Men who have played the part have been so constituted they could easily qualify for the feather-weight class in the boxing preliminaries. Others I have observed were giants without a spare ounce of flesh. Once in a while you may find a rolly polly Santie who couldn't be beat for the part. Nevertheless, the men who drafted for this important role are never questioned as to their physiological fitness. Their willingness is enough.

It looks as if there will be the usual demand this year for men who are not averse to putting on the old red costume and cap, trimmed with fur, and the wig and whiskers of white wool. I have in mind a man who annually capers about in this gladsome rig, although that is the only bit of amateur acting in which he indulges.

I asked him the other day, "Are you going to appear as Santa Claus as usual this year?"

"I suppose so," he replied, with an evident effort to conceal the pride he felt at my inquiry.

"All set for it, are you?" I imperiously continued.

He smiled wanly, and answered, "Yes, I'll look the part even if I don't feel it."

Adding a Few Words

The desire of the Western Union Telegraph Company that we should do more telegram-sending is one which rather appeals to my sense of curiosity. The project as outlined would give the sender of many words a sort of reduced rate. It is called technically, serial telegraphing. If a person sends you a telegram and then on the same day follows that with another and possibly two or three more, the cost is assessed on the total number of words sent during the day. Your friend, or maybe it's you yourself who will do the sending, sends you 50 words and then another or more words; those of the second telegram and the third and so on, are counted like this—10 words for the rate of one. A 10 for one shot, as those who are prone to use sporting phrases might put it.

This has become a somewhat caloused age, led by the sophisticated youth of our fair land. And yet there still exist homes wherein the receipt of a telegram does sort of upset things. Of course, when telegraphic messages are phoned to you there is less thrill than that created by a messenger boy on a bicycle, who, after trying various other houses in the neighborhood finally lands at your door. When a messenger in uniform does deliver your message it is also a 10 to one shot that the entire neighborhood is aware that something important has happened in your household. The telegraphic company has robbed us and the neighbors, too, of the emotional experience caused by a messenger boy's visit now that it insists upon phoning the message from the nearest office and chanting it into one's ears. But things change so rapidly we must not waste time in contemplation.

Now what is going to happen if we suddenly find it cheaper to telegraph our thoughts? Shall we observe the entire populace inspired to an eloquence that will force operators to work overtime? Heretofore, it has always been a sort of mental training that was good for us when forced to condense our messages over the telegraph wire for the sake of saving money. But if we may now let loose our tongues, or rather our fluent pens, will there be a deluge of words? Shall we find ourselves smothered in language? Well, the radio seems to offer unlimited opportunity to talkers and writers, and goodness knows people gab and gab over the telephone to their heart's content. For my part I don't see why word-shooting, with the sky limit, should not be carried on over the telegraph wires.

Newton's Commercial Side

Here is something, which, after you have read it, is likely to make you exclaim, "I must try to remember that." But remembering things, particularly statistics, is not so easy these days when minds are crowded and memories are a trifle shorter than they used to be.

Let us together nibble at this data collected by the State Department of Labor and Industries in connection with the census of manufacturers for the year 1930. It appears that the total number of manufacturing establishments in operation in the city of Newton last year was 67, representing a capital investment of $14,783,384. The total value of all products manufactured in these establishments was $15,159,251 and the average number of wage-earners employed during the year was 2,784, and the total amount paid in wages was $3,412,110. The principal products manufactured in Newton in 1930 were knit goods, electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies; textile machinery and curtains.

Now let's turn back 10 years and see what we may see. There were 13 less, or 54 manufacturing establishments 10 years ago. The capital invested was about $900,000 less, while the value of stock and materials used was practically the same. Little change, too, in the amount of wages paid, which, in 1921, amounted to $3,358,224 or $53,886 less than last year.

As far as the number of wage-earners employed is concerned there were 41 more in 1930 than in 1921 when the total was 2,743. The value of products, however, has increased by $1,377,711, but the caution is given by the statistician that "the values of products manufactured do not necessarily represent the relative volume of goods produced."

Facing the Facts

How swiftly is one's point of view changed by some slight and comparatively unimportant incident. I have in mind a very estimable citizen whom many of us know and like but who is unusually firm in his opinions. A bit "set," as country folks say, but nevertheless a splendid character.

He had been approached about giving to unemployment relief and had responded, though not as generously as one might expect a man of his means to contribute. That, however, is a matter for an individual to determine for himself. It is not for other people to say how much a man should give. He alone is the better judge. This man apparently believed in that theory and had determined that his offerings should be conservative.

It happened that there was a street accident in which a man was bumped by an automobile. Happily, it was not a serious affair, but some conveyance was needed in which the victim might be taken to his home. At this point the man I have already described happened along and volunteered the use of his car. It was accepted.

He not only took the shaken-up person home but assisted him to his humble bedroom. And it was humble—clean, but indicating plain and almost poverty-stricken conditions. In fact, that was the story revealed by the general surroundings.

That night, the prosperous one was talking with a group of friends. "I've never come face to face with actual poverty before," said he. After recounting the circumstances, he added, "That family is really up against it. There must be a lot in the same state. It's made me double my contribution to the unemployment relief fund."

CAST YOUR VOTE ON TUESDAY

Next Tuesday is Election Day in Newton. While there is no majority contest to bring out a large vote there are several city-wide and ward contests for positions on the Board of Aldermen that do not lessen the importance of your vote. The selection of men to carry the burden of municipal legislation needs careful attention as the selection of those whose duties are executive in nature. Be sure to go to the polling place in your precinct and cast your ballot next Tuesday.

There are contests for Alderman-at-Large in three of the seven wards. In each case the present Alderman is being opposed for re-election. In Ward 5 Alderman Temperley is being opposed by James W. Gibson and Willard L. McKenzie. We have known Mr. Temperley for many years and believe that his record on the Board the past four years warrants his re-election. We have also known Mr. Gibson, who is Mr. Temperley's chief opponent, for several years, and believe that he would make a competent and independent alderman. However, we believe Mr. Gibson should have become a candidate for a post as a representative from Waban, the district in which he lives, instead of from Mr. Mr. Temperley's district in Upper Falls, although both are a part of the same ward.

In Ward 2 Alderman Grebenstein's opponents are Frank L. Wilcox and Reuben Kligman. Mr. Kligman has been unsuccessful in previous attempts at election and we believe the selection should lie between Mr. Grebenstein and Mr. Wilcox, both being qualified to hold the position as Alderman-at-large from Newtonville.

In Ward 3 the present Alderman-at-Large, Benjamin Bowen, is being opposed by Alfred R. Guzzi. Mr. Bowen, we believe, should be re-elected, there being no reasonable grounds necessitating a change in representation.

There are also five contests in the seven places for positions as Ward Aldermen. In Ward 1 the declination of Alderman Powers to become a candidate for re-election has brought William A. Sproat and Harold A. Murray as candidates for the position. Voters of this ward should support Mr. Sproat, who has for some time taken an interest in matters pertaining to improvements in his ward and for the city as a whole.

In Ward 2 Alderman Woodcock's decision to return to private life has brought about a three-cornered contest. The candidates are Angelo T. Annicelli, James T. Flynn and Donald M. Hill. Mr. Hill is the outstanding choice.

In Ward 3 another three-cornered contest is on the ballot, due to Alderman Prior's decision not to be a candidate for re-election. Bernard D. Farrell, J. Ward Kelley, and Julius B. Ramm are the candidates. Mr. Farrell is a life-long resident of West Newton and will have the support of many of those who know him. Mr. Kelley has been active in improving conditions in his vicinity and is an able candidate. Mr. Ramm is perhaps the best known of the three through his associations with the local Legion post.

In Wards 5 and 6 the present Aldermen, James R. Chandler and Sydney B. Holden are being opposed for re-election. In each case we urge they be retained on the Board over their respective opponents, Frank J. Murphy and Anthony Oliver.

Have you bought your Christmas Seals? If not, why not? Your money will be used in Newton.

It is not too late to join the Red Cross—Do it now!

PEPPY RALLY AT NEWTON UPPER FALLS

A rally was held Tuesday night in Foresters Hall, Peppet street, Newton Upper Falls. Mayor Weeks and candidates for aldermanic offices at the coming city election addressed the gathering. A sharp exchange occurred between James W. Gibson of Waban who is opposing Alderman John Temperley and the latter.

Gibson admitted that Temperley is honest but contended that the Upper Falls alderman is too conservative. He also referred to an article printed in a recent issue of the NEWTON GRAPHIC which praised Temperley and alleged that the writer of this article (Edward H. Powers) has been a fellow alderman of Mr. Temperley, has dominated the latter and might continue to do so if the Upper Falls representative is re-elected to the Board.

Temperley, replying to the statements made by Gibson, said that he is pleased to be characterized as a conservative and denied that he has been dominated by any member of the Board during his four years of service. He accused Gibson of attempting to break down the 34 years custom whereby Newton Upper Falls, Newton Highlands and Waban each have had an alderman from Ward 5. He asserted that a woman had been obtaining signatures in the Upper Falls for Gibson's nomination papers and had obtained four by making the false statement that Temperley had withdrawn as a candidate.

Alfred Guzzi, candidate for alderman from Ward 3 denounced the employment of men from outside Newton as school janitors when there are so many unemployed in this city. He mentioned a man who has been employed for months as a janitor at the Weeks Junior High School in Newton Centre. This man was a resident of Waltham when he was given employment in the school and did not move to this city until September of this year. Guzzi also told of another Waltham resident who is working as a janitor at the High School in Newtonville and who is also a reserve policeman in Waltham and is working in that capacity.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES HOLD RALLY AT NONANTUM

Last Friday night a rally was held in Columbus Hall, Nonantum, at which speeches were made by Angelo Annicelli, candidate for Ward Alderman at-Large, Alfred Guzzi, candidate for alderman-at-large in Ward 3, and Reuben Kligman, candidate for alderman-at-large in Ward 2.

Annicelli advocated a two-platoon system for the Fire Department. Kligman stated that if elected he would urge the employment of Newton men on city work and the purchase of materials by the city from Newton taxpayers. He denounced the employment of married women at City Hall.

Guzzi advocated that only residents of Newton be employed by the city in any position from that of laborer to department heads. He denounced the practice of the Board of Aldermen in discussing most of the matters which come before it in private behind the closed doors of committee rooms, rather than in open meetings as the City Charter specifies. He criticized the use of Boy Scouts as traffic officers and said this work should be performed by reserve patrolmen instead of laying off and taking their incomes away.

He said that with hundreds of idle men in this city, much of the resurfacing work on Newton streets the past year had been done by contractors from outside the city. He favored keeping the polls open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m., to afford more citizens a chance to vote. He referred to the present high water rates and said they should be reduced. He told of the inadequate lighting of Newton's streets.

CITY OF NEWTON MASSACHUSETTS

October 5, 1931.
Notice is hereby given of the following order (No. 58862) adopted by the Board of Aldermen on October 5, 1931, and approved by the Mayor on October 7, 1931, relative to the

CITY ELECTION Tuesday, December 8, 1931

ORDERED: That the citizens of this city, qualified to vote for city officers, assemble in the several precincts in which they are entitled to vote in the several polling places designated for the purposes by the Board of Aldermen, on to give in their votes for MAYOR, to serve for a term of two years.

SEVEN ALDERMEN-AT-LARGE, being one from each Ward, to serve for terms of two years.

TWO MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, being one each from Wards 3 and 6, to serve for terms of three years.

SEVEN ALDERMEN-EX-BY-WARD, being one from each Ward to serve for terms of one year.

The Mayor, Aldermen-at-Large and Members of the School Committee to be elected by the voters of the city at large, and the Aldermen-by-Wards to be elected by and from the voters of each of the seven wards. All terms of office to commence on the first secular day of January, 1932.

That the polling places at said meetings be opened at six o'clock A.M. and closed at four-thirty P.M. and the City Clerk is hereby directed to give notice hereof.

Attest: FRANK M. GRANT, City Clerk of Newton.

CHESTNUT HILL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL SOCIAL

The annual social and musicale of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Society was held on Wednesday night at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill. The affair was well attended by ladies and gentlemen of the district. The meeting was opened by Mr. David C. Theall, president of the society, who briefly explained the purposes for which the organization was formed. He then presented William E. Soule, secretary of the society, as master of ceremonies. A delightful musical program was presented by some of the talented lady members of the society. It included piano selections by Mrs. May Silver Morse, songs by Mrs. Sophie Charak Glynburg and violin solos by Mrs. Sylvia Fish Webber. Ernestine Birnbaum was accompanist.

Richard H. Ellis, Water Commissioner of Newton had been invited to talk to the members about the water supply of this city and he read a very interesting paper which will be printed in next week's issue of the GRAPHIC. John Barnard, architect, displayed a sketch of a proposed monument which would mark the entrance to Newton on Commonwealth avenue near Lake street. The sketch shows a high, graceful column supported by a pleasingly designed base. Atop this column a beacon light would shine upwards. On the sides of the column would be four bas-reliefs depicting such subjects as might be selected. The monument would be flood-lighted. This idea was suggested at the annual gathering of the society last year by Alderman Richard Harte of Chestnut Hill.

Alderman Edward H. Powers was the third speaker of the evening. He complimented President Theall, the officers and members of the society for the interest they manifest in their own community and the affairs of the city. He said that the great majority of Newton's citizens are indifferent in this respect; that they believe because Newton is the most attractive residential section of Greater Boston and one of the most attractive in this country, it will remain so. These citizens do not realize that there are persons who have little regard for the future of this city and who are constantly seeking to acquire financial gain by obtaining privileges of one kind or another, or by urging zoning changes. Such persons, who would profit at the expense of the city's future, are taking an active part in the political affairs of this city and it behooves the people of Newton to take more interest in local politics. Otherwise, this city is apt to deteriorate because of the intrusion of business buildings and filling stations into residential sections.

BOUDROT, 41 Dabry Street, Newton.

FOR ALDERMAN - AT - LARGE VOTE FOR ALFRED R. GUZZI X

I believe in the appointing of none but citizens of Newton for all City positions from street laborer to the heads of all City Departments. I think that in our City, with a population of over 60,000 people, we have many who are qualified to fill all offices. I disagree with my opponent who voted in favor of appointing our new Water Commissioner, who was brought here from North Andover. I am also in favor of the immediate reduction from the present high water rates. I believe that the hours for voting should be changed from 6 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. to 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., so as to give every voter plenty of time to vote.

HELP GUZZI TO WIN BY ASKING YOUR FRIENDS TO VOTE FOR HIM ON ELECTION DAY—TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1931. ALFRED R. GUZZI, 8 Magpie Pl., West Newton.

Re-Elect JOHN TEMPERLEY

TO BE VOTED FOR IN ALL WARDS IN THE CITY

ALDERMAN-AT-LARGE, WARD 5

All the members of the Board of Aldermen signed Alderman Temperley's nomination papers.

Also among those who signed his nomination papers, and others who endorse him are:

James Kingman, Clarence H. Day, Edmund J. Yates, A. Gertrude Osborne, Nellie M. Osborne, Stanley H. Foskett, Edward F. Ryan, John T. Brittain, John T. Simpson, James T. O'Hearn, Joseph J. Romaszewski, Frank G. Stuart, James L. Sullivan, John Proctor, Tito Prosserini, Carlo J. Adcock, Lewis P. Everett, Frank Cashman, Lester H. Hilton, William B. Wood, Harold Moore, Waldo E. Lipman, Anthony Vana, Robert C. Colleigh, William H. Warren, Frederick Dimock, Lincoln Alvord, Willard H. Lord, Daniel O'Donnell, E. Graham Bates, Frederick W. Woolway, Irving C. Paul, Leslie E. Wood, Ernest Hargood, George A. Burdett, Albert F. Bonazol, John M. Barry, Stephen T. Vohar, Norman M. Appleyard, Carl W. Alfredson, Thomas F. Green, George P. Hatch, Levi Libby, Alfred N. Mosher, Edwin S. Drowne, William C. Noetzel.

"Too Conservative" Is Charged

It has been charged that Ald. Temperley is "Too Conservative." In view of his enviable four years' record in the city government and the confidence placed in him by the entire Board of Aldermen, he accepts as a compliment being classed as "Too Conservative."

Ald. Temperley has been conversant for more than 30 years with city affairs. During that time he has known first hand nearly all the members of past Boards of Aldermen. He values—as a constructive conservative—orderly methods of procedure and accepts tried and true programs which have operated for the good of the entire city, and, of course, for Ward 5.

"A Gentlemen's Agreement"

Assaults have been made in the past to break a 25-year agreement between Newton Highlands, Newton Upper Falls and Waban, which gives each village representation in the Board of Aldermen. By voting for Ald. Temperley you can continue fair distribution of representatives. If one of Ald. Temperley's opponents be elected, Waban will have TWO Aldermen, which would leave Upper Falls "out in the cold."

So far as can be learned, it is believed that Waban—always ably represented in the Board of Aldermen—is neither desirous of double membership, nor of depriving Upper Falls of representation.

Would you, Voters of Newton, like to have your section of the City without an alderman? A gentlemen's agreement of years' standing is equally active and in force in your ward, as in any other. In all fairness every Newton voter is asked to give his support to the Ward 5 "Gentlemen's Agreement."

Re-elect John Temperley by voting for him alone—with no second choice.

Recent Deaths

MRS. ANNIE L. COOK

Mrs. Annie L. Cook, formerly Mrs. Albert Henriks, and a former resident of Auburndale for a number of years, died on Monday, November seventh, in Boston, after a short illness.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Graham Funeral Home in Watertown. Rev. Dr. F. King Singler of the First Baptist Church of Watertown conducted the services. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Mrs. Cook is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stephen T. Fogwill of West Newton, Mrs. May Wise of Detroit, Michigan, and two sons, Ralph Henriks of Newton, and Albert Henriks of Los Angeles, California.

MRS. MARY L. FLEU

Mrs. Mary L. Fleu of 45 Elm street, West Newton, widow of Theodore Fleu, died on November 25 in her 79th year. She was born in Worcester, the daughter of Benjamin F. and Sarah K. Otis. She had been a resident of this city for 40 years. Mrs. Fleu's father was City Auditor of Newton for 30 years. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Ethel T. Fleu. Her funeral service was held at her late home last Friday afternoon; Rev. Herbert Hitchins of the First Unitarian Church officiated.

FORMER NEWTON BOY BURIED AT SEA

Details have come from the West Coast of the burial at sea of Marcus Clifford Miller, Lieutenant Commander U. S. N., retired, the notice of whose death appeared in the GRAPHIC on November 20. Lieut. Commander Miller spent his childhood in West Newton, was educated in the Newton schools and won a competitive examination for the Naval Academy at the age of 16 while a junior in the Newton High School. Through out the World War he served on a destroyer in the North Sea. After several subsequent years of active service in the Navy he was retired for disability incurred during war service. After 5 years of illness, during which his courage and cheerfulness never faltered, he died at the Naval Hospital, Mare Island, California one day before his 37th birthday.

Knowing his wish that his ashes should lie in the sea, his brother officers requested that he might be buried from the Flag Ship of the Destroyer Squadron, with full Naval honors. The following account was written by a witness, an officer and friend. It may be of interest as relating to a young man so closely connected with Newton in his youth, who served his country with credit.

"A chaplain was ordered aboard the Flag Ship 'Detroit', which was set to sail on target practice at 2 p. m. (November 25). The ash were taken aboard in the Admiral's barge, the container covered in gray crepe, and wrapped in a beautiful flag sent by the Veterans Bureau, which also sent flowers. On board ship, in the gun-room, the container rested on flags on a large plotting table, with the wreaths and flowers from his family and friends, and his classmates. At either end of the table was a blue-jacket in dress uniform with fixed bayonet. The crew passed through, then the Detroit was slowed down to steeage-way, the ship's flag was half-masted and with the crew gathered in the waist the regulation service was carried out. The catafalque for planes had been trained outboard; the end stood Lieutenant Commander Mahoney a member of Miller's class at Annapolis, with the container, draped in the flags. The chaplain came next, then four blue-jackets, each with a wreath."

"When the time came in the service, Lieutenant Commander Mahoney took the container from the folds of the flag, the latter falling loose on the catapult, and dropped it into the sea; and then each of the four men with wreaths cast them horizontally out-board, and they settled and floated flat on the sea. Three rounds of musketry followed and 'Taps', beautifully played. Then 'Pipe-down' by the boatswain and his mates."

"He did not ask for a service like this, but it was an honor which the Captain and officers wanted him to have, and he rated it, with his fine Naval service record. He was a splendid officer, and it was fitting indeed that he was given this honor by the Flagship of Destroyers, on which type of ship he had served so much of his sea service."

CITY EMPLOYEE PENSIONED

Frank X. Quinn, a night watchman at the Street Department stable on Craig street, Newtonville has been retired on pension. Quinn is 73 years of age and had been employed by the city for over 24 years.

POLICE NEWS

Richard DesMarais, 18, of Greenwood street, West Newton was in the Waltham court on Tuesday charged with stealing an automobile owned by George Brasso of Hammond street, Waltham. He first pleaded guilty, then retracted the plea and was held in $2000 bail until December 10. It is charged that on the night of November 25th young Des Marais telephoned a Newton taxi company that a car owned by him had broken down at the corner of Moody and Charles streets, Waltham and that he wanted a taxi to come and tow the car to his garage. The car was towed as ordered to a barn at West Newton which it is alleged had been hired by DesMarais on the pretence that he wanted space for the purpose of storing his car. The Waltham police traced Brasso's stolen car to this barn and the arrest of Des Marais followed.

Charles Anzivino, 24, and Edward Martin, 27 of Columbia avenue, Newton Upper Falls were arrested at South Natick early last Saturday morning charged with the larceny of 39 hens and a truck. The hens were alleged to have been stolen from the henhouse of Joseph Haigh and George Mumford of Pagan lane in that town. They appeared in the Natick court last Saturday and were held in $1900 bail each for appearance on December 12.

Henry J. Marron of Webster street, West Newton, recently discharged as a member of the Newton police force for neglect of duty has, through his attorney, filed a petition with the Newton district court demanding a review of his case. The petition alleges that Marron was not given a fair hearing and that the testimony against him was biased and the evidence not sufficient to cause his removal by Mayor Weeks.

Eva L. Anderson, colored, of West Springfield street, Boston, was arrested Tuesday night by Newton police charged with desertion of her baby. The Anderson woman placed the baby with a family on Hicks street, West Newton to be cared for and then she disappeared. She was traced to Lebanon, New Hampshire. Her case will be heard on December 15.

Clarence Terrio of 29 Faxon street, Nonantum, was arrested Tuesday night by Sgt. Mahoney and Patrolman Jenkins charged with evasion of taxi fare, using profanity and drunkenness. In the Newton court on Wednesday he was given a 30 days' jail sentence and fined $15. He appealed.

In the Newton court yesterday Alfred Smith, 19, of Adams avenue, West Newton, was held for the Grand Jury by Judge Bacon. Smith was charged with stealing a diamond ring valued at $450, the property of Salvatore Campisi. In court yesterday Michael Cardellicchio of North avenue, Natick, was fined $5 for speeding over the Grand Jury in $5000 bail. His companion in the attempted burglary, Charles Connors, of Brookline, was given a suspended sentence of 3 months in the House of Correction.

MANY SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENTS

Newton is realizing the increasing menace of automobiles. Within the past 10 days two fatal accidents occurred in this city in addition to several accidents in which persons were injured. On Wednesday afternoon a 71 year old woman was hit and fatally injured by an automobile on Commonwealth avenue near Irving street, Newton Centre. On Friday afternoon an 83 year old man was fatally injured when he was hit by a car on Commonwealth avenue near Ward street, Newton Centre. Mrs. Margaret Pratt of 380 Ward street, Newton Centre was the first victim. Robert Casson of Grey Cliff road was the second victim.

On Wednesday, November 25 John Albert of 23 Highland avenue, West Newton was hit while walking on Chestnut street by a car operated by Stephen Sarof and slightly injured. On Thursday, November 26 there were several accidents. John Mahan of 109 Adams street, Nonantum and his little daughter received injuries when the car in which they were riding collided with another car. Thursday afternoon cars by Lieut. Patton of 80 West street, Nonantum and Harry Brown of 33 Birch Hill road, Newtonville collided at Walnut and Homer streets, Newton Centre. Patuto had his right hand dislocated and was taken to the Newton Hospital. Thursday night Nicolo Finelli of 317 Watertown street, Nonantum was hit by a car driven by Albert Luno of 511 Watertown street, Newtonville. Finelli received a concussion of the brain and other injuries. He was taken to the Newton Hospital.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB MEETS

The Fortnightly Club of Newton Centre opened its season with a program of harp music by Mr. Elford Caughey of the Boston Symphony orchestra at the home of Mrs. Robert Anderson, the Ledges Road. Mr. Caughey traced the history of the harp and showed the evolution of harp music from the early 16th century airs to modern compositions.

Mr. Caughey played with great skill and marvelous ability in shading and tonality. The wide range of harp music from simple themes to difficult and swift productions was excellently done. As it was guest day a large number attended. Mrs. Wm. May was chairman of the tea. The officers for the year are president, Mrs. Everett W. Varney; first vice president, Mrs. DeWitt G. Wilcox; second vice president, Mrs. E. D. Leonard; secretary, Mrs. C. M. Mumford; treasurer, Mrs. G. H. Williams; chairman Program Committee, Mrs. W. H. Greeley; and chairman Hospitality Committee, Mrs. F. C. Rising.

Recent Weddings

CHADWICK—BETNOR

Miss Olyne Mayfields Betnor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carlton Betnor of Radnor, Pennsylvania, and Mr. Bishop Chadwick of West Newton, were married at the Episcopal Church at Radnor, Pa. The wedding was attended by only the immediate family and a few intimate friends.

The bride was gowned in deep ivory satin and carried a shower bouquet of lilacs of the valley. Miss Fredrika Von Rapp attended the bride as maid of honor and wore a gown of wine color crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of tallisman roses and violets. The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Walter B. Chadwick of Wilmington, Delaware.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception and wedding breakfast which was served at the Knoll, the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Chadwick is engaged as an instructor in the Episcopal Academy at Overbrook, Penn.

CLARK—BEATTY

At a very pretty little ceremony attended by relatives and close friends Miss Mildred Gertrude Beatty became the bride of Mr. Stanley Edwin Clark. The wedding was held at Concord, Massachusetts on Friday, November 27. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edgar Beatty of Winchester road, Newton. She is a graduate of the Wheelock School of Boston, and at present is a kindergarten director at one of the Newton schools. Mr. Clark is connected with a Boston brokerage firm.

After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Clark will be at their new home at 23 Pine Plain road, Wellesley.

ROGERS—ISON

Announcement is made by Mrs. Lydia W. Ison, of Griffin, Georgia, of the marriage of her daughter, Ethelyn, to Mr. Richard Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Rogers of West Newton. The ceremony was solemnized in the First Christian church of Griffin on November the 19th.

Recent Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence V. Moore of 35 West street, Newton, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris Moore, to John E. Childs of Worcester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walstein Childs. Miss Moore is a graduate of Miss Sacker's School of Design in Boston. Mr. Childs attended Williston Academy and is at present connected with the State Division of Highways.

TO BE GUEST ARTIST AT GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Miss Ruth Posselt, the phenomenal young American violinist, will be the guest artist at the concert to be given by the Highland Glee Club of Newton, Incorporated, at 8:15 on Tuesday evening, December 15th, at the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville.

Miss Posselt is a native of Medford and has long been known to Boston music critics.

At the age of six she appeared in Steiner Hall in an exacting virtuoso program and created a real sensation. At her debut recital in Carnegie Hall, New York, as a little prodigy of eight years, she had the most critical audience at her feet with the first stroke of her bow. Then followed recitals with fresh triumphs and she has since appeared in many cities, both in her own recitals and as soloist with various organizations. One of the most interesting events in her career was her appearance with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra with Walter Damrosch as conductor.

In 1929, in competition with 150 violinists from all parts of the United States, she was the winner of the Schubert Memorial Prize.

During the seasons of 1930 and 1931 she appeared in a coast-to-coast tour of Schubert Memorial Concerts, in recitals and as soloist with prominent symphony orchestras.

The Highland Glee Club is an organization of 75 active members, largely from the Newtons, is founded for the purpose of increasing the appreciation of music in that locality and is not conducted for profit. Therefore, it deserves not only local support but the endorsement of everyone who enjoys good music.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

At a rally held in Newton Upper Falls last Tuesday night Mr. Gibson referred to an article we wrote in the GRAPHIC on October 30 stating that the person who wrote it has been a fellow Alderman of Mr. Temperley's. He characterized us as a "quibbler and dissenter" during our career in the Board of Aldermen and insinuated that the writer had dominated Mr. Temperley. As to whether, or not, the characterization given us by Mr. Gibson is correct, we shall not argue here.

In the article we advocated the reelection of John Temperley as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 5. We praised Mr. Temperley's character, the valuable service he has given to this city and said in part—"There has been considerable talk about a determined attempt which will be made to defeat Mr. Temperley. This talk has emanated from persons who have persistently sought special privileges—and who will continue to seek such privileges. Mr. Temperley has not always voted the way these persons desired."

Following the publication of this statement James W. Gibson of 422 Chestnut street, Waban, took out nomination papers which made him an opponent of Mr. Temperley. As the writer did not know of this candidacy at the time of writing the article, naturally he could not have had Mr. Gibson in mind as a party to the plan to defeat Mr. Temperley a few days after having announced his candidacy. Mr. Gibson came to the GRAPHIC office to meet the writer and was informed that we would strongly favor Mr. Temperley's reelection. The conversation was amiable and in it Mr. Gibson spoke favorably of the writer's service in the Board of Aldermen. He also requested "Do not slam me too hard." We told that we did not intend to slam him even remotely.

We suggested to Mr. Gibson that he should seek to succeed Mr. Chandler as Ward Alderman from the Waban section of Ward 5, thus keeping up the long custom of having each village in the Ward represented by an alderman. He replied that he is better known throughout the city than he is in Waban.

Regarding the insinuation made by Mr. Gibson that Mr. Temperley has been dominated by the writer, this is a fabrication. The writer never had any desire to dominate any fellow Alderman and certainly would not attempt such influence on Mr. Temperley, knowing that gentleman's temperament. Mr. Temperley would quickly resent any attempt by anybody to dominate him.

Dan Harrington of Newtonville who was the star on the Boston University football team this year would be a star on any football team. Dan's football prowess is no surprise to old-timers who remember how his father, William Harrington, played on the Garden City A. A., over 30 years ago.

The army of the unemployed, not to forget the business and professional men and women who are feeling the pinch of the present prosperous times, must have obtained great consolation as they saw the big airship "Akron" soaring in the air recently. Realizing that this possession of the U. S. A. cost $5,375,000 to build and a $200,000 to maintain, isn't it evident that this country is not bankrupt when it can spend so much money for this flimsy airship of aluminum and fabric. Which moves us to indulge in the following verse:

"The AKRON looms up
Fine and dandy.
It must look good
To Uncle Andy."

Several days ago a preliminary report was filed with the Legislature by the special commission appointed to study the law regulating billboards and other advertising devices. This report urges the Legislature to pass legislation which will continue the commission's duties for another year on the study of billboard regulation. Years have now passed since the people of Massachusetts by a large majority voted to put a ban on billboards. As yet the will of the people of this Commonwealth, as manifested by that vote, has not been obeyed. How much longer will the people of this State be practically scoffed at by more stalling on the curbing of the bill board nuisance? If you don't want the stalling process continued, write to your Representatives in the Legislature.

W. C. T. U.

The regular Evangelistic meeting of the West Newton Union will be held Monday evening, December 7th, at seven forty-five at the home of Mrs. Sarah L. Jigger, 27 Cross st., West Newton. Reports will be given of the State Convention held at North Adams.

OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Anna M. Plannery of Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to the WALTHAM TRUST COMPANY, a corporation duly organized according to law and having authority to execute the same, in and to said County of Middlesex, dated April 6th, 1928 and recorded with Middlesex County Deeds, Book 471, page 372, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Saturday, December 26th, 1931, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the premises and the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows:

the land in Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, with the buildings thereon, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the southeasterly corner of the mortgaged premises at a gas pipe set in the ground on the westerly side of Waltham street, running easterly by and between said premises and the premises of James Edwin Cuthbertson et. als. Trs. one hundred and three and ten one-hundredths (103.10) feet to another gas pipe in the ground; thence running nearly northerly by other land of said Trustees eighty (80) feet to another gas pipe set in the ground at a proposed Street shown as "Bonita Street" on a plan hereinafter referred to; thence running nearly easterly by said proposed Street sixty-four and sixty-six one-hundredths (64.66) feet to the westerly end of a curve at the corner of said proposed Street and Waltham Street, at a point fifteen and thirty-four one-hundredths (15.34) feet southerly of the point at which the southerly line of said proposed street extended would intersect the easterly line of Waltham Street; thence running southeasterly by Waltham Street six and forty-one one-hundredths (6.55) feet to a stone bound; thence continuing in the same direction by Waltham Street sixty-one and thirty-eight one-hundredths (61.38) feet to the point of beginning. Containing 7281 square feet, more or less. Being the same premises shown as two adjoining lots on a "Plan of Part of the Ames Stone Estate, W. Newton, Mass. James E. Stone, C. E., Mar. 25, 1922" filed with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 471, page 182.

The premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and municipal assessments and betterments and outstanding tax titles, if any such exist.

Five hundred ($500) dollars will be required to be paid in cash at the time and place of sale. Other terms will be stated at sale.

forty women war veterans at Barracks No. 6, Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Woods in her plea would arouse the most forgetful, or seemingly ungrateful. She asks if we have forgotten now that the guns are still; how we are keeping our promises "to see them through," made as they marched away, with bands playing, and banners floating proudly.

"Many of our brave lads never returned from overseas, and thousands of those whose lives were spared came back broken in mind and body, doomed to spend the remainder of their lives in pain and misery."

No Clubwoman, or man of patriotic thought, or kind heart, can let Christmas pass without some effort to aid in giving to "our boys," after Mrs. Woods' plea.

SHALL PARKS BE ADORNED WITH MACHINE GUNS? This is the challenge of Miss Helen B. Shipman, State chairman of the International Relations committee. Clubwomen throughout the State, throughout the United States, have been signing the petition for the Limitation of Armament, in pursuit of World Peace, which limitation is to be taken up at the Disarmament Conference at Geneva in February. For the sake of consistency, the following arguments, presented by this State Federation chairman, by which the thoughts of rising generations, and of the older ones, too, may be turned from instruments of war, which they now see in so many public squares and parks, should be seriously considered by all patriotic citizens, and by this the consideration of men who believe in the end of world war with its horrors, is also challenged.

LET US NOT SOW THE SEEDS OF WAR IN CHILDREN BY GIVING TOY GUNS AND PISTOLS FOR CHRISTMAS, OR BOOKS THAT GLORIFY ITS TRAGEDIES! is another of Miss Shipman's challenges, that Clubwomen may well think about.

Miss Shipman says: Christmas 1931 approaches, bearing spiritual gifts from the nations. Understanding and friendship, purchased in adversity, are ripening, and in the distance is heard the herald song—"Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Under our Kellogg Pact every woman is enlisted to "renounce war as an instrument of national policy" and enlisted to seek "the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts—by pacific means."

Since we have renounced war shall we continue to honor and exalt its symbols? Shall our beautiful parks be decorated with machine guns and our public squares with cannon? They have a place in museums devoted to symbols of torture. Will you help to put them there? Entering as the 55th state, Mexico took her place in the League of Nations during its Twelfth Congress. This makes our United States entirely surrounded by League members—Canada on the north, Cuba, Panama and Mexico on the south, England and the continent on the east, and China and Japan on the west. How long will ancient prejudices prevent our adherence? The people will answer.

RADIO, "The Veterans' Christmas." Those words call up many pictures. The cheering throngs of 1917; the admiring hearts of Americans who felt that "our boys" were going to war that the world might be made safe—that there might never be another war. Against this—today! In hospitals ruined lives and bodies, broken hearts there and in their homes, but hearts that strive to be upheld by the clear thought of duty's price. Have we forgotten? Shall we forget? There are ways that everyone can help. Not alone for Christmas Day, but during all the year. Listen in next Saturday to the woman, who today above all other Clubwomen, perhaps, has at heart the interests of the War Veterans. Mrs. Walter H. Woods, State chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans, may have some suggestions and ideas that will inspire us to how each one can help, when she speaks on "The Veterans' Christmas" over WBZ, at 11:30 o'clock, on Saturday, the 5th of December, in the State Federation broadcast.

In the musical interlude, she will be assisted, most appropriately, by a violinist from the Veterans' Hospital. On the same program, Mrs. Herbert F. French, of Braintree, Second District director, will speak on "Utilizing Leisure in the Second District." On Saturday, the 12th, over the same station, and at the same hour, "Musical Fads of Today" will be the theme of Bainbridge Crist, guest speaker for Mrs. George F. Schroeder, chairman of Music of the State Federation. The Boston Vocal Ensemble, including Blanche Haskell, Soprano; Marion Wise, Contralto; Edgar Isherwood, Tenor; G. Roberts Langer, Bass; and Edwin Bittliffe, accompanist, will give selections from "The Morning of the Year," by Cadman.

CONSERVATION CONFERENCE. Mrs. Joseph A. Mahoney will open her studio at 82 Chestnut street, on Beacon Hill, Boston, Thursday, December 10th, at 3:30 o'clock, for a conference of Conservation committees of the State Federation. Proceeds of the luncheon to be served by the State committee will be devoted to the fund for the Federation Forest at Petersham. Clubs having no Conservation committee are invited to send a representative. Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, 100 Bartlett Avenue, Arlington, State chairman, is in charge of reservations which must be secured not later than December 8th.

RECENT EVENTS

West Newton Women's Educational Club

On Friday, November 27th, the members of the West Newton Women's an's Educational Club had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Frank H. Grebe, Director of Religious Education at the Second Church, who has recently visited the Holy Land. Mr. Grebe drew for his audience many interesting word-pictures of life today in Palestine and Syria. The people, he said, are devoutly religious, worshipping as they live, and while they have given little of commercial value to the world and are far behind the people of America socially, other citizens of the world should be forever grateful to them for the origin and development of religion.

A collection was taken to help in the purchasing of Christmas gifts for disabled soldiers.

Tea was served by the Hospitality committee. Mrs. G. Howard Frost and Mrs. John S. Franklin were in charge of the tea table.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Many members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club and members of the Junior Woman's Club, to whom the privilege of attending the Senior Club's meetings has recently been extended, took advantage of the opportunity to hear Miss Zona Gale speak on "The Trend in Modern Fiction," on Friday afternoon, November 27th. Miss Gale's talk followed immediately after the regular monthly business meeting of the Club at which the president, Mrs. John F. Capron, presided.

It is always a satisfaction to see a familiar author in person, and to sense something of his or her real personality. As her talk unfolded, Miss Gale's personality shone through as a very intuitive and understanding one.

In modern literature, Miss Gale said, the tendency has been to show the stark ugly reality of things, but the real truth probably lies not in creating too beautiful or too ugly a picture, but in looking somewhere within to a hidden inner reality. In order to understand life one must seek for the hidden meaning of people's reactions. There are often powerful forces at work in people's inner lives which when once understood illumine the whole personality. If this is true in actual human relations it is even more so in fiction, for if one wants one's characters to be alive one must school oneself into that sense of transfiguration, which means putting oneself in the other person's place. One of the glories of modern fiction is, that although the characters may not always do the right thing, they are distinctly alive.

Miss Gale brought out the fact that innumerable things are done to children because of the failure to understand and to appreciate the inner reality of their lives. A lack of sympathy, or a too hasty dismissal of some artistic or social urge, may cause serious inhibitions.

In literature, and particularly in drama, the important thing is the thing that is implied; is what may be read between the lines, and in humor it is the unsaid thing which makes the real witicism. A technique for art is a technique for life, and means a "seeing through." That Miss Gale has achieved such a technique was amply demonstrated by the two sketches which she read at the close of the meeting.

Shakespeare Club

At the last meeting of the Shakespeare Club, Mrs. C. E. Severance of 50 Barnard avenue, Watertown, was the hostess.

Acts IV and V were the parts of Shakespeare's tragedy, "Hamlet," in question for the afternoon, under the directorship of Miss Mary L. Sweeney. In her presentation she showed the development of Hamlet's character, that he had a "method in his madness" with which his hearers found it difficult to cope. The King met in these acts with two unexpected reverses, and the steps by which he adjusted his plans to the changed conditions were admirably traced by Miss Sweeney to the enjoyment of the club members, as was also well brought out the Queen's description of Ophelia's death as a passage of great beauty. The discussion left the audience with this question to determine: "Was the vengeance of Hamlet accomplished through force of circumstances or by deliberate planning on his part?"—proof that the program had been ably presented to awaken interest and pondering.

Waban Woman's Club

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on Monday, November 30th, taking for her subject, "Our Little-Known Southern Neighbors." Mrs. Poole, who spent last summer traveling in South America, described many interesting experiences of that trip and stressed the need of better understanding between the two Americas.

A delightful feature of the afternoon was the singing of the Grace Morrison Poole campaign song by Mrs. Dorothy M. Waite, with Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, of Newton Centre, playing the music which she herself had composed and dedicated to Mrs. Poole.

At the close of the business meeting, Miss Ruth Chapin, of the Newton Welfare Bureau and the Mayor's Relief Committee, spoke briefly of the need for carrying on the work begun last year, explaining three methods: first, by employment; secondly, by loans, and last, by relief.

During the social hour tea was served by the social committee, with Mrs. William F. Trefrey and Mrs. William C. Tobin the hostesses for the afternoon.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Mrs. Frederick E. Judd, formerly chairman of the Department of Legislation of the State Federation and now Director of the Sixth District, was the first speaker at the regular meeting of the Club December 1st, in the Congregational Parish House, her subject being "Finishing the Task We Have Begun." Mrs. Judd explained how laws affect our domestic life and expressed the wish that the Women's Clubs bend their efforts toward legislation for children.

"What is Between the Covers" was the subject of the second speaker, Mrs. Annie Russell Marble, well-known author, editor, and critic. Mrs. Marble described the covers of our present day books as the most artistic, most effective, and oftentimes best part of the book. "Too much sewer gas" was her criticism of modern fiction. In her resume of the principal authors of fiction today and their works, she explained that one reason for awarding the Nobel prize to Sinclair Lewis was his outstanding international reputation. "Shadows on the Rock," by Willa Cather, she considered the finest piece of fiction this year. Mrs. Marble showed breadth and generosity in her criticisms, giving the audience the good points in each book mentioned.

The Club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn, and with the assistance of Mrs. John F. Wostrel, soloist, rendered four numbers: "Benedicite Stream," by John H. Brewer; "A Brown Bird Singing," by Hayden Woods; "Slumber Song of the after," by G. A. Gevaert; and "Shepherds' Christmas Song," by Rose Phelps. This was followed by community singing of Christmas carols.

Members and guests were then invited to the Crypt, which was very artistically decorated with Christmas greens, where the reception to new members was held and a very delightful tea served.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

On November 19th, the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, with Mrs. Herbert E. Child as chairman, held a Luncheon and Whist, at the Homecraft Demonstration Shop, 711 Boylston street, Boston. About thirty-five members attended. A delicious luncheon was served, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent.

On December 1st, the Club visited the H. P. Hood and Sons Company in Charlestown. Bus transportation was provided by the company, and a most interesting trip was made through the Ice Cream Factory and Milk Plant. Refreshments were served, after which an instructive health talk was given. The Public Health committee, with Mrs. H. W. Woodland as chairman, was in charge of the afternoon's trip.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Although "Realities" was the subject of Alice Dixon Bond's lecture, she wove a spell of fantasy about it, when she presented her talk before the Newtonville Woman's Club, on Tuesday, December 1st, in the Central Congregational Church.

Recently Mrs. Bond has held interviews with the authors of the many books she has been reviewing, and she drew aside the curtain revealing their personalities, and the interesting details connected with the everyday life of these people. Mrs. Bond's manner of presentation is so charming and her delightfully vivacious personality enters so decidedly into her reviews that an atmosphere of interest is created immediately. Among the most prominent authors that she has interviewed are Fanny Hurst, Sophie Duer Miller, Fanny Healslip, Lea Cosmo Hamilton, Ben Ames Williams, Honore Willies Morrow, Gamaliel Bradford, Robert C. Lincoln as well as many others. Of each one there were anecdotes, which when told in Mrs. Bond's inimitable manner, bring the authors to an audience as real living people.

The Club welcomed Mrs. Bond to the lecture platform and responded with appreciative applause when she was introduced by the president, Mrs. Hubert F. Blair.

Preceding Mrs. Bond's talk, the Glee Club sang. This was the first time this season that the Club had had the pleasure of hearing the Glee Club and their selections were enthusiastically received by the audience. Mrs. Clinton W. Keyes is chairman and Miss Dorothy A. Curtis, leader and accompanist. The program of the afternoon was decidedly a home talent one, since the Glee Club is composed of Club members, and the lecturer, Mrs. Bond, is also a member of the Club.

After the music and the lecture, the members and guests were served tea by the Hospitality committee, those in charge being Mrs. C. Edgar Thynge, chairman; Mrs. Chester A. Dodge, and Mr. George W. Esmer, Jr. Those invited to pour were Mrs. Carrie G. Edwards, Mrs. Robert C. Bridgman, Mrs. Lawrence W. C. Emig and Mrs. Randolph S. Merrill.

Newton Centre Girl Scouts are holding a Festival in the Newton Centre Woman's Club house on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 12, from one o'clock until six. There will be a sale of inexpensive articles for gifts, ice cream, candy, grabs, fortune-telling, side show, etc. At 2:30 p. m., a play "The Silver Thread" will be given in the auditorium by Troop 3. Tea will be served from four to five-thirty.

The Auburndale Girl Scouts shared their first celebration of their tenth anniversary with the Community by giving a program at the Auburndale Woman's Club meeting on November 24th.

Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, State Deputy Commissioner, gave a most interesting talk on Girl Scouting. This was followed by the Ceremonial of the Flag given by Scouts from Troops 8 and 18. Those taking part were: The Spirit of the Flag, Nancy Parks; and Hope Reynolds, Jean White, Marjorie Keyes, Ethel Wyeth, Jean Charlesworth, Virginia Perry, Jane Elizabeth Willson, Margaret Kenny, Charlotte Cook, Dorothy Houghton, Linda Smith, Esther Karol, Charlotte Appelt, Dorothy Beckwith, Emily Wright, Noel Allen, and Ruth Reynolds. Emily Wright and Noel Allen were the singers. Mrs. Walton S. Redfield acted as pianist.

The Bugle and Drum Corps closed the program with several selections. After the entertainment, the Scouts helped the Hospitality Committee with the refreshments.

Ten members of Troop 8 enjoyed cooking their lunch out-of-doors at Cedar Hill on Friday, November 27th, in spite of the cold and snow.

BURGLARIES AT NEWTON SCHOOLS

The Levi Warren junior high school at West Newton was broken into twice this week. Last Saturday night, or Sunday morning, a window in the cafeteria was broken and an attempt made to rifle the safe in the school office. The knob was broken off the safe, but a time lock defeated the efforts of the thieves. Monday night the school was again entered and the office ransacked but nothing of value was obtained. This school was burglarized last year and the thieves were subsequently caught and sent to jail.

On Tuesday night, November 24, the Underwood School at Newton Corner was entered and a number of teachers' desks in various rooms broken into and ransacked. Nothing of value was obtained. Entrance was effected by jimmying a window.

ROTARY CLUB

has not been paid, making one of the grounds for Japanese "invasion." There are four points of conflicting interests which are paramount in the present situation. Prof. Porter discussed them in the order of their importance. The first he stated is the conflict between the Japanese government and the League of Nations plus the United States. The second is the conflict between the militarists and the pacifists in Japan. The third is between Japan and China as to whether which country has right behind its claims and the fourth is the ever imminent Russo-Japanese conflict which is dormant at present. It is but a spark but if fanned into flame might become a major problem in a short time.

Discussing the third point first the speaker stated that the issue began on Sept. 18, 1931, with a fracas in Mukden. In his opinion there was no provocation by the Chinese but the following day saw the Japanese army marching up the valley. The grounds for the armed invasion were that protection of their property of which the unpaid railroads are most important, was necessary. The Japanese argued that railroad transportation was necessary to bring food, coal, iron, oil and other things to their overpopulated island. Cut off from these things their people would be in danger. China argued that the Japs did not need to seize the property and that the act counted "on the books." Political control was unnecessary from the Chinese angle and that the differences can readily be settled peacefully. On the other hand the Japanese had captured Port Arthur in 1895 and ceded their rights there in 1895. Later other foreign countries obtained points in Eastern Asia without any fighting at all. In 1900 the Japanese defeated Russia and hoped to annex the entire region as they had Korea. Feeling they have won the region twice in war they are not ready to relinquish their claims.

The conflict between militarism and pacifism in Japan enters into the problem because the former realize that this is probably their last chance to accomplish their aims before world disarmament. The Japanese army has been demoted from its high military peak of the early century and is far from what it was.

The China-Japanese conflict of interests in Manchuria is the one real and the internal conflict in Japan and the matter of railroads is an instrument by which it is being brought about. About ten days ago the Japanese cabinet announced its intention to resign unless the Japanese army which was advancing in Manchuria was withdrawn. The following day this army began to retreat and the conflict quieted down materially.

Prof. Porter stated that in America a lot can be done towards helping the situation by letting Secretary of State Stimson know that we are behind him in his stand that there shall be no fighting. The entire issue has been solved by an internal Japanese conflict and because no mention of "armed intervention" was made in forming the League of Nations. Prof. Porter hoped that it could be shown that the Japs were being disarmed and not glorified by their army. After the Boxer rebellion in 1900 when China was saved by Japanese intervention of other powers including Japan the latter obtained the good will of China. Had they maintained that good will they would have been the leading nation of Eastern Asia. The aim now must be to work for a world in which the pleasure of the people in a particular region is of the highest importance.

Following Prof. Porter's appeal for confidence in Secretary of State Stimson a resolution was adopted by which the secretary of the Newton Rotary club will notify Mr. Stimson of the local club's support.

Next Tuesday the Newton Rotarians will hold a joint meeting with the Watertown Rotary Club at Watertown.

LADIES' AID GIVE THREE-ACT PLAY

A three-act play entitled "Tourists Accommodated," was given on the final night of the two day Christmas Bazaar held at the First M. E. Church, Upper Falls, on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 2nd and 3rd.

The cast included Mrs. Frank Redman, Mrs. Samuel Oldfield, Mrs. Willard Mackenzie, Mrs. Albert Proctor, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. Bella Alden, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, Mrs. William Kestle, Mrs. Arthur Colby, Miss Marian Shaw, Miss Alice Shaw.

Mrs. Noyes Meara directed and coached the play.

The church orchestra played before and during intermission. A pleasant surprise of the evening was the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Frank Redman, president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Mary Oldfield, treasurer and Mrs. Noyes Meara, coach of the play.

TO GIVE THREE PLAYS

The Newton Dramatic Club will give three one-act plays Saturday evening, December twelfth, in the Playground House, Tyler terrace, Newton Centre.

The club will present Thornton Wilder's "Queens of France," a delightful play of surprise laid in New Orleans. It is coached by Mrs. Wallace Wales and is acted by Miss June Wilbur, Mrs. Farrar Cobb, Miss Thalia Clark and Mr. ...

It is the first time Thornton Wilder's play is given about Boston and it is characteristic of his unusual insight into life. He depicts the conflict of hope and avare. The second play will be "The Fifth Commandment" by Willis Steel coached by Mr. Arthur Logan. The cast is: Alice Winthrop, Martha Swail; Stephen Winthrop, Edgar Swail; Tony, the violinist, Emery Leonard; and the singer, Jack Allen.

"The Duchess Says Her Prayers," by Mary Cass Canfield, is the third and is set in a chapel of the Milan Cathedral. The powerful dramatic incident in the Life of Ludovico Sforza, Duke of Milan, his wife, Beatrice d'Este, and the beautiful Cecilia of Milan will be acted by Joan Damon, Donald Holt and Mary Hagan. The play is coached by Miss Damon.

On Saturday, December fifth, the Junior Dramatic Club of Newton will have an evening of drama in the Playground House, Newton Centre. Mr. Leighton Rollins, director of the Surrey Theatre in Maine, will talk on "Your Home Theatre." Miss Helen Thompson, director of dramatics at Simmons College, will present "The Pot Boiler," by Gerstenberg with club members in the cast and Priscilla Wright will give "A Pair of Burglars" which she has coached. Dancing with the Club's orchestra will follow.

VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Village Players will present "The Big Pond" on the evenings of Dec. 9, 10 and 11 at Newton Centre. The leading male part, that of a French courier, will be taken by Mr. Wesley M. Dwyne. Mr. Dwyne joined the Canadian army in 1914 and served in France until November of the following year when he was wounded. Bound for England on the hospital ship Anglia the vessel was blown up, the first hospital ship sunk in the English channel. After a year in an English hospital he was sent to Egypt to train at Cairo for service in the Royal Air Force. He flew as a scout pilot on the Palestine front during the capture of Jerusalem. ## Water Commissioner Ellis Gives Address On Water Situation

Gives Details of Contemplated Program In This Department For Immediate Future

At the annual social of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Society on December 2 Water Commissioner Richard Ellis delivered the following interesting address on conditions affecting the Water Department in this city.

The speaker is appreciative of the opportunity to address your association, and sincerely trusts that he may be able to clear up some of the misunderstandings that have existed relative to the Water Department, and that he may give you a true picture of conditions as they exist, plans to rectify existing faults, and the reasons therefor.

You may or may not be familiar with some of the history of the department. I believe that you are more interested in present and future conditions than in those past, and will accordingly confine myself to the discussion of the same. (I am keenly aware that my scope is not that of a public speaker, the combination of engineer and speaker being more or less rare. I trust, therefore, that you will bear with me in any digressions that it may be my misfortune to make.)

In general, the background of the present varied complaints is the fact that the City of Newton, during the years 1920-1930 had a very rapid growth, the population roughly doubling itself in that period. The development, furthermore, has not been confined to any one section of a widespread city, but has been of a general nature. Such rapid development as this is bound to create, temporarily, rather undesirable conditions in the working organization, distribution system, office procedure, and in fact throughout a whole department.

The City of Newton is the type of a community that will continue to grow, but everyone realizes that the accelerated growth during the past decade was much greater than even the most optimistic would have forecast in 1920. It appears to the speaker that the Water Department was wholly unprepared in trained personnel, office methods, etc., to cope with an expansion proportionate to the growth of the community.

In this respect, Newton has been no different than many other cities. Detroit, one of the newer of the large cities, for example, has been forced to almost completely redesign her distribution system, and an indefinite number of communities have found themselves faced with the necessity of augmenting their supplies, making very large additions to their physical systems, and of completely revamping their organization.

In attempting to enumerate in the order of their importance the changes that the speaker felt were imperative, when he, a year and half ago, accepted his present position, he is reminded somewhat of a letter of complaint received by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur. This letter was received from a young lady who, by way of apology for her persistency, said that it was her contention that the squeaky wheel first received the grease. There have truly been many squeaky wheels in the W. T. S. To properly apply the grease is sometimes a rather involved problem.

We almost daily hear complaints of rates, quality of water, etc. These are all squeaks which you, as well as I, hear, but to the department operator they are surface or body squeaks, and I would like this evening, if I may, to more or less ramble along, and tell you of the more serious squeaks which, in my analysis, I believe to be the fundamental points where attention was or is necessary. Therefore, it seems to me to be a logical method to enumerate in a chronological order, the points of attack which have been followed to date, and to lay before you a contemplated program for the next few years.

The heart of an operating organization is the work shop, locally called Supply yard. Here the foremen are required to plan their work, keep time records, and to execute all executive functions falling upon their shoulders. Here also is located the stock room, general repair, meter repair and pipe shops, as well as the garage, where are housed nine of the ten cars belonging to the department, the tenth being assigned and permanently located at the Pumping Station.

The buildings being used by the Water Department a year ago consisted of a two-story with basement, brick barn, in which the department made use of but 1/4 of the total available floor area, and two wooden out-buildings, one used for storage and the other as a five-car garage. The buildings had been designed for the work incidental to a department of about 1/3 the size of the present department. All operating functions were carried out in the one basement room of about 1000 square feet area, or of less than 1/6 the total floor space. Here the light was very poor at all times. Gas only was available for lighting purposes. No facilities were available for the maintenance of automotive equipment, and little or no work of that nature was attempted.

In the speaker's opinion, step No. 1 was, therefore, to construct a headquarters for the operating organization. Studies were made of different locations, as well as of cost, and finally

Two Golden Eaglets Awarded Girl Scouts

One Thousand Attend Annual Get-Together Friday

Rosalind Bigelow of Troop 15 and Lillian Wright of Troop 20 received the highest Girl Scout award, the Golden Eaglet, at the Newton Girl Scout Get-together which was held on Friday evening of last week in the auditorium of the Newton High School. The impressive service was witnessed by about 1000 people—500 Girl Scouts and their guests. The awards were made by Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner for Newton. Miss Corinne Edwards, Chairman of the Massachusetts order of Golden Eaglets, was present and welcomed the two new Eaglets into the Association.

Each of the troops in the city was represented on the stage by a Girl Scout bearing an American flag. These three flags made a very beautiful background. The Golden Eaglet banner was brought on to the stage by a group of sixteen Golden Eaglets. Each one of these girls greeted the new Eaglets, after they had received their awards.

The Girl Scouts gathered at 7:30 p. m. and marched in to the auditorium to the music of the Bugle and Drum Corps led by Ann Cummings, Drum Major, and witnessed a short Christmas play which was the first part of the evening's program—"The Pixies' Prank," a delightful little play in which fairies, pixies, and Santa Claus gave the real Christmas atmosphere; and a group of thirty Girl Scouts singing carols and taking Christmas cheer to shut-ins emphasizing the true Christmas spirit of giving.

On Saturday morning, the beginners were taken by the Girl Scouts to the Stone Institute where each of the ladies was presented with one with the wish of a very merry Christmas. The very attractive books of "Christmas Carols" which were used by the Girl Scouts and audience were donated by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The morning Leaders' Course which has been held at Newton Girl Scout Headquarters for the last 6 weeks, held its last meeting last Wednesday. Ten of the members of the Course were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts.

ACCEPTS CALL TO PASTORATE IN AUBURNDALE

Rev. Charles Rogers, D.D., assistant minister of the Harvard Church, Brookline, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Auburndale Congregational Church. He will assume his duties in Auburndale about January 1. Dr. Rogers will succeed Rev. Cornelius E. Clark who has been pastor of the Auburndale Church for about 7 years and who is to assume the pastorate of the Woodfords Congregational Church at Portland, Me.

Dr. Rogers is now assistant to Rev. Ashley D. Leavitt, D.D., minister of the Harvard Church, Brookline. The call to the pulpit of the Auburndale Church was extended to him by a committee of the church appointed to select a successor to Rev. Mr. Clark.

CHILD DROWNED AT AUBURNDALE

Clifford Hadden, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hadden of 81 Evergreen avenue, Auburndale, was drowned in the Charles River about a half mile from his home on Wednesday afternoon. The child was missed from his home and the police were notified. While the police started to search for the boy, the child's pet dog came back to the Hadden home barking. The dog led searchers to the river near Charles street and the boy's body was found a few feet from the shore. It is supposed he went on the thin ice and broke through.

Newton Families Are Smaller Than In 1920

Other Interesting Statistics Told To Local Kiwanians

An interesting picture of the people of Newton as shown by the 1930 census was presented by Michael Kley of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York at the luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Elks Hall, Thursday noon. Mr. Kley took as his subject, "The People and the Community: What the 1930 Census Figures Tell Us About Newton."

"With the figures for illiterate, non-citizens, foreign born, and industrial composition available," asserted the speaker, "the opportunity is afforded civic-spirited organizations, Newton to co-operate with other social agencies in promoting educational activity that will lessen the number who cannot read and write, encourage the foreign born to become citizens, and develop interest in furthering the welfare and health of all in the community."

Mr. Kley began his address with a short review of the growth of the city. Delving into the federal records he found that in 1790, the first official census, the population was 1360. It was 5000 in 1850, 33,500 in 1900, and is recorded by the census of 1930 as 65,276, an increase of nearly 42% over the population of ten years ago.

Analyzing the racial composition of the city, Mr. Kley said that 13,557 persons in Newton are foreign born, making nearly 21% of the population. The Canadian-French number 733; Canada—other 3,886; there are 2,203 from Italy, 434 from Sweden and 2,776 from the Irish Free State.

In discussing the foreign born, the speaker stated that immigration to the United States had been cut down by practically 80% since last January, due to the stringent enforcement by the Government of the restrictive immigration law as an aid to economic conditions in this country. As a result he pointed out, immigration may no longer be counted on as an important factor in population growth.

Turning to the matter of citizenship, Mr. Kley pointed out that over 5,500 of the foreign born are not citizens of the United States; of these over 900, however, have taken out their first papers. The census lists as illiterate any person ten years of age or over who cannot read and write. Of Newton's population are in this classification, according to the 1930 census figures, the illiteracy rate is 1.3%, which is very low as compared with other cities.

Continuing his study of the people of Newton, Mr. Kley presented interesting data on age groups and on the marital and family conditions of the populace. Of the persons 15 years of age and over, 18,935 are single, 26,840 are married, 3,982 widowed, and 335 divorced. It is an interesting social fact, he said, that there are more than three times as many widows in Newton as there are widowed men.

The census shows an increase in the number of families, the speaker pointed out, but the families are growing smaller. The 1930 figures show 15,350 families in Newton as against 10,189 in 1920. The number of persons per family is 4.3 as against 4.5 ten years ago. 11,890 families have radio sets according to the census data. This means that over 76% of the families in this city have radios.

There were 7,417 boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 13 in the public schools, representing 98% of the number of young people of this age. It was with much interest that the members listened to the figures on the gainful workers of the community. The speaker urged that the Kiwanis Club sponsor a citizenship movement in cooperation with other educational and social agencies in Newton with the view of lessening the number of illiterates and encouraging the foreign born to become citizens.

Mr. Kley referred to the high standing of Newton in the educational field and to the excellent service rendered under Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Wheeler, to the children of the city through thorough medical inspection and correction of defects. He pointed out the low death rate for the city and that there were no diphtheria deaths during the year. He said that Newton, according to figures, is one of the best places to live in both from a health and educational point of view.

Serious Explosion At Newton Centre

Fuel Oil Mixed With Gasoline Is Cause of Damaging Blast

Two persons had fortunate escapes with an explosion of gasoline fumes shattered the interior of the Beacon Garage at 784 Beacon street, Newton Centre, about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Two other employees of the garage also were fortunate to escape serious injury when coincident with the explosion a gasoline tank in the building burst into flames.

The explosion was caused by a tank wagon of fuel oil being connected with a sidewalk pipe which ran into a gasoline tank under the building. When the fuel oil was by mistake dumped into the gasoline tank the more inflammable fluid, being lighter, was forced from the tank. Some of it, apparently, leaked down onto the floor of the cellar and the fumes were ignited, causing two strong explosions. More of the gasoline worked up through a small tank on the main floor of the building and this tank was also affected by one of the explosions, breaking out into flames.

John Ryan of 1848 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, manager of the garage, and Ruth Raynes of Watertown, bookkeeper there, were seated in the garage office when the first explosion occurred. They were hurled from their chairs and ran to the street in time to escape a second and more violent explosion which shattered a tile partition in the office and blew a large plate glass window out onto the street. Miss Raynes was considerably shaken and shocked by the force of the explosion. Ralph Stetson of Waltham, and Thomas Scanlon of Dorchester, garage employees, fled to the opposite end of the garage when the first explosion came and escaped the force of the second explosion.

The explosion, in addition to shattering the wall and windows in the garage office, carried its force along a lengthy alley in the cellar of the building and shattered a tile partition 100 feet distant of the cellar under the F. H. Page furniture store. Furniture in this cellar was badly damaged by water. An automatic fire alarm was sounded when the explosion occurred and the firemen by quick work brought the flames under control before the gasoline tanks exploded or automobiles in the garage caught afire.

The damage to the building and the furniture will amount to several thousands of dollars.

PURSE SNATCHERS CAUGHT

Tuesday night as Evelyn Pope, a nurse residing at 70 Waban Park, Newton was walking near her home, an automobile containing two young men stopped alongside of her and one of the pair jumped out, snatched her handbag and then fled in the car. As the car entered Waban street the driver lost control of it and it overturned. The two thieves jumped out and ran away. The police were notified and they recovered Miss Pope's handbag in the car. It contained $45 in cash and a check. Through the Brookline Rental Company, owners of the car, Newton police learned that it had been rented by Charles Farrell, 22 and Ludlow Godsoe of Linden street, Brookline. Farrell confessed to six hand bag robberies in Newton, Brighton and Brookline and implicated Godsoe. The pair were arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and held in $2000 bail each for trial on December 17.

BUS HITS AUTO

A car driven by Arthur Holmes of Prospect street, West Newton, and a Middlesex & Boston bus driven by John Kennedy of Harris road, West Newton, collided Wednesday afternoon at Homer and Walnut streets, Newton Centre. ## All Aldermen For Re-election Are Successful In Light City Election

About 30 Per Cent of Voters Go To Polls—Sproat, Hill, Farrell Elected in Ward Contests

The election last Tuesday proved again that the big majority of persons in the Newtons take too little interest in the affairs of their city. Less than 30% of the voters went to the polls. Out of a total registration of about 28,000, the number of ballots cast totalled 8152.

The only name on the ballots for the office of Mayor was that of Sinclair Weeks. A few scattered votes were cast for other persons by some who wrote names on the ballots. In the three contests for Aldermen-at-Large the candidates for re-election were all victorious. Alderman Grebenstein of Ward 2 easily defeated his two opponents. He received 4397 votes, Wilcox 1661 and Kilgman 366. Alderman Bowen of Ward 3 received 4749 votes and his opponent, Adored Guzzi 1889. Alderman Temperley of Ward 5 polled 3401 votes, James W. Gibson who ran against him received 2424 and Willard McKenzie who also ran received 290.

An intensive campaign was waged to assure the re-election of Alderman Grebenstein. Much literature was sent out in his behalf, checkers were stationed at polling places throughout the city working for him, and a large fleet of automobiles was at their disposal. Alderman Bowen also received the support of the political organization affiliated with the Mayor. Alderman Temperley proved that he did not need the support of any organization. His name was not included on large cards which were mailed by thousands to voters throughout the city. These cards urged the voters to go to the polls and vote to show their approval of Mayor Weeks and his administration. The cards urged the voters to support Alderman Bowen and Grebenstein; but Alderman Temperley's name was conspicuous by its absence.

In the contests for Ward Aldermen William Sproat won easily over Harold Murray in Ward 1. He polled about twice as many votes as were cast for his opponent. In Ward 2 Donald Hill had a large majority. His two competitors, James Flynn and Angelo Annicelli, were fairly close; with Flynn second, having a lead of 57 votes over Annicelli. In Ward 3 Bernard Farrell, Jr., won by a majority of 35 over Julius Ramm. J. Ward Kelley was third. Farrell received 696 first choice votes and Ramm 661 Kelly had 130. In Ward 4 Alderman Chandler received nearly four times as many votes as did Frank J. Murphy who opposed him. In Ward 6 Alderman Sydney Holden had almost a walkover against Anthony Oliver who sought to displace him.

The votes for the aldermen who were candidates for re-election and who had no opponents totalled as follows—Aldermen-at-Large: Howlett, Ward 1, 4869; Gordon, Ward 4, 4877; Pratt, Ward 6, 4741; Murray, Ward 7, 4870. Ward Aldermen—Smith, Ward 4, 353; Hawkins, Ward 7, 382. For School Committee the votes for Mr. Fernald of Ward 3 totalled 4653, and for Mr. Mather of Ward 6, 4562.

AUBURNDALE MANSION TOTALLY DESTROYED

Fire Brings Thousands to Old Pulsifer Mansion

One of the most spectacular fires this city has witnessed in years totally destroyed the large stone mansion on Islington road, Auburndale formerly the residence of Royal M. Pulsifer, Mayor of Newton in 1880 and 1881. Some years ago the building received considerable notoriety as the location of the Castle Inn Club and this year it became occupied as the Langer School for boys. The fire was discovered Tuesday night at 10:30 by Henry Ashton, a teacher at the school. A telephone call brought Hose 5 of Auburndale and when this apparatus arrived the fire was raging in the attic of the building and at the rear of the first floor. The hydrant nearest the building was out of order and water could not be obtained from it. At 10:49 an alarm was pulled from Box 43 and at 11 o'clock a second alarm was sounded. Little water could be obtained from a second hydrant about 1500 feet away on Islington road and the flames spread rapidly through the big mansion lighting the surrounding area and attracting thousands of spectators. With plenty of fire fighting apparatus at the place, including engines from Waltham and Wellesley, the amount of water coming from the hydrants was so small as to be useless. Later some of the engines pumped water from the Charles River which is nearby, but the structure by that time was nearly destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $40,000. At the request of Chief Randlett, the fire is being investigated by the State Fire Marshal.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

ONE CHANGE IN LOCAL SCHEDULE EXPECTED IN 1932

But one change in the Newton High school 1932 football schedule is expected from that of the past season. This fall the orange and black met the four other members of the Suburban League, Brookline, Somerville, Rindge and Cambridge Latin, and outside of league competition faced Arlington, Everett, Quincy, Waltham and Woburn. The Everett and Waltham games are fixtures on the local schedule with Arlington and Quincy under a two-year agreement. Woburn was listed for the final October clash this fall for the one year only and Faculty manager Dr. Oscar Martin is looking about for a game for that date as Woburn did not care to continue to play Newton in football. Newton will probably take on one of the leading teams near Boston.

Otherwise Newton will meet the same opponents as in the season just completed. The orange and black will open with Arlington on the Newton field as a home and home agreement was reached when the Spy Folders were taken on. The season next year will open on Sept. 24th. Cambridge Latin and Newton will open the Suburban league season the following Saturday with Newton going to Cambridge for its first game away from home on October 1st. This will be Newton's only league game away from home. On October 8th the orange and black will make its first major visit to Everett in the bi-annual visit to Everett in the season. Quincy, as for the past few years, will have the next Saturday in the month and will come to Newtonville for the game. On October 22nd Somerville will come to Newton for the league contest as this year's affair was staged at Somerville.

It is expected that an announcement regarding Newton's new opponent for the late October game will be made shortly. Going into November the schedule remains the same with the scene of the conflict being transferred. Newton will entertain Rindge on the first Saturday of the month and the week following will go to Waltham in the annual game between the two close rivals. The locals will then close their season against Brookline, as usual, with the game being played on the Newton field.

Thus Newton will have at least five home games and three away with the probability that the game yet to be announced will also be on a foreign field.

Coach Sanborn and his assistant, Charles Condit, will have plenty of work cut out for them next fall as only three of this year's varsity squad are expected to return. This trio includes Warren Huston, Alexander Kevorkian and William Conway. The two first named have been regulars throughout the season and earned their letters but Conway, a third string guard, saw but little action and while he will be classed as a veteran did not make his letter.

With 1932 in mind Coach Sanborn had the intermediate varsity squad workout with the varsity after the former outfit concluded its season. Coach "Jeff" Jones' outfit put on the Brookline plays in order that the varsity might get something of a line on what they had to expect in that game. As no seniors are eligible for the intermediate varsity squad practically all of this group will be available for the varsity another year and it is from these players that the Newton mentor will build his 1932 eleven with his three veterans as the nucleus. In the backfield the outstanding intermediate varsity players have been York, Flagg, Feola and Whitney while in the line Thompson at centre and Johnson at end showed exceptional promise.

SPORT NOTES

Captains Church Team

Carlton Stewart of West Newton has been elected to captain the Lincoln Park Baptist Church basketball team which is entered in the Church School league.

Gets Red Sox Trial

Robert Barr, former Newton High pitcher, will be given a trial next spring by the Red Sox. Barr is 23 years old, is right handed and since leaving high school has pitched with Waltham and other semi-pro teams.

Gleason Out For Two Weeks

Francis Gleason, ex-Country Day athlete, now a sophomore defence player on the Harvard hockey team, collided with Peterson of Tech in the game on Wednesday night and dislocated his shoulder. Gleason will be out of action for about two weeks but when he returns to the form he showed against Tech he will be a strong defence spare for Coach Joe Stubbs.

Chamberlain Leads Track Men

Arthur Chamberlain of Auburndale is captain of this year's Boston University track team which began practice yesterday. Chamberlain concentrates on the half-mile on the track and in the javelin throw in outdoor meets. John Grist of Newton Centre is a veteran high jumper on the squad. B. U. will open its season on Jan. 30 at the K. of C. meet.

Wins Blue Ribbon

Named Harvard Manager

Hamilton Young of Newton has been named manager of the Harvard varsity football team for the 1932 season.

Is Basketball Candidate

Harold Scholl of Newtonville is a candidate for the basketball team at Lawrence Academy in Groton.

Squash Campaign Starts

Play in the season's team series of the Mass. Squash Racquets Association began last Saturday in all four of the divisions. Newton is well represented as usual with the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club having teams in Classes A, B, and D while Newton Club, and the Newton Y are also entered in Class D. The latter class is divided into two sections with the first two named teams in Div. 1 and the "Y" in Div. 2. In last Saturday's matches the Newton Centre team A edged the Union Boat Club 3 to 2 at the latter's courts. Newton Centre's first team is composed of W. Rice, R. Stuart, S. M. Dupertius, R. C. Bray and R. C. Cooke. Rice, Dupertius and Cooke were the local winners, the former having to play five games and the other pair four each. In Class B, the local team defeated the Walkover Club 3 to 2. In the first division of Class D Newton Centre, composed of E. A. Cooper, F. Babcock, H. Cooley, A. S. Richards, and J. Spaulding, duplicated the 3 to 2 score of their clubmates over the Newton Club team which was composed of J. Bryant, C. Crane, T. Tucker, W. Hayden, and J. Cryan. Cooper, Babcock, and Richards were the Newton Centre winners and Tucker and Cryan, the Newton Club point scorers. The Newton Y got off to a flying start in the second division of Class D with a 5 to 0 victory over the University Club third team. J. L. Sullivan, E. G. Bates, W. Baker, A. C. Barker, and H. Flitts comprised the local team.

Close Battle For Places

With the opening of the hockey season but a few days away candidates for places on Boston University's varsity six are staging close battles for starting honors. Dan Harrington and two other candidates who reported late on account of being delayed by their football activities are among those who may win starting positions. Harrington, regular goalie last year, is being tried in a defence position this season and at present is on the second team. Arthur Wilson of Auburndale, who won a wing position last year with the freshmen without previously having played organized hockey, is a wing on Team B.

Gets Bowdoin Letter

For the first time in several years but one Newton youth was among those awarded letters at Bowdoin College for their football play the past season. In previous years Newton has had at least two and often several among the letter winners. This season Creighton Gatchell, former Newton high football and track athlete, is the sole Newton representative. Gatchell played regularly in the Polar Bears backfield either at quarter or half-back.

On N. U. Freshman Quintet

Leo McCarthy, former Newton high athlete, is playing centre on the Northeastern University freshman basketball team. McCarthy is a brother of John McCarthy, former Newton high basketball captain, but did not participate in basketball while in high school. The Husky yearlings swamped the Oxford College quintet from Cambridge, 28 to 4 in the opening game last Saturday at the Boston "Y."

Best Team In Years

The Country Day school football team which won the private school championship this past season, was one of the best teams in the history of the local private school. Curiously Newton and Brookline, rivals in many ways, combined to make the 1931 season a success for the Country Day eleven. Country Day lost only to Thayer Academy by 5 points; it was victorious over Rivers School, 38 to 0, Tabor Academy, 13 to 12, Roxbury Latin, 13 to 12, Browne & Nichols, 14 to 0, and Wellesley High, 12 to 0. A 7-7 tie was played with Milton Academy. Bob Wallinger was the high scoring back with 37 points with Bill Schmidt and Bradford Jenkins tallying 29 each for the remainder of the points. Waldinger and LaBouchere tossed the passes. Captain Ross Angier and Jim Donovan at tackle and end were outstanding in the line. Country Day has been coached for several years by Howard W. Wiles, of Harvard, assisted by Malcolm Clark of Dartmouth. James Donovan, Richard Muther, Charles Brickley, Bill Nelson, Bob Waldinger, Captain Angier and Manager Karl Stone are all of Newton. Hayden White, Jean LaBouchere, and Bill Schmidt are from Brookline, while Martin Brown of Boston and Bradford Jenkins of Milton complete the list of regulars.

Coach Sanborn Not Going

Coach Ralph Sanborn of the Newton High football team will not attend the annual gathering of Suburban league football coaches and faculty managers at the camp of Tom Hines of Brookline at Winsor Camp, N. H., which begins this afternoon. The Newton mentor will attend the annual meeting of the Mass. State Coaches Association tomorrow at Cambridge, as the league coaches had made plans for their outing which could not be postponed and thus it happens that Coach Sanborn will be the only league coach at the State coaches meeting.

Country Day Strong On Ice

With a largely veteran team Country Day school of Newton hopes to have a successful hockey season as they did on the gridiron this fall. With the exception of one position the Newton private school will have the same line-up as last season. Capt. Dick Muther and Ross Angier will be at the wings, Brad Jenkins at centre, Wayward White and Bradford Bentley at the defence posts and Bob Waldinger in the net. The season opens Jan. 9th with St. Marks' School at Southboro.

NEWTON COULD STAGE STRONG COLLEGE ELEVEN

As usual Newton could stage an all-college football team that would hold its own with many of the college teams of the past season. Although recent football seasons at the high school have produced but few outstanding stars that have made a name for themselves at the college they have chosen to attend there are several other local residents that matriculated from other schools than the high school.

Here is a team made up of youths now residing in Newton or who graduated from the Newton High School and their present college:

LE, Romaine Cole, Tufts.
LT, Gordon Linberg, Tufts.
LG, Dan Harrington, B. U.
C, Art Chamberlain, B. U.
RG, Dick Haggood, Brown.
RT, L. C. Brown, Brown.
RE, Mel. Hemeon, Penn.
QB, Creighton Gatchell, Bowdoin.
LHB, Carl Pescosolido, Harvard.
RHB, Langdon Powers, Dartmouth.
FB, Frank Gleason, Harvard.
Substitutes—Bob Bennett, back, Nathan Wentworth and Leslie Huntley, line, all of Dartmouth.

Of these fourteen players only two did not attend the local high school. Frank Gleason, who made his letter as a sophomore in the Yale game was one of the outstanding Harvard reserves this season. He was a star in athletics at Country Day School a few years ago and is being followed by his younger brother Donald, who was a member of the Harvard freshman squad this fall. The Gleason family have been residents of Newton for many years. Lawrence C. Brown, the Brown varsity reserve tackle, moved to Newton a little more than a year ago. The remaining members of the all-college team were identified with high school sports within the past five years.

Romaine Cole captained the 1927 eleven at Newton the year that Frank Spain resigned the leadership and gave up football on account of an injury to his ankle which had failed to respond to treatment during the summer. Mel. Hemeon, the opposite wing, left high school that same year and attended Cushing Academy where he starred in athletics before going to Pennsylvania. Both Cole and Hemeon were sub ends until this their last season when they were rated as regulars.

Linberg was a tackle on the Newton high team two years ago after moving here from the middle west. Last year he played with the Jumbo freshman eleven and this year as varsity tackle. With two more years to go for Tufts he should make quite a name for himself.

Dan Harrington has been outstanding for Boston University and has another year in which to make himself one of the Terriers truly great football players. Haggood also has another year at Brown having been a member of the same team as Harrington at Newton high but leaving to go to Cushing Academy when he became ineligible under the three-year rule.

Art Chamberlain was also a teammate of Harrington's at Newton and has another year of football with B. U. although two other veterans have a slight lead on him for next year's starting berth.

Creighton Gatchell was an outstanding centre at Newton after Hal. Andres was forced out near the end of the 1926 season by an injury. The following year Gatchell played a whirlwind game against all opponents. Entering Bowdoin he starred for the freshman but dislocated a shoulder early in his sophomore year and had to give up the sport. The next year, 1930 he was transferred to the backfield because of a wealth of material at centre and this year played most of the season at quarterback.

Pesky's record at Newton is still fresh in the memory of many. He followed this with an excellent year at Deerfield Academy and last year as a freshman at Harvard. He is also a star sprinter in track and should make his letter easily in that sport at Cambridge even though his slight stature may handicap him somewhat in football.

Langdon Powers was another Newton high athlete who left before graduation because of the three-year rule. He also went to Deerfield Academy for two years before entering Dartmouth. In practice sessions he ran wild many times but did not see much service in the Green's games. With the graduation of several of Dartmouth's regular backs he is expected to come into his own another year. Bob Bennett graduated from Newton and spent a couple of years at Exeter Academy along with Frank Spain before going to Hanover. He has two more years to make his varsity letter. Spain has given up football and will concentrate on hockey and baseball with a chance to make himself one of the outstanding Green athletes in these two sports.

Frank Gleason, a Country Day school product, is the only Newton youth to make his Harvard football letter this season. With two more years ahead of him and already one of the outstanding Harvard reserves he should be quite prominent in Harvard football.

Winter Sports at Brae Burn

The winter sports committee of the Brae Burn Country Club has arranged its usual winter program. The club will again have a hockey team under the management and leadership of James A. Hutchinson, Jr. In the last two seasons twenty-eight games were played and but two lost. Last winter the club team was a semi-finalist in the Olympic tryouts in New England. The skating surface will be kept in the best condition possible and evening and week-end carnivals are being planned for members with figure skating competition, exhibition children's races and other special features on the program. The golf course will furnish excellent skiing opportunities with good snow conditions and experienced skiers will be invited to use the big jump. The toboggan slide and ski jump will be patrolled more closely this year in the interests of the children's safety. The winter sports committee is comprised of John A. Paine, chairman, Thomas Gorham, J. A. Hutchinson, Jr., Kenneth D. McCutcheon, Arthur T. Soule, Louis V. Washburn and Robert A. Whidden.

Crosby Scores Twice

Wilson Crosby, West Newton youth and veteran defence man on the Harvard varsity hockey team, scored twice in the Crimson's opening game of the season Wednesday night with Tech in which the Harvard team won 7 to 1. Crosby tallied the first goal of the game recovering a loose puck in the corner. He scored the sixth Crimson tally on a solo dash down the left side.

Braves Sell Cronin

The major league meeting at Chicago this week resulted in several trades by various teams. Among the deals which took place was one in which Bill Cronin of West Newton, a catcher on the Braves team the past few years, was sold to Los Angeles along with Earl Sheely, first baseman.

On Team B

Harold Strombom and Henry Furdon, former Newton high teammates, are on Team B of the Northeastern University hockey squad. Strombom, a freshman, is a candidate for goal and Furdon, a sophomore, is a defence player.

NEWTON EMBLEM CLUB TO CELEBRATE ITS SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

On Monday evening, Dec. 14th the regular meeting of the Newton Emblem Club No. 8 will be held at 7:30 o'clock, after which they will celebrate their sixth anniversary together with the visitation of the Supreme President, Mrs. Bernard McHugh, of Watertown. Entertainment will be enjoyed and refreshments served.

REV. MR. MERRILL IS INSTALLED AT CENTRAL CHURCH

The installation of the Rev. Randolph Seaman Merrill as minister of Central Church last Tuesday was something more than the usual formal ceremony which celebrates such an event.

The council which met at 4 p. m. was made up of members and delegates from about twenty neighboring churches and the following invited individuals: Rev. Warren Archibald of the South Church, Hartford; Mr. Alexander Sharp representing the Longmeadow Church from which Central has rapt their beloved pastor, and Dr. F. H. Page, the Dean of Mass. Congregationalism.

Mr. Merrill's paper presented clearly and frankly his ideal of a Christian minister and left the listeners with no doubts of his lofty aims, of the commonsense with which he faces the problems of a parish or of his sincere devotion to the high calling of the Christian preacher. There was no inquisition by the council and the few questions asked were with kindly intent to draw out more fully Mr. Merrill's ideas.

Without going into secret session and very promptly the council voted unanimously to proceed with installation. At six o'clock supper was served by the Social Committee under the leadership of Mrs. George A. Kyles to the delegates, the participating clergymen and their wives, and the standing committee of the church.

The evening service began at 7:45 with a processional hymn and an anthem by the choir. Rev. Sidney Lovett of Mt. Vernon Church, gave the call to worship and led in the invocation. Dr. Emig of the Methodist Church read the scripture lesson. After a general prayer in which the congregation joined Rev. Dwight Bradley of Newton Centre, led in the prayer for the church.

The sermon by Rev. Warren Archibald on "Being True to One's Transfigured Moment" was a fiery and stirring appeal to recognize and live up to the high moments of inspiration that come to all at some time.

The office of installation was a solemn and impressive ceremony. As Mr. Merrill knelt before the altar while the Rev. Robert Coe of Brookline prayed for God's blessing on his life in his new parish, one was reminded of the days of chivalry and the consecration of the young knight.

Rev. Boynton Merrill of West Newton in his charge to dare to be a prophet, a pastor and a priest to his people touched a high note of exhortation and encouragement.

The service closed with Holy Communion reverently served by Dr. Page and the new minister, during which it seemed that not only he, but the whole parish was being consecrated. "I love thy Kingdom, Lord" sang the choir in the Recessional and the congregation sang it in their hearts, hoping for great things.

ROTARY CLUB

Mr. George R. Farnum, Boston lawyer, and former assistant U. S. Attorney general, was the speaker at the noon luncheon meeting on Tuesday at the joint meeting of the Watertown and Newton Rotary Clubs at the Windsor Club in Watertown when the Newton Club was the guest of the Watertown Rotarians. Mr. Farnum told in a very interesting and inspiring way of some of his experiences in cases in the Supreme Court with charming and intimate character drawings of such great judges on the Supreme bench as Taft, Brandeis and Oliver Wendell Holmes. It was a memorable meeting for all present. Presidents Jesse H. Mason of the Watertown Club and Frank L. Richardson of the Newton Club presided in turn.

THE ELECTION

About thirty per cent of the voters cast ballots on Tuesday at the City Election, which was a fairly good showing in that there were but three city-wide contests for aldermen-at-large and five ward contests. As a result of the election there will be three changes in the next Board. In each case a new incumbent was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the present alderman's retirement. In all other contests, as was largely expected, the present aldermen were re-elected. Alderman Temperley's success proves again that it is a difficult thing to take representation away from any village. We not only congratulate the voters of the city for re-electing their present aldermen, but in the selection of such men as William A. Sproat, Donald M. Hill, and Bernard J. Farrell. We believe that these three new members of the Board will uphold the dignity and high character of their predecessors.

DON'T FORGET THE PEDESTRIAN

The first icy morning of the winter was with us yesterday and the going was treacherous in many places. Sanding crews were sent out but in many places little attention was paid to the sidewalks. In recent years there has been a growing tendency to care for automobile traffic with resultant lack of attention for the protection of the pedestrian. The pedestrian on the icy sidewalk should receive the first consideration as the motorist can reduce his speed to offset the danger of skidding to a great extent.

ONE WAY TO HELP UNEMPLOYED

The suggestion has been made to us that one way the "white collar" unemployed might be aided at the present time would be to put them on a "preferred" list of eligibility as jurors. If this could be legally done it might well meet with popular approval.

POLICE NEWS

Raymond Bertrand, 17, of 35 Williams street, Newton, was in the Newton court on Wednesday charged with burglary. It is alleged that last Sunday night Bertrand broke into the Bigelow School at Newton and stole money and groceries. His case was continued to December 11. In court the same day John F. Timmons of Churchill street, Newtonville, was charged with threatening his wife and his case was continued to December 10. Ellis Pucciarelli of Washington street, Newton, was charged with assault and battery on his wife. His case was continued until December 12. Professor Walter Voss of Wellesley was fined $5 for failing to stop his car before entering a through way.

John Dilloff of 244 Nevada street, Newtonville, was arrested Wednesday night at Nonantum by Patrolman Walter Jenkins. Dilloff who is now 24 years old was indicted 5 years ago on the charge of criminally attacking a girl. He disappeared before he was arrested and is supposed to have been in Hawaii. Jenkins saw the fugitive at Nonantum and recognized him. Dilloff was in the Newton court yesterday and was held for a hearing on December 16.

Wm. T. Baker of 29 Eddy St., Waltham, operator of a Middlesex and Boston St. Ry. bus, was fined $50 by Judge Bacon in the Newton district court on a charge of dangerous driving, but was found not guilty of being a hit and run driver. The charges against Baker were brought as the result of an accident several months ago in which Roland Ayer, 64, of Orange street, Waltham, was seriously injured. Baker denied in court that he was aware that his bus had struck the man. Miss Gertrude Drennan of Main street, Waltham, a passenger on the bus, testified that when she saw the injured man lying on the street, she called Baker's attention to the fact and he stopped the bus about half way between Alabamie road and North street, but refused to take the man to a hospital as he said he could not hold up the bus. The man was taken to the hospital by a passing autoist. Miss Drennan also testified that Baker had given her his name as "Douglas." The victim of the accident testified that as he was crossing the street he saw the bus about ten or fifteen feet away but as he lost consciousness a moment later he was not aware of what had hit him.

NEWTON DRAMATIC CLUB

The Newton Dramatic Club will present three one-act plays on Saturday evening, December twelfth, at the Playground House, Newton Centre, Playground, Tyler terrace, Newton Centre.

The pearl head dress worn by Miss Joan Damon in "The Duchess of Worn Prayers" is the one that was worn by Julia Marlowe. Miss Damon wears a wine-colored velvet gown in her impersonation of Cecelia of Milan, who for a brief time assumes the role of the Madonna, as she steps into the niche of the chapel to escape detection.

While in this impersonation Cecelia realizes a spiritual transformation. Miss Mary Hagan who takes the part of Beatrice d'Este will wear a gold brocade of the 15th century period. The chapel is set with an altar, a della Robbia Madonna, and the prie dieu.

Miss Damon has recently taken the lead in "The Duenna" and "Can You Hear Their Voices?" Mr. Donald P. Holt who takes the part of the Duke of Milan has recently taken the lead in "Mrs. Partridge Presents" and "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

The club will also give the "Queens of France" in costumes of 1869. The actors are Mr. William P. Fowler, Miss June Wilbur, Mrs. Farrar Cobb, Miss Thalia Clark, Mrs. H. B. Wilder and Edwin Goodall.

The play "The Fifth Commandment" is a present day setting in contrast to the others, and is enacted by Martha Swail, Edgar Swail, Emory Lenord and Jack Allen.

Mr. Edward Griffen is in charge of the evening's program, and the hostess for the reception which follows the plays are Mrs. Everett W. Harrington, Mrs. Herbert Stanger and Mrs. Albert P. Everts.

LASELL SEMINARY

Dr. Sydney Weston, Editor of "The Congregationalist," was the speaker at Chapel this morning.

Christmas dinner parties were held at Woodland Park Hall and Bragdon Hall on Saturday evening. Christmas pageants were presented by each table after which a dance was arranged for all the students at Bragdon Hall.

The Christmas Vesper service will be held in the Chapel on Sunday evening, December 13. Miss Ruth Seabury, Secretary of the American Board of Missions, will describe "Christmas in India." The Glee Club will sing groups of Christmas Carols.

On Tuesday evening next, Woodland Park School Chorus will give a Christmas concert at Woodland Park Hall.

Christmas Chapel service will be held on Wednesday morning, December 16. The students will present their Christmas offerings. Groups of students from the Foreign Language department will sing carols in German, French and Spanish.

The first Pupil's Musicals will be held at Bragdon Hall on Wednesday evening, December 16. The Orphan Club, under the direction of George Sawyer Dunham, will assist. Miss Mary Williams will be the soloist.

The Dramatic Club will present "The Goose Hangs High," by Lewis Beach. Miss Elizabeth Follett of Newton Centre has one of the principal parts.

The Christmas Recess begins Friday, December 18, at 11 a. m. School will reopen for the winter term on January 5, 1932.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Concerning municipal elections—there are those who talk a lot and vote and others who say nothing but do their voting as they should. Those who do not vote, however, should hold their tongues at all times.

Unmarked Danger Spot

It's no use, there are street corners in Newton which I can never pass without a shudder or a creepy feeling. It isn't because of ghosts or that sort of thing but dread of seeing an automobile accident. These places will never be happily remembered by me until something is done to minimize the threatened danger. I suppose that as our city grows we shall have more automatic traffic signals. That will help, possibly put an end to my fears. Until then, however, I shall still cling to my opinions.

One of the places is the junction of Waverley avenue and Franklin street. They tell me that several smash-ups have recently occurred there. I didn't see them but I can readily believe there was small blame attached to the drivers. The approaches give no automobile a chance to see what is coming. He can sound his horn and trust to luck that the other fellow has heard it and pulled up.

If coming up Waverley avenue from Church street or Franklin street from Park there is a grade that must be climbed. You certainly have to drive with some degree of speed to negotiate this hill. Well, what if there is a car on Franklin street and another on Waverley avenue and they both strike the corner at the same time? The answer to that is already shown in a number of accidents. Maybe if somebody was killed we would see more drastic regulations.

Big Hearts in Big Business

I trust I am not dropping into the habit of sermonizing. As I study the word it seems to closely resemble (in type at least) the process one is urged to apply to one's automobile in order to vastly improve the car's appearance. Sermons are intended to improve, too, but are more in my line than auto painting. For these and other reasons I desire merely to tell you of an incident that came under my observation and let you make of it what you will, provided you see any makings in it.

As the friend of the head of a large industrial enterprise I was seated in his private office, chatting and doing thing except business. I felt it my duty to avoid depressing topics. Somehow, I forgot myself and asked, "You're going to cut out Christmas bonuses this year, are you not?"

"Wait a minute," my friend replied, "I'll ask the general manager and see what he says."

The general manager came in promptly and his superior repeated my query.

"Yes, indeed," said the manager, "this is no year for those things. We can't afford it."

My friend turned sharply and addressed his subordinate. "You mean this is not the year to cut out bonuses. Of all the years we've been in business this is the one year we must be generous with our people. If you've planned not to distribute turkeys and give bonuses just forget it. We'll dip into the reserve fund if we have to, but we won't disappoint hundreds of employees who have come to look for these things every Christmas."

Those Fleeting Hours

"What time is it by your watch?" You've heard that question before. And how often has there been a direct reply? Hasn't the answer been, in nine out of 10 cases, "I'm not sure my watch is right but it says—", "Seldom does the one called upon declare, 'This is the correct time.' Oh, yes, there are people who insist their watches are accurate but these folks constitute a minority. The average person usually has an explanation or apology."

If I had the patience and no other demand upon my time I should like to make a canvass for the purpose of learning the number of watches whose owners claim for them all the qualities of a perfect watch. After I had encountered a man who boasted of his possession and its qualities I would say, "Did you know what the National Bureau of Standards says that the most careful adjustment cannot entirely eliminate variations and that isochronism, or the uniformity of rate as the watch runs down, is dependent upon the poise of the balance and consequently a watch adjusted in one position may have a variable rate when changed to another position?"

I'll bet that would floor him. If it failed, I would continue—just to show my store of knowledge by telling him about the National Bureau of Standards and how it determines the accuracy of pocket watches, wrist watches, stop watches, chronometers, clocks and chronographs.

Somebody once said "position is everything," but it seems that with watches it's position and temperature. Better grades of watches, it appears, are usually adjusted for three to five positions to isochronism and for temperature variations. The five positions are vertical, pendant up; vertical, pendant right; vertical, pendant left; horizontal, dial down; horizontal, dial up. The watch under test is run for several days in each position for position adjustment.

For temperature adjustments the timepieces are usually run for several days at each of three temperatures approximating 5, 20 and 35 degrees, Centigrade, the temperature being maintained constant by thermostatic control. In testing stop watches a special key is used to eliminate personal errors. The key is pressed against the crown of the watch to start and stop it, causing an electric current to be made and operating the pen of a chronograph so that it makes

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 13.

The Golden Text is: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Psalms 91:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee" (Nehemiah 9:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love giveth to the least spiritual idea might, immortality, and goodness, which shine through all as the blossom shines through the bud. All the varied expressions of God reflect health, holiness, immortality infinite Life, Truth and Love" (p. 518).

WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS A CALICO TEA

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, Upper Falls, held a Calico Tea in the Parish Hall on Monday afternoon, December 7, at 2:45 p. m. Every lady present wore a cotton or calico dress and a prize was offered to the lady wearing the most inexpensive dress. A gift of a house apron was awarded to Mrs. Willie Palmer who wore a dress that cost her 44 cents for material and trimming, she having made the dress.

A social hour followed the pageant at which afternoon tea was served to the ladies and ice cream and cake to the children who were the guests of the society.

A record of the time of starting and stopping.

Step Lively, or—

The friend who stops you on the street to mourn over conditions and ask you, "What's going to happen to this country?" hasn't been quite so obnoxious of late. The cold weather has been bad for sidewalk conversations. He will call you other places if you let him. Try as you may I defy you or anybody else to entirely escape from these gloom producers. They're in every city and town and in all walks of life.

There is one man I know who specializes on the pending downfall of the whole human race. He had a new topic, suggested by the news of some banking trouble. After he had finished a doleful summary of the situation as he saw it, I observed, "Looks like a lot of folks had gone wrong."

He took me seriously and answered, "Gone wrong; my dear friend they're out and out crooked."

"You mean that," said I.

"I mean everybody is crooked in some way or another," came the reply. "They ought to be in jail."

"Well, everybody but you and I," was my suggestion.

"Yes," he answered, "and we have to keep jumping."

PATRICK F. FITZGERALD

Patrick F. Fitzgerald of 86 Jewett street, Newton, died on December 7. He was born in Cork, Ireland, 66 years ago and came to this country when a small child with his parents. He had been a resident of Brighton for most of his life, moving to Newton 5 years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie Fay Fitzgerald; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Flood and Miss Alice Fitzgerald, and a son, Paul R. Fitzgerald. His funeral service was held yesterday at the Church of Our Lady and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. Delegates were present from Bishop Cheverus Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and from Brighton Council. The deceased was a Past Faithful Navigator of the former society. He was also a member of the A. O. U. W. and the Loyal Order of Moose.

MRS. AGNES D. WALTON

Mrs. Agnes D. Walton of 1244 Beacon street, Waban, died on December 6. She was a life long resident of this city. Her funeral was held Wednesday morning at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, and burial was in Holyhood Cemetery. She is survived by her husband, Thomas Walton; two sons, Wesley and Everett; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Murphy and Mrs. Katherine O'Connell.

GEORGE M. RANDALL

George M. Randall of 228 Pleasant street, Newton Centre, died on December 8, in his 78th year. He was born in Boston, April 9, 1853, the son of Rev. George M. Randall and Elizabeth Hoar Randall. His father was the first rector of the Church of the Messiah in Boston and later was a missionary bishop in Colorado.

Mr. Randall attended St. Paul's School at Concord and then entered the insurance business in Boston. In 1882 he married Harriet Ide of Claremont, New Hampshire. She died in 1924. The funeral service for Mr. Randall was held yesterday afternoon at his late home; Rev. Edward T. Sullivan officiated. Interment was today at Claremont, N. H. The deceased was a communicant of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, and a member of the Episcopal Church.

EMERSON H. STODDARD

Emerson H. Stoddard, member of Chas. H. Ward G. A. R. Post No. 62, died suddenly at his home, 75 Austin street, Newtonville, Wednesday evening. He voted in the Newton City Election on Tuesday.

Mr. Stoddard had been a resident of Newtonville since 1923, when he retired from business. Mrs. Stoddard, who was Julia Frances Miller of North Brookfield, died in 1925. He was born in North Brookfield, November 8, 1843, son of Leonard and Julia A. Stoddard and was the longest lived of twelve children. In the Civil War, by two enlistments he served in Company F of the Massachusetts Forty-second Regiment at New Orleans in 1862-3, and in Virginia in 1864. After the war he was in the market garden business in Omaha, Nebraska, and then for nearly fifty years in East Brookfield, Mass., where he also was active in town and church affairs. For several years he was a trustee of the Worcester County Farm Bureau Extension Service. He was a member of the Worcester County Harvest Club.

As patriotic instructor for the G. A. R., for a number of years he gave patriotic and civic talks in all the schools of Newton and in several adjoining towns. The friendly greetings and recognition given him on the streets by pupils of all ages were one of the joys of his last years.

He is survived by three children: Cora Frances Stoddard of Newtonville, Secretary of the Scientific Temperance Federation, Boston, Mrs. Karl F. Jacobsen, of Decorah, Iowa, and Hubert E. Stoddard of Seymour, Conn., also by four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Newtonville home this morning and at Christ Memorial Church, North Brookfield this afternoon. Rev. Charles O. Farrar of Newton Highlands, formerly rector of Christ Memorial Church, of which Mr. Stoddard was long Senior Warden, officiated at both services.

WILLIAM B. COSGROVE

William B. Cosgrove, one of the best known employees of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway died Sunday, December 6, at the Waltham Hospital following an operation for appendicitis. He worked the preceding day and was stricken at 3:30 Saturday night. He was born in West Newton 44 years ago and had been in the employ of the Middlesex & Boston and its predecessor, the Newton Street Railway for 24 years. Debonair and genial, he was one of the most popular employees of the M. & B. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian A. Cosgrove; a son and a daughter, and his father, William Cosgrove, an inspector on the Middlesex & Boston and the oldest employee of that corporation.

WALTER F. WYETH

Walter F. Wyeth of 189 Windsor road, Waban, died suddenly on December 4. He was born 55 years ago at Cambridge and graduated from Harvard in 1899. He had been engaged in the brokerage business. Mr. Wyeth was a member of the Brae Burn Club of this city, the Algonquin, Exchange and Thursday Clubs of Boston and the Eastward Ho Club of Chatham. His wife, who was Josephine Shaller Wyeth, died 5 years ago. He is survived by one son, Walter F. Wyeth, Jr., of Brookline, and three daughters, Grace, Marjorie and Nancy Wyeth of Waban. His funeral service was held Monday afternoon in the chapel at Mount Auburn Cemetery; Rev. Edward T. Sullivan officiated.

CHARLES ROBERTSON

Charles Robertson of 120 Charles street, Auburndale, died on December 3. He was born at Peterboro, Ontario, 61 years ago and had resided in this city for 40 years. He was president of the J. R. Robertson Company, nationally known as canoe builders. His funeral service was held Sunday afternoon at his late home; Rev. John S. Franklin officiated. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. Numbered among the large gathering which attended were delegations from the American Canoe Association, Riverside, Somerset and Omicron Delta Canoe Clubs. Mr. Robertson was a member of the Knights of Pythias. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary H. Robertson.

GEORGE A. SCAMMON

George A. Scammon, a former resident of West Newton, died at Augusta, Me., on Tuesday, December 8, after a long illness. He was in his fifty-fourth year. Funeral services were held on December fourth at Saco, Me., with full military honors accorded him by the Spanish War Veterans of Saco of which he was a member. Interment was in Greenlawn Cemetery, Saco. He is survived by his widow, the former Jennie M. Troy of West Newton, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Davis of Saco.

ADDRESS ON WATER SITUATION

ly it was decided to reconstruct the old brick structure, tear down the wooden buildings, and build a modern, tile, brick and concrete garage and storage building.

Today Newton has one of the finest plant layouts, and one of the best equipped water works shops in New England. All different functions are properly separated, each operation being independent of the others.

This construction, involving the expenditure of about $45,000, did not directly eliminate any of the squeaks that you would hear, but it did provide the facilities so that the organization might be properly expanded to cope with present conditions.

A systematic check up of the inoperative meters showed that approximately many stuck meters existed in April. All of these, plus those which showed up in subsequent readings, have been removed, rebuilt or exchanged for new, and as an estimate, I would say that we have tested 2500 rebuilt or new meters since June 1st. The meter shop is scheduled to handle between 3000 and 4000 meters per year, so that in a five-year period, we hope to have changed every meter in the city.

It is practically an established fact that meters will not register against the consumer. If, however, a large proportion of the meters are working against the department, it is paramountly evident that those whose meters are correct are paying for the deficiency of those meters whose registration is false. This operation alone will assure all that while they are paying for all the water they use, they are paying only at such a rate as is necessary in the aggregate to operate the department efficiently.

Second in importance to the speaker was the office method of handling rate accounts. A system was in use which required the reading of all meters semi-annually, and all accounts were billed at least yearly. No meter readings were furnished, and you were asked to pay for a certain quantity of water at the determined rate, without having an opportunity to check the calculation of the quantity consumed. Water is not a commodity which the consumer orders as he does fuel, food, clothing, etc. In the purchase of these articles, you yourself have definite means of checking your bills against value received. Therefore, it is my contention that proper checks should be furnished to at least check the calculation of the office accounts, and if desired an opportunity is thereby furnished to check the bill against the present reading of the meter.

All bills for water were rendered in January and July of each year, and the preparation of the same (hand work) and the subsequent investigation of the naturally resulting complaints created annually two serious peak loads, both on the office and on the inspectors. It was impossible to render prompt service in reply to the complaints received following the issuance of 15,000 annual bills. Therefore it was deemed advisable to stagger the issuance of the bills so as to equalize the load.

Inasmuch as a serious loss annually occurred from meters that broke down during a six month interval, and as it was felt that a saving could be effected to the consumer who was unfortunate enough to have a leak develop shortly after his meter was read, on the old schedule, it was decided to read all meters quarterly, and to issue bills on that basis. It is quite impossible from the data available to the department to know always whether a large bill is due to leakage or to some definitely large usage, of which the consumer is aware. The quarterly bill therefore serves as a notice to the consumer either that his consumption is ordinary, or that he has a large consumption of which he may or may not be aware. Several glaring cases have come to the attention of the speaker where this system has saved a great deal of money to individuals, and unquestionably a large saving must have resulted of which the office could not have been aware.

The introduction of this system has involved the purchase and installation of addressing equipment and public utility billing machinery. A complete new set up was necessitated by the division of the city into three districts, each district being billed four times a year, but no two districts being billed within the same month. In this way the peak load is completely eliminated, and each month's work approximates the next.

Complaints were plentiful following the introduction of this plan. Despite the fact that circulars were enclosed with the first issue of bills, notifying the consumer that the first bill rendered under the new system, of necessity included a charge for excess water used over and above the allowance of $10.00 billed in January 1930, the office was flooded with complaints and unjust criticisms. In practically all cases, the consumer was under the impression that the charge was for a quarter or three months, whereas the minimum period included in the first bills so rendered, varied from six to nine months, and the maximum from twelve to fifteen months. Even at the present time, the department will receive complaints based on the amount paid in 1931, and it is necessary to again call attention that the sum of the 1931 charges in most cases includes a large portion of the charge for 1930 consumption.

The speaker is confident that with the close of the first year of quarterly billing at hand, so the confusion resulting from the introduction of this system will cease, and he trusts that the public will better appreciate the advantages (some only of which he mentioned) to be derived therefrom.

At times, numerous complaints have been received by the Department of the quality of the water drawn at the house taps. These complaints might be divided into three classes as follows: blue water, dirty or red water, and third, water which has an unpleasant taste. The Newton supply, as originally drawn from the wells and collecting galleries in Needham, is a clear, cool and palatable water. Due, however, to its rather high Co. content, it does have a decided affinity for iron and the softer metals. Therefore, as the water is conducted through the cast iron distribution system and through the house piping systems, it attacks any exposed metal and will absorb iron, copper, etc. The blue stain noticeable on enamel ware indicates the presence of copper which has been collected after the water has been delivered into the house piping system. The presence of iron is similarly indicated by a reddish stain. Deterioration of house piping, as well as the collection in the mains of quantities of free iron is the result of such action. Recognizing this fault, the Water Department set up an experimental plant at the Pumping Station, and for the past 9 or 10 months has been experimenting with the action of our water on four commercial types of pipe, such as are usually used in dwellings. These experiments indicated a rather active decomposition which, by certain treatments we believed could be minimized. Experiments were therefore conducted, using two types of treatment, and the results obtained have warranted His Honor Mayor Weeks and the Board of Aldermen, in passing a sufficient appropriation at the last meeting of the Board, to provide the necessary material and equipment to start immediately on the treatment for the control of corrosion. Your speaker is, to say the least, hopeful therefore that within a very short time we will have robbed our water of its affinity for iron and the softer metals, and we will be returning to the citizens of Newton, as a dividend, an absolutely non-corrosive water. This means a direct saving in prolonging the life of your house piping and all associated accessories, and the supplying of a cleaner, clearer water.

The third complaint relative to quality is one resulting directly from the accelerated growth of your city. New developments were started and forwarded so rapidly that the department had all it could do to extend its distribution system only far enough to furnish water to all the properties in progress. No time apparently was available to properly griddle the system, and many gaps resulted. At times when little water is consumed on long extensions, where there is little or no circulation, and under certain atmospheric conditions, the water in the mains becomes stagnant, and unpalatable. This is a condition which can only be remedied by additions to provide proper circulation. Considerable work of this nature has been done in the last 18 months, particularly where such extensions would serve the twofold purpose of providing circulation and increasing the supply of water available for fire protection purposes. A detailed study of the whole distribution system has been made, which the speaker desires to mention later.

So far in this discussion, it has been my pleasure to deal only with actual accomplishments, or the steps leading up to the same. It was deemed advisable this fall to formulate a program of endeavor covering a period of about four years. His Honor Mayor Weeks has sanctioned my disclosing this evening for the first time publicly, the main points in this program with which in general the Special Committee on Water, of the Board of Aldermen, are in accord.

In order to be in a position to supply from our own source all the water required by the City, it is proposed to further develop our source of supply so that we might have available three million gallons of water per day additional to our present yield. Second, it is proposed to completely redesign, remodel and re-equip our Pumping Station. Our present plant is capable of pumping but five million gallons per day, whereas at times the peak load on the system approaches eight million gallons per day, and our present method of securing this differential of 3 million gallons is to draw the same from the Metropolitan System at our auxiliary pumping station located off Ward street.

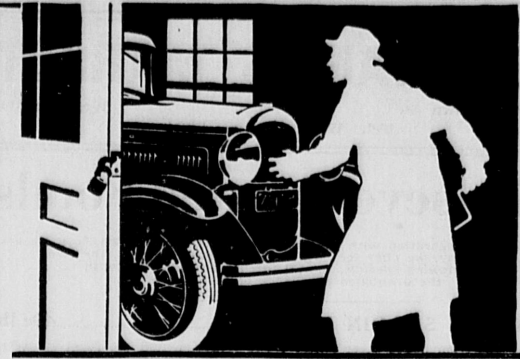

Third, it is proposed to fill in the gaps aforementioned in the distribution system, and thus provide as near perfect circulation as possible throughout the entire city. It is also proposed to eliminate all distribution pipe of 4" diameter or less. Fourth, the construction by the Massachusetts Highway Dept. of the new super-highway traversing the city at the present location of Boylston Street necessitates the installation of two mains for practically the entire distance from Needham to the Brookline line. The re-location of our present mains and the installation of an additional main on the opposite side of this highway will tend to maintain a uniform flow in the districts bordering on this location. This installation will be of material benefit to the Highlands, Newton Centre and Oak Hill districts. The total money involved in these several items, construction of which we expect to complete within four years, amounts to about $660,000.

While this expenditure is a comparatively large one, it is felt that by the issuance of proper bonds, no great burden will be placed upon the department in any one year, and while the speaker is not at liberty tonight to divulge any definite information of possible rate changes, he is free to state that he is hopeful that ere long the government may have a pleasant announcement to make in this regard.

W. C. T. U.

The regular evangelistic meeting of the West Newton Union was held at the home of Mrs. Sarah Jigger Monday evening. Although on account, no doubt, of the extreme cold, there were only a few out, a very enjoyable and instructive evening was spent. Devotional to the State Convention at North Adams, Mrs. Beardsley and Miss Allen, gave their reports and Mrs. Jigger and her daughter, Mrs. Caryl served refreshments.

AND HIS INCOME CUT IN HALF

It is not pleasant to find that your income is shrinking and to realize that future income must depend on capricious conditions over which you personally have no control. Yet that is what thousands of people are facing at this period. If funds are relatively short, it is still the "business man's chance" that the new investments will not be satisfactory—so uncertain are these times.

Annuities on the other hand are investments which guarantee a life income. They are the answer for those thinking men and women who must maintain their standard of living and to whom a guaranteed income will mean continued happiness, self esteem, and freedom from financial worry.

How the Annuity—and there are as many kinds as there are human needs—can be purchased as part of an investment program is not generally understood. From my 25 years of experience as Annuity Specialist, I have recently prepared and distributed two leaflets which, in simple words, explain the purpose of the Annuity and the various forms available. If you are interested in the Annuity as a safe, certain investment, I suggest you write or telephone. There will be no obligation on your part. The booklets will be mailed to you.

NATHAN FULLER CHAPTER D. R.

The December meeting of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, D. R., was held on the eighth at the home of Mrs. John L. Stearns, 18 Hillside road, Wellesley Hills. The Regent, Mrs. G. Raymond Lehrer, presided and opened the meeting with the customary salute to the flag and the singing of one verse of "America."

Mrs. Ross Furman reported on the success of the benefit bridge party which was held on November 18th.

As part of the Americanization work for November, the mothers' class of the Franklin School was taken on a sight-seeing trip around the Newtons. The party for the mothers and children of the Americanization class at the Emerson school will be held sometime in January when there will be games, small prizes and refreshments. The flags which are to be presented to the members of the Americanization classes upon their graduation, have been chosen from the Acme Novelty Company. They are to be silk, twelve by eighteen inches.

Of the four dozen ties which were brought by the members for the veterans, two dozen will go to those in the hospital at Rutland and two dozen to Northampton. Five dozen pairs of silk stockings will also go to Northampton where the veterans make them into hooked rugs.

A recommendation of the executive board to renew the usual subscriptions to the Saturday Evening Post for the veterans at the hospital at Bedford and to the National Geographic magazine for those at Northampton was read by the corresponding secretary and accepted. Mrs. Cross was appointed chairman of a committee which is to fill and send Christmas boxes to the Newton boys in the veterans' hospitals. A recommendation that the chapter send a Christmas donation to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was read and accepted. A letter from Mrs. Carter of that society was read suggesting that the members take small banks which their children might fill for the society. It was also voted to send handkerchiefs to the ladies in the Stone Institute for Aged Ladies. The regent asked that the chapter members bring their Christmas cards to the January meeting. The chapter had voted to send these cards to the Moravian Mission by Commander Donald B. Macmillan when he goes north next June.

Mrs. Robert D. Chellis, chairman of national defense, read a brief of the London Naval Treaty. The next meeting of the chapter will be held on January 12th at the home of the organizer of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, 63 Elmhurst road, Newton. Dr. Fernald will speak on "My Work with Commander Macmillan in the Far North." Mrs. Lewis Pike of Wellesley will sing and Mrs. George Walter Bricker will play piano solos. The officers of the Sarah Hull Chapter of Newton and those of the Massachusetts Society, D. R. will be guests of the chapter.

Mrs. John L. Stearns, chairman of correct use of the flag, read an article by T. Dewitt Talmadge entitled, "Pure Patriotism." The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Edward Payson Drew of West Newton who told of her experiences in China and exhibited articles made by the Chinese.

During the social hour which followed, tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. John L. Stearns assisted by Miss Beatrice Eastman, Mrs. Richard Lee and Miss Dorothy Roys.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION OF CENTRAL CHURCH

The Woman's Association of Central Church met on Wednesday, December 2nd, at ten o'clock. The chapel had the appearance of a small bazaar as a number of articles were displayed there. The Central Guild had a food table. Mrs. Ellison Day was sponsoring the sale of some hand-carved wooden novelties, the work of a shut-in. Mrs. H. G. Payne was selling knitted articles, and choice Chinese embroideries and beads were also among the gift suggestions.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock with Mrs. Walter Kelly as chairman and Mrs. Brewer Eddy chairman of the serving committee. Tables were decorated with berries and evergreen suggestive of the Christmas season, and with attractive Chinese doyleys with their mystifying characters.

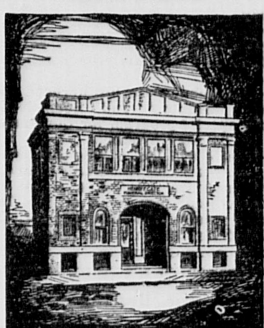

Mrs. Thomas Chalmers conducted the devotional, stressing the need to realize our ideals through the every day opportunities which come to us as individuals. We cannot expect to follow any fixed plan which may apply to others, but our spiritual life and growth are dependent on the way we meet our own problems, finding the time and place best suited to our environment. Mrs. C. G. Edwards played for the singing.

The president, Mrs. R. E. Chambers, read a letter from President Hoover in reply to a letter sent from the Association in regard to the cause of President William H. Taft. She spoke of the course of lectures on sex education which will be given by Mrs. Hasbrook. Mrs. A. W. Salinger reminded the Association of the election to be held December 8th, and said "Let us send the best men we can to City Hall."

Mrs. E. E. Bachelder of the North Church, Nonantum, spoke in a very illuminating way of the Mormons, as she and Mr. Bachelder had spent five years among them during Mr. Bachelder's ministry in the Community Church of Provo, Utah. She described the fantastic conceptions of Joseph Smith as contained in the Book of Mormon. Through the efforts of efficient teachers who were sent among them, the Mormons, or Latter Day Saints, as they prefer to be called, have incorporated much that is best in the Christian religion into their beliefs and the paradox is seen of a strangely enlightened group among people clinging to such gross and superstitious ideas. Utah now ranks seventh in the United States in efficiency in education. The women are well educated and opportunities for improvement is widespread. Drinking and smoking are discouraged, and Mrs. Bachelder considered the Mormons as an unusually clean and moral people. She noted several among their number of special eminence; Maude Adams, Cyrus Dallin, the president Heber Grant and Senator Smoot. Polygamy is extremely rare. The Mormons have missionaries all over the world and have such an efficient system that any one of their number can be located in any part of the world within 24 hours.

—Lincoln Park Baptist Church to celebrate BIRTHDAY

In observance of its founding seventy-eight years ago today, the Lincoln Park Baptist Church will hold special services Sunday morning with a sermon by the Pastor, the Rev. John Shade Franklin, entitled "Birthdays."

The Lincoln Park Baptist Church was first organized as the First Baptist Church of Newtonville, December 12th, 1853. When the church moved its location to West Newton the name was changed to the First Baptist Church of West Newton. A little over twenty-five years ago the name of Lincoln Park Baptist Church was adopted because of frequent confusion with the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre.

At the West Newton Community Service Sunday evening the Rev. John Shade Franklin will preach on the subject "Forgiveness," this being a consideration of two parables of Jesus. Miss Olive K. Burrisson and Mr. Arthur M. Rogers will sing an offertory duet and Mrs. Thomas West, Mrs. Grover Calkins, Mrs. A. O. Cummings.

In the interest of the Girl Scout Campaign Fund the Troop Committee presents a Marionette Show to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on December 30 at 10 o'clock. Stanley Marshman will be assisted by Curtiss Beach and Ted Timbe. The plays include, "In a Castle Garden," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Dance of the Skeletons," "Box and Cox," "Mickey Mouse and other subjects will take place between the plays.

Auburndale

—There will be two full-room piano class demonstrations given at the Burr School, Auburndale, on Wednesday and Thursday mornings, December 16 and 17 at 10:30. These demonstrations will be under the direction of H. S. Wilder and will show the results of 10 weeks' instruction.

ALDERMEN MEET

Residents of Clarendon street, Newtonville, attended the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night to protest against what they supposed was a petition by the Edison Company to install 7 additional poles on that short street. It was explained that the petition was merely to validate the location of the poles as the street had been recently accepted by the city.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Garden City Sand & Gravel Company for an extension of its permit to operate the pit on Winslow road off Beacon street, between Waban and Newton Highlands, G. Howard Frost, owner of the land where the gravel pit is located, described the topography of the property and asserted that it is necessary for ridges there to be removed before the land can be used for house lots and that the work must be done on a large scale by a gravel company. He said that a quarter of the material has already been excavated.

Ex-Alderman Daniel O'Connell, manager of the gravel company, said it will be 2 to 3 years before the gravel on the land will have been removed and that the company is following plans made by City Engineer Morse. Raymond Gifford of 92 Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, objected to an extension of the permit because of the noise and dust caused by the operations at the pit and the alleged danger which will be caused to children should the holes at the pit become filled with water. He said that a business should not be allowed in a residential zone.

Albert Walker of 83 Plymouth road objected to the petition. He stated that much dirt is blown onto houses in the neighborhood of the pit, that the engine at the pit is started mornings at 6:45, preventing further sleep in the neighborhood and that persons residing nearby would not have purchased homes there had they realized conditions. He presented a petition signed by 12 objectors.

Jurors drawn at the meeting for service in the Superior Court sessions at Cambridge next month included: Edward Gray, 68 Windemere road; Joseph Higgins, 80 Jewett street; John Thorburn, 21 Hood street; George Blanchard, 12 Whittemore road; Ashley Burt, 47 Taft avenue; Wilfred Chagnon, 21 Hibbard road; William Schwartz, 1841 Commonwealth avenue; Leigh Morse, 46 Northgate park; Roy Fernald, 38 Jefferson street; John Sanderson, 19 Peabody street; Roswell Houghton, 271 Bellevue street; Edmund Kingsbury, 17 Prince street; Bernard Bryson, 5 Hovey street; John L. Wells, 34 Hilltop street; Horace Danforth, 67 Eddy street.

An order was passed reducing the rate on water from 25c per 100 cubic feet to 22 1/2c. Alderman Ball explained that although the rate had been increased a couple of years ago from 20c to 25c, it is not advisable at this time to reduce the rate back to 20c because of the large amount of work which must be done the next year in improving Newton's water system. Many large mains must be laid, the supply must be increased and $300,000 must be expended to eliminate dead-ends and thus lessen trouble from rusty water.

Appropriations made by the Aldermen included: Soldiers' Relief, $2,500; $1400 for fuel for power plant at police headquarters; Street Department, drains $2000; flushing sewers $2000; snow plow attachments $870; Cabot road drain $502; Paul Brook drain $712; sewer in Ipswich road $1838; Water Department, $7925.

Alderman Powers called attention to efforts being made to get residents of this city to patronize the Vocational School when they need work in printing, automobile or electrical lines. He condemned this unfair competition when business men are struggling to keep out of bankruptcy and thousands of working men cannot find employment. Alderman Ball agreed with the Ward 1 member and said the matter ought to be brought to the attention of the School Committee.

CLARENCE L. E. MOORE

Professor Clarence L. E. Moore of 179 Hunnewell avenue, Newton, died on Saturday morning at the Newton Hospital after a long illness. Professor Moore was born in Ross County, Ohio, May 12, 1876. He was educated at Ohio State University from which he graduated in 1901 and at Cornell where he received his A.M. degree in 1902 and his Ph.D. in 1904. From 1904 he had been in the department of Mathematics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology advancing through the various grades from instructor to professor. He was a member of several scientific societies in this country and abroad.

Funeral services were held at Eliot Church, Newton on Sunday afternoon at two-thirty. Interment was in Somers, Conn.

Prof. Moore is survived by his widow and a daughter, Hazel Ann Moore.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Newton Girl Scout Troop Committee met at the home of Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, 18 Vernon street, on Thursday, December 3. A delicious luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. Those present were Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Roger Hodges, Mrs. Edwin Smith, Mrs. Clinton Brown, Mrs. Wallace Wales, Mrs. John Melcher, Mrs. Stephen Wilson, Mrs. M. F. Butts, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Elizabeth Bartlett, Mrs. M. W. Tyler. Those who could not attend were Mrs. B. P. Mansfield, Mrs. Edward Sawyer, Mrs. Thomas West, Mrs. Grover Calkins, Mrs. A. O. Cummings.

In the interest of the Girl Scout Campaign Fund the Troop Committee presents a Marionette Show to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on December 30 at 10 o'clock. Stanley Marshman will be assisted by Curtiss Beach and Ted Timbe. The plays include, "In a Castle Garden," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Dance of the Skeletons," "Box and Cox," "Mickey Mouse and other subjects will take place between the plays.

GUEST VIOLINIST AT GLEE CLUB CONCERT

On Tuesday evening, December 15th at 8:15 at the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville, the fall concert of the Highland Glee Club will be given. The assisting artist is Miss Ruth Possett, violin prodigy. She made her first appearance in recital at the age of six and showed surprising talent. At eight, in Carnegie Hall in New York, she completely won her audience. At nine, she was the winner of the Schubert memorial prize in New York and has since appeared as soloist for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and prominent symphony orchestras in large musical centers from coast to coast. She is sure to delight her audience at this concert. A carefully selected program by the Highland Glee Club is certain to prove exceptionally enjoyable to all music lovers.

VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Village Players staged a most successful comedy this week in "The Big Pond," at the Unitarian Play House. The house was crowded the opening night.

Wesley Dynes

Mr. Wesley Dynes as the French courier, did some very fine acting, especially in the second act, the part was difficult but he handled it with great skill.

Mr. Norman Powers, as the American business man, first in Paris and later in his home town in America, was very amusing during the whole play. The audience greeted his remarks with much laughter.

Mrs. Montague Ford as the wilful daughter, with a mind of her own played her part with great charm and sweetness.

Mrs. Wesley Dynes as the tactful mother, trying to keep peace between father and daughter, in a trying situation was delightful.

The appearance of Helen Blodgett as the maid, met with applause. Altogether it was a delightful performance well staged and most excellently played by all taking part.

The first act was laid in Venice, and very beautiful scenery especially designed to represent the inside of a palace was used. The second and third acts laid in an American home, were most charming.

During the intermission the Boleman trio played and entertained.

W. C. T. U.

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton W. C. T. U. was held in the Channing Unitarian Church, Newton, on December 3rd.

After the devotional service Miss M. E. Blake accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Gordon, sang several selections which were much appreciated.

The speaker, Mr. Orville Poland, of the Anti-Saloon League, gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Prohibition as a Modern Outlook." He said that "Massachusetts was fundamentally a Prohibition State since the organization of the colony. In order to maintain Prohibition there must be a renewed emphasis on the matter of education for Prohibition and Education go together and must not be separated. Then, too, there must be a right attitude of mind. Have independence not conformity. Approach a question of this kind objectively and encourage an objective as if it had never been heard before. Insist upon scientific definition of terms and be sure of the difference between Abstinence and Temperance. We have Prohibition in order to make it just as hard as possible for people to get Alcohol which is a habit forming drug and narcotic stronger than the will of the person who has it.

"Prohibition is an economic impossibility for 90% of the people and has made indulgence in intoxicants absolutely impossible. If the theory is right it's got to work and must be put into practice."

Mr. Poland complimented the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for their progressive thought and adaptability to meet the needs in the times when they exist.

A brief question period followed. Mrs. Rebecca Cushing and Mrs. Hattie E. Schutts were hostesses and served refreshments during the social hour.

WORLD FRIENDSHIP IS CONFERENCE THEME

"The Quest of World Friendship," the theme of the recent Young People's Conference, proved a very timely subject and evoked many thoughtful questions from the young people who attended this event which took place last Friday and Saturday at Central Church.

After the opening worship service and the welcome extended to the conference by Phillip Andrews, president of the Y. P. Society of Central Church, the opening key address was given by Rev. Richard G. Preston of Grace Church, Newton. With many interesting illustrations, Mr. Preston showed how the world was once a group of isolated factions, then as peoples began to expand and touch each other, friction developed. We are now living in this stage of World Friction. But world news is now almost instantaneous; the word isolation referring to nations should be discontinued. World frictions are caused by self-satisfaction and unwillingness to learn and suspicion of the other fellow's motives. To have world friendship, we must develop trust in one another. Differences that exist should be viewed as positive assets. If we meet here as Christians, we have to face the fact that we are committed to world brotherhood through a common Master.

Mr. James H. Sheldon, formerly Secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, spoke several times. He gave the technical reasons for wars, for world court, and for leagues of nations. He said that there will always be disputes, but that some way can be found to settle these between nations, as between individuals. We can learn to adjudicate and should be willing to try out some system for this purpose. The Kellogg pact, which has actually been signed, should bind us as a nation. He showed the futility of war, for it settles nothing; it merely proves which happens to be the stronger nation at a given period of history. In future wars there will be no non-combatants; all persons of a country will be involved. The cost of the World War was 37 million casualties in men alone, but another cost even more important was the effect on the people in it, the loss in the nation of the higher moral values that come through peace. The recent depression, Mr. Sheldon believes, is largely due to the war. The state of things in Europe caused uncertainty and loss of credit because of the debts and other results that came from warfare. Every war in history has shown a period of inflation following it, then a period of depression. The world is interdependent economically.

The informal forum Friday afternoon, when the young people requested that the forum be continued beyond the time set for its closing, was one of the interesting developments. The questions of "true patriotism" and "conscientious objectors" were raised. When one of the young men present said that to him the law of Jesus was higher than the law of country, the audience clapped.

The outstanding speeches Saturday were those of Paul Kiang, Chinese student, and Miss Vera Tsakova, Bulgarian student. Mr. Kiang, an intelligent thinker and pleasing personality, told his personal experiences in China with regard to Christianity. He had written against Christianity while in his school, for his father was a professor in a Chinese school that was steeped in the classics and Confucianism. But Mr. Kiang, while still a student, met a missionary and questioned why such a man would be willing to leave home and come to a country where he would be unpopular. Finally, Mr. Kiang discovered that Christ could change personality, and he adopted the new religion, in spite of the fact that friends and family cast him off temporarily. He said that American young people may not appreciate the power of Christ, because they have always heard about it.

Miss Tsakova, of Bulgaria, voted "a darling" by some of the girls at the Conference, was dynamic in her method of picturing Bulgaria, its troubles and its needs. She explained that it is trying out a most interesting new plan of a period of labor for one's country, instead of a period of military service. Young men who serve their country in labor for a certain time are put at work building bridges or other necessary constructions, and are welcomed and entertained royally by any community where they come to serve for a time.

The Conference closed by the installation of the new Young People's Council officers, who are as follows: President, Constance Dort; vice-president, Eleanor Sturtevant; Treasurer, Leighton Harris; Publicity agent, David Felt; Secretary, Marion Hayes; Assistant Secretary, Warren Hilton.

"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

Mrs. T. P. Coty of 22 Highland avenue, West Newton, and Mrs. J. Mervin Allen of Birch Hill road, Newtonville, are among the Newton women interested in the special performance of "Huckleberry Finn" to be given at the Exeter street theatre on Saturday morning, Dec. 19th, to benefit the Visiting Teacher work of the Home and School Visitors Association. The showing of the film will be preceded by the delightful Silly Symphony, "In a Clock Shop."

FIRE ROUTS WEST NEWTON FAMILIES

The two-family house at 26 Auburn-dale avenue, West Newton, occupied by the families of Frank Giordano and Armand Breault was seriously damaged by fire and smoke shortly before midnight Sunday. Peter Giordano, 14 a nephew of Frank Giordano, whose home is across the street at 23 Auburn-dale avenue, looked out the window of his home and saw his uncle's house afire. Without stopping to dress, young Giordano rushed across the street and awakened his relatives who rushed from the house. He then awakened Mr. and Mrs. Breault. The fire caused damage estimated at $4000. It is supposed to have been caused by a short-circuit in a radio set.

M & B TO CARRY CHARLMONT CHILDREN

Secretary George Kellar of the Newton School Department has awarded to the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway the contract for transporting the children of the Charlmont district. There are over 50 children in the district attending schools at Newton Centre and Newton Highlands and the M & B provides a bus to carry them to and from school. The company submitted the same bid as S. J. McNelly of Chestnut Hill; $5 daily.

TWO GUN MEN ROB WEST NEWTON STORE

Two armed robbers entered the Waverley Hardware Company store at 995 Watertown street, West Newton, last Saturday night stole $17 in cash and missed getting $200 and a valuable diamond ring because the manager of the store didn't like their looks when they came in the door.

Something told Edward Brilland, the manager, that the pair were bandits as soon as he saw them. So, Brilland grabbed a roll of bills containing $200 from the cash drawer and managed to drop this with his ring into a barrel at the rear of the store before the bandits pulled their revolvers and forced him and his assistant, Hugh Buckley, into the cellar of the store. They made their get-parked outside the store.

NONANTUM MAN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

James McGrath of 305 California street, Nonantum, was severely injured late Saturday night when the car he was driving collided at River and Farwell streets, Waltham, with two other cars. McGrath's car first collided with a car driven by Robert Woodland of Watertown, and then hit a car parked on the side of River street. McGrath's car then tipped over, and he was caught under it. He was taken to the Waltham Hospital.

WEST NEWTON MAN KILLED BY ELEVATOR

Barnet Goldenberg, 53, of 1151 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, was killed last Saturday when he was crushed between an elevator and a wall at 57 Fulton street, Boston, where his business was located. His body was found at the 5th floor of the building after he had been missing a couple of hours. He was making a tour of the building when the fatal accident occurred. He was president of the Alberti Importing Company. His funeral service was held last Sunday afternoon at his late residence.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

Mrs. William T. Goode and Mrs. J. Stewart Rooney are very actively interested in the Matinee Bridge Party which is to be given at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, on Monday afternoon, December 14. It is to be in aid of the families of disabled veterans, a benevolence in which this Country Club is very deeply interested.

Assisting Mmes. Goode and Rooney are Mesdames D. Earl Brackett, Arthur W. Burke, E. Fred Cullen, Stephen J. Hallahan, William C. Harber, Jr. and George H. Polier.

SEEKS AID IN CARING FOR SICK

The Newton District Nursing Association is sending out its annual appeal for sustaining memberships. It is compelled to ask for more help this year than ever before in its history. Due to general unemployment conditions, more and more people are unable to pay the full or part cost of the nursing visit. The calls for free nursing service are increasing daily.

The interest and support of the community is sought in order that this present emergency and the continual growth of the work may be met.

"TOUCHDOWN" AT THE PARAMOUNT

"Touchdown," a football drama with all the critical situations and thrills which make a good game so exciting, will be given the first four days of the week at the Paramount starting Sunday. The cast is a notable one and includes such favorites as Richard Arlen, Jack Oakie and Peggy Shannon. On the same program will be "Heartbreak" with Charles Farrell, who was last seen with Janet Gaynor in "Merely Mary Ann." The last three days of the week the outstanding feature will be Richard Dix in "Secret Service," and the second picture will be Lilyan Tashman in "The Road to Reno."

The first and only low-priced car with

Syncro-Mesh Shift and Free Wheeling

ONE of the biggest driving thrills in modern motoring is now available at one of the lowest prices in the automobile market. Syncro-Mesh is combined with Free Wheeling in the new Chevrolet Six!

This is the first time that these two outstanding inventions have been brought together in a low-priced automobile. Syncro-Mesh is the most advanced type of transmission ever developed. Free Wheeling is that new sensation which adds so much to the zest of driving. The two make a matchless combination! They bring about an entirely new kind of driving ease and car control, far beyond anything you have ever enjoyed. They give you quick, quiet shifting and complete mastery of the car under all driving conditions. They enable you to do things in driving that are impossible without both these features.

If you prefer to drive in "standard" gear, Syncro-Mesh enables you to shift back and forth with uncanny speed, silence and precision. This is particularly desirable when descending steep hills or traveling slippery streets. For it enables you to use the engine as a brake, instantly, without slowing down the car.

Then, suppose you want Free Wheeling. Simply press a button on the dash. Thereafter, and until you pull the button out again, you Free Wheel. You coast along with a delightful gliding sensation. And you shift with never-to-be-forgotten ease.

The Free Wheeling mechanism of the new Chevrolet Six is a highly simplified type. Instead of a complicated mechanism with many moving parts, it is a simple, sturdy unit, with only three moving parts.

Then, along with Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling, Chevrolet offers you 60-horsepower six-cylinder performance, higher speed, faster acceleration, greater smoothness, smarter Fisher bodies, matchless economy, and a first cost that is among the lowest in the market. Certainly it's the greatest American value for 1932.

The new Chevrolet Six combines the advantages of two inventions . . . Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling . . . to assure quick, quiet, easy gear-shifting and positive control of the car under every driving condition

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Waban Woman's Club

The second of the Junior Entertainments will be given by the Waban Woman's Club, at the Albert Angier School, on Saturday, December 12th, at 10:15 a. m., when "Gypsy Josephine," Josephine Perkins, who is known as Anne Bradford over the radio, will reveal the wonders of Fairyland through original stories and fantastic pictures in the mystic new Black Light.

"Intelligent Living" is the subject on which Rev. Russell Henry Stafford will speak at the meeting of the Club on December 14th, Dr. Stafford, who is the minister of the Old South Church in Boston, is very well known over the radio and on the lecture platform.

Music for the afternoon will be furnished by Mr. Carl Switzer, pianist, and the children of the Peabody Home will sell articles. Tea will be served following the meeting, with Mrs. James A. Patterson and Mrs. John M. Brier the hostesses for the afternoon.

Shakespeare Club

Surprises are in store for members of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands, in an afternoon entitled "Christmas Festivities," for which Mrs. William E. Moore, opens her home, 55 Hillside road, Newton Highlands, with Miss Virginia Drew as hostess and in charge of the program. As Miss Drew lives in Hingham, Mrs. Moore offers her home, although Miss Drew is hostess. Prize contests with Shakespearean motifs, and other delightful features are being planned for the enjoyment of members of this Club, on the 12th.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

An outstanding date for members of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club at the Club Workshop, is Sunday, December 13th. The annual Crèche Exhibition, which is free to all, will open at 2:30 p. m. and close at 10 p. m. The hostesses in the afternoon will be Mrs. Harry P. Forte, president; Mrs. Seward W. Jones, and Mrs. Walter B. Goddard; and tea will be served by Mrs. Joseph C. Allen, Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne and Mrs. Carl Kolb.

Carols and other Christmas music will be rendered by the Club Chorus in the evening.

The Crèche Exhibition will be in charge of the Art committee; the Christmas tree decorations in charge of the Garden Club, and the decorated tables will be in charge of Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The West Newton Women's Educational Club is planning a most interesting Christmas Party at Stone Institute on the afternoon of Friday, the 18th. Club members will motor over to the Institute, carrying curiosity-provoking baskets, and will stage for those they plan to entertain a program with speaker and music. Rev. John S. Franklin, minister of the Baptist Church of West Newton, will speak, and in the musical program Mrs. Fred L. Trask, a Club member, will sing. The Christmas celebration is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m.

Papers on "Southern Peru" and "Bolivia," by Mrs. William A. Richardson and Mrs. Alfred L. Day, respectively, will be read to the Travel Class of the Club at the meeting on Monday, December 14th.

The hostess for the afternoon will be Mrs. Willard C. Church, of 352 Waltham street, who will be assisted by Mrs. George D. Thomas.

Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet on Monday afternoon, the 14th, at the home of Mrs. Helen Ward, 119 Wood End road, with Mrs. Isaac Goddard conducting the program.

Monday Club

The Christmas Party at the Monday Club will be held on December 14th, at the home of Mrs. Arthur E. Mason of 56 Fisher avenue. Mrs. John S. Patton and Mrs. Edward H. Weeks have charge of this meeting.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

On December 14th, the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will hold its Annual Christmas Party in the Emerson School Kindergarten. At this time the donations for the Veterans' Stockings will be received.

Mrs. W. H. Woods, chairman of the State Federation Committee on Co-operation with War Veterans, will be the guest of the Club and will tell of her work among the boys, and what the Christmas stockings mean to them. Mrs. Donald Plinchbaugh is the chairman of the evening.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Sixty little children will enjoy a Marionette Show of "Jack and the Beanstalk," and hear Tom Maligone play his hurdy-gurdy, when they assemble for the Christmas Party to be given them by the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday, December 15th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Central Congregational Church.

The Marionettes used in the show were made and will be manipulated by William H. Fish, Jr., a son of one of the Club members. His clever operation of these, representing the characters in the story of "Jack and the Beanstalk," is sure to win the hearts of both children and "grown-ups."

There will be plenty of fun and frolic for everyone, and last year's invitation to children of Club members to attend the Marionette Show, will be repeated this year.

The Flower committee will decorate a Christmas Tree, which will be laden with gifts to be distributed to the little guests by Santa Claus himself. Mrs. Walter N. Keene and her committee are busy with arrangements for this amusing feature of the afternoon. Mrs. A. William Krause and her efficient Social committee are planning a supper for the special guests this year.

The toys to be given to the children have been collected from Club members and re-conditioned by the local firemen. They have made the old toys over so that they are bright and shining with new paint, and these, together with the dolls that the committee has dressed, will gladden the hearts of sixty small children.

The Club is very appreciative of the work done and of the splendid spirit of co-operation shown by the firemen in entering into this worthy community project.

The arrangements for this party have been in charge of Mrs. H. M. Waybright, chairman, and the Christmas Party committee.

The need for clothing is still very urgent and Mrs. Waybright will gladly call for such donations, if she is notified by the phone, N. N. 7851.

Grace Morrison Poole will give her first lecture in the Current Events series, on Thursday, December 17th, at 10:15 a. m., in the Central Congregational Church. These lectures are open to Club members upon presentation of membership tickets and to guests on payment of fifty cents.

Every Club member is urged to do her part in the great fight against tuberculosis by buying her share of Christmas seals. The work of distributing the seals for Newtonville will be efficiently managed by Mrs. Robert C. Kelley, one of the Club's vice-presidents.

Social Science Club

"Ten Notable American Women" is the study topic for the Social Science Club this winter. The first paper will be read by Mrs. Grosvenor Calkins, on Wednesday morning, December 16, in the parlors of the Channing Church. Her subject will be "Anne Hutchinson."

Newton Community Club

On December 17th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Underwood School auditorium, the Newton Community Club will give a Christmas party for the children. Stanley Marshman of Newton will present his miniature Showbox Theatre with four plays: "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Dance Macabre," "A Night in a Garden," and "Box and Cox."

Mr. Marshman will be assisted by Curtiss Beach, and Ted Timbe, both from Newton. Mrs. Wallace Wales will sing a group of children's songs. About fifty children, between five and six years old have been invited from Newton for this party.

Club members are invited to attend the meeting of the Garden Group, on January 7th, at the home of Mrs. Joe Gerrity, 69 Farlow road. A talk, with slides, will be given by Mr. Robert Parmenter, member of the Massachusetts State Conservation Department. For further information those interested should call Mrs. Fred Loveland, Newton North 0900.

The Parliamentary Law Class, under the instruction of Mrs. George Melon of Lawrence, will be held Friday mornings at the home of the president, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, 123 Park street. A nominal fee will be charged.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Mr. Donald Whit will speak before members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, the 17th, at 10 a. m., on "The Principles of Design as Applied to Home Floral Decoration." He will emphasize the three great principles of art: rhythm, balance and harmony, and these points will be illustrated by a series of floral compositions to be arranged by an assistant.

The Club's Choral Club, under the direction of Mrs. Apolline M. Blair, will sing Christmas Carols after the regular business meeting to be held Friday, December 18th, at 2:30 p. m. They will also sing two beautiful selections: "The Heavens are Telling," by Beethoven; and "Sanctus Benedictus," by Gounod. Miss Nan Lagerstedt, well-known monologist, will present an original and entertaining program of character sketches. This meeting is open to daughters who are home on vacation and also to members of the Juniors Woman's Club.

Mrs. Edward M. Cox, recording secretary of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the guest of honor. Mrs. William A. Haskell is in charge of the tea, and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Mrs. Murray P. Horwood will pour.

Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club

The Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club will have a Christmas Dance on Friday evening, December 18th, in the Clubhouse. Miss Phoebe Coombs, vice president, is in charge of arrangements, and the following committee will assist her: Miss Elizabeth Buttrick, Miss Kathleen Fuller, Miss Mary Jane Fuller, Miss Marjorie Gould, Miss Alta Maloney, Miss Ellen Paul, Miss Dorothy Perrin, Miss Helen Randlett, Miss Ruth Stephenson, Miss Katherine Swenarton, Miss Martha Wight, and Miss Virginia Woods.

Tickets may be secured from Miss Ellen Paul.

Mrs. John T. Capron and Mrs. LeRoy B. Gould will be the hostesses.

State Federation

FORESTRY PRIZE CONTEST. A splendid opportunity for Newton Club Juniors is offered in a contest, primarily conducted at this time as a tribute to George Washington, the "woodsman," in whose honor "plant a tree" is the slogan for this phase of recognition of a great man. There is no reason why in this city of so many Junior Clubs the prize should not be captured by one of them. Rules and some of the facts concerning the Contest, which closes May 1, 1932, and which is being offered by the American Forestry Association, through the Conservation Division of the State Federation, Mrs. Robert Parmenter, chairman, are as follows:

A prize is offered to the school, and also to the individual boy or girl who sends in the best notebook on Forestry. A prize will be given to the Club which is not only instrumental in getting the project undertaken in the schools in its community, but in aiding it in its progress to a successful finish. Here is the opportunity for a Junior Club. The Juniors, not having left the elementary schools so long ago should have influence in this direction, and also friends among the students of the sixth grades—possibly sisters or brothers therein—to whom the contest is open only. It was decided that children of sixth grade age were the ones whom it was wished should gain a better acquaintance with our forests.

The contents of the book may consist of material on trees, their preservation, lumbering, inhabitants of the forest, leaves, wild flowers, birds, enemies of the forest, uses of wood, poems, stories, maps, leaf prints, original drawings, etc. The three judging points will be: 1. Material collected; 2. Organization of material; and 3. Beauty of design and construction.

The Superintendent of Schools must approve of the project in a school; and the contest may be carried on by teachers or by persons in charge of nature study. They may make their own decision as to how the material may be collected for the contents of the book, and whether or not it will be a class project or an individual one. It is the hope of those who are fostering this contest and interest in forests, with attendant knowledge and appreciation of conservation of natural resources, that those in charge of school activities, and especially the Superintendents, will not only realize how limited are some children's ideas of forests, but how much they need to visualize things beyond the limits of city and town parks. To this end they will take interest in this method of educating children in these wonderful natural resources and beauty spots, and assist therein in this contest.

While this opportunity is especially called to the attention of Junior Clubs as something really worthwhile to which they can turn their attention, it is also an opportunity for the senior clubs, whose Conservation and Education chairmen and committees may investigate the contest in their community and foster it by supplying material for the children to use.

One method of arousing interest is suggested to any who consider taking up the project: to have a talk on forestry to stimulate the minds of the children into action. The State Extension Forester or men from the State Department of Conservation are available for this.

RADIO. Broadcasts for the State Federation scheduled for the next two Saturday mornings over WBZ, at 11:30 o'clock, are as follows:

On the 12th, Bainbridge Crist, guest speaker for Mrs. George F. Schrader, Music chairman, will discuss "Musical Pads of Today." The Boston Vocal Ensemble, composed of Blanche Haskell, Soprano; Marion Wise, Contralto; Edgar Isherwood, Tenor; G. Robert Langer, Baritone; and Edwin Bittcliffe, Accompanist will give selections from Cadman's "The Morning of the Year."

On the 19th, Mrs. Franklin S. Nichols, president of the Quincy Federation of Women's Clubs, will give in poetry "Christmas in Other Lands." Mrs. Arthur L. Davis, director of the Fifteenth District, will speak on the "Christmas Spirit in the Community," and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bishop, of Quincy, will sing.

Christmas Gifts of Sterling Silver

The present low price of sterling silver makes this an opportune time to start a new set, or to add to the service now in use.

A gift of silver to the lady of the house is a gift for the home, and is enjoyed by the entire family.

An especially fine present is a group of pieces to increase her set of six to eight, or her set of eight to a dozen. Such additions as Orange Spoons, Coffee Spoons, Salad Forks, Butter Spreaders and single serving pieces are also greatly appreciated.

A bride-to-be is another to whom silver is a most desirable gift.

Price lists of patterns carried in stock will gladly be sent upon request. We shall also be pleased to quote on other active patterns and order them for you at regular stock prices. On such special orders an early selection is advisable.

Newton Circle, Inc.

Mrs. Charles L. Harrison, of Hunnewell Hill, most generously opened her house for an extra meeting of the Newton Circle last week. Mrs. Julia T. Lodge presided, giving a few words of welcome to the new members especially.

After a spirited address by the Club's "own" Mrs. Celia Wellman, and a very informative and interesting one by Mr. Herbert C. Parsons, the Hospitality Committee served a most attractive tea. The flowers were particularly lovely and a large number of members enjoyed a friendly afternoon.

Newton Community Club

The Newton Community Club held a Bridge Party on Monday afternoon, November 30th, at the home of Mrs. Henry I. Harriman. It is impossible to express in words the appreciation which is due Mrs. Harriman in connection with the bridge.

On Thursday, December 3rd, the Garden Group of the Club had its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph N. Hall of 226 Park street. Mrs. Grace Mansfield spoke on "The Gardener's Plans for Christmas." Thirty people attended this meeting.

Already eight people have signed up for the Parliamentary Law Class.

The Literature committee is happy to announce that there are forty-one people, divided into two groups, enjoying the Book Club this year.

Community Service Club of West Newton

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Mr. Walter Pritchard Eaton who was the speaker at the meeting of the West Newton Community Service Club on Wednesday afternoon, December 2nd, in the Unitarian Parish House.

Mr. Eaton spoke on "Why Aren't Motion Pictures Better?" and his bright and witty manner kept the audience entertained as well as informed. Mr. Eaton claimed that the answer to this question is a long story, and has many sides to it. The foremost reason is economic. Motion pictures are so near at hand and "such a nice way to kill time." Each house has at least two, and often three, changes of program each week, which makes an endless variety of entertainment, such as it is.

A second and very important reason why motion pictures are not, and cannot be, better is the necessity for producing each year between six and seven hundred new pictures, to keep in operation the 17,000 cinema houses in this country. When, as Mr. Eaton stated, a dramatist often takes three years to write one play which will become artistically and financially successful, and when there are, at most, only about ten or a dozen such plays produced in one year, obviously it is physically impossible to write or produce six or seven hundred worthwhile vehicles for films.

The theatre, which has been the origin of so many, if not of most of the really worthwhile film plays, has been bled white by motion pictures, and Mr. Eaton stated that in killing the legitimate drama the best source from which the motion picture draws both its plots and its players will be eliminated. Mechanical productions, such as motion pictures and radios must necessarily be, cannot train a voice to reach an audience, or to provide the personal contacts, as dramatic plays can, and do, for which reason many of the best film players, now that speaking pictures have superseded the silent film, are those who have had their training and experience on the stage.

Mr. Eaton deplored the fact that the young people, even to the children, are growing up with the ordinary film standard as the basis of their ideas of entertainment, and cited an instance which came to his knowledge of a child of nine years of age who could converse fluently on the lives, habits, and even the clothes of each motion picture star. This Mr. Eaton called a tragic beginning for an outlook on worthwhile things in life.

In the last analysis, discrimination must be the deciding factor in making motion pictures better, and when the public shows a demand for the best, and only the best, then, and then only, can a real improvement in motion pictures be expected.

As an especially appropriate part of the program of the Club meeting preceding the Christmas season, Mr. Eaton's interesting and delightful talk was followed by a "Nativity Pageant," under the able direction of Mrs. W. S. Railsback, with music by the Club Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Marion Kingsbury. Mrs. Railsback's name as director always insures a program of enjoyment, and the pageant fulfilled the anticipation of the Club members. The Christmas music by the newly-organized club chorus furnished a delightful part of the program.

Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson and Mrs. E. W. Whorf presided at a charmingly-decorated tea table, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John H. Paine.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

An occasion of rare delight was the party for members and friends given by Mrs. John F. Capron, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, at the Clubhouse on Thursday afternoon, December 3rd. Mrs. M. H. Gulesian was in charge of the unusually attractive and beautifully-arranged program. Mrs. Larz Anderson read an account of her recent trip to Siam from her new book—soon to be published—"In Eastern Seas"; and Miss Pearl Bates Morton and Mr. Camille Girouard sang selections from Mrs. Gulesian's operetta "Dick Whittington and His Cat," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gulesian. Two charming dance numbers in costume were given by Miss Anita Cortez, a young Spanish girl.

Mrs. Capron, with Mrs. Gulesian and Mrs. Anderson, held an informal reception before the program, and the Executive Board and Club members acted as hostesses at the tea afterwards. Mrs. Capron had as guests of honor and as pourers the following presidents from neighboring Clubs: Mrs. Herbert Blair, of Newtonville; Mrs. Arthur Came, of Brookline; Mrs. H. P. Forte, of Newton Highlands; Mrs. J. Earle Parker, of Waban; Mrs. William S. Leach, of Newtonville; past presidents: Mrs. W. B. Leach, of Brookline; Mrs. W. O. B. Little, of West Roxbury, and charter member of the Newton Centre Woman's Club; and Mrs. Edwin S. Melcher. The outstanding feature of the whole event was the spirit of friendly hospitality which made the occasion a memorable one.

About one hundred and fifty people attended the dinner arranged by Miss Louise Walworth, chairman, and other members of the International Committee, held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Wednesday, December 2nd. Many came in after the dinner to hear the addresses of the evening given by Dr. Sidney B. Fay, Professor of German History at Harvard University, on "The Outlook for Germany," and by Herr von Tappelskrohn, German Consul-General in Boston. Professor Brightman, of Boston University presided, and, in introducing the speakers, spoke of his own recent observations on German life.

Professor Fay, who is one of the foremost students of the present situation in Germany, said that a great change has come over Germany, not only in university life, as indicated by Professor Brightman, but in every aspect. In fact, there is a new Germany today. In 1918, due to the disastrous outcome of the War, Germany faced a terrible crisis. The sudden realization of defeat brought about a re-orientation which upset the old order, but the more conservative group triumphed, and the threatened Red revolt was put down. A new era of hope was ushered in with the new social order, and the Weimar Constitution was adopted as the background of the new republic.

Professor Fay made the following interesting points for his hearers. In many ways, the German Constitution is much like our own, being a Federation of 18 states, or lands as they are called. In actual practice, however, their central government has much more power than ours. Furthermore, their President is elected for a term of seven years. President von Hindenburg, the present head of the German Republic, is held in very high esteem, but for the last eight months, on account of the serious economic situation, he has practically ruled the country as a Dictator. As his term of office expires in 1932, and he is an octogenarian, the future is filled with much uncertainty.

There are 23 political parties in Germany, but the Social-Democrats form the largest single group. They are in favor of conciliation with France and have also planned an extensive social welfare program. The Roman Catholic or National party is made up of many types, and includes peasants as well as professional groups. Brüning, the Chancellor, is its leader. These are the two main parties of government. Opposed to them are two others, the Communist party, and the National-Socialist, or the Nazis. The Communist party has direct relations with the Bolsheviks and has enjoyed a great increase in vote recently. The National-Socialist party, which is featured so much in American news today, has also had a great increase in strength lately. The famous Hitler is their leader. He is a magnetic speaker of dynamic personality, whose cause has been helped in no small measure by the present severe economic conditions. He advocates cancelling the reparations debts, ignoring the Versailles Treaty, and withdrawing from the League. Professor Fay believes however, that if he were elected to power, he would probably become less radical as he has been the case with many other radicals.

One of the chief reasons for the great Hitler movement has been the fact that Germany was practically forced to sign a blank check for reparations payments. After two years, Germany wasn't even able to pay the minimum interest on these reparations. France then occupied the Ruhr, and a terrible period ensued for Germany, due to inflation and to the fall of the mark. The Dawes plan cleared the atmosphere, and Germany was able to pay reparations for five years by borrowing for it. The social welfare program also took huge sums of money, and even payments under the Dawes plan couldn't be continued, so the Young plan was evolved, which did away with an indefinite sum to be paid over an indefinite period of years. But in June 1931, due to the withdrawal of loans by foreign powers, Germany was again in difficulty, and Mr. Hoover proposed the present moratorium.

In order to achieve a satisfactory solution, further reduction in reparations will be necessary, and it is Professor Fay's opinion that the United States should cancel the Inter-Allied debts so that the Allies in turn can cancel the conditional reparations. Under these conditions, Germany should be able to pay the unconditional reparations and the private debts she has contracted in recent years. It would be to the United States' advantage to do this, as it would release new buying power in Europe. In conclusion, Dr. Fay said that the situation in Germany is distinctly uneasy, and one cannot tell which way it is going to turn.

The truth of this statement was further borne out by Herr von Tappelskrohn, who said that the paramount question in Germany is whether the present economic order can hold together long enough to enable the political powers to restore the situation. The meeting closed with a discussion period, when many questions were asked from the floor, and interesting points were brought out by both speakers.

Waban Woman's Club

"Love-in-a-Mist," presented by the Dramatic Committee of the Waban Woman's Club on December 4th and 5th, was enthusiastically received by appreciative audiences. Myrdred Foley Trempl, who coached the play deserves much credit for the admirable performance of the three-act comedy.

A charming room in the home of Diana Wynne in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia was the scene of the play, with the suggestion of an old-fashioned garden in the background. The story concerns the love affairs of one Diana Wynne who becomes involved in many complicated situations because of her belief in little white lies. This part was played most charmingly by Miss Marjorie Manning, of Arlington, who at the last moment graciously took over this role from Mrs. Benjamin T. Stephenson who was unable to appear because of illness.

Mr. Deane Arnold, as Gregory Farnham, was a convincing lover, who finally won the hand of Diana, after many misunderstandings. Miss Nancy P. Kimball won many laughs by her witty remarks as Sydney Rose Wynne, Diana's cousin. Mr. Donald Charlton, as the Count Scipione Varella, who believed himself engaged to Diana and who caused many complications by appearing on the scene shortly after she became engaged to Gregory, gave a splendid portrayal of a difficult character. Mrs. Walter A. Hosley, as Anna Moore Wynne, maiden aunt of Diana and Sydney Rose interpreted the role to the satisfaction and pleasure of the audience. Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., and Mrs. John A. Hiller gave splendid character sketches of negro servants. Each member of the cast played his or her individual part well, showing the untiring effort each had put into it. Much credit for the success of the play is due Mrs. Robert T. Bushnell, chairman, and the members of her committee, which includes Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., Mrs. Albert H. Houghton, Mrs. Joseph Bartlett, Mrs. Eugene Bissell, Mrs. H. Stanley Bloomfield, Mrs. Charles J. Cawley, Mrs. Vernon Durbin, Mrs. Dana M. Dutch, Mrs. Reubin M. Ellis, Mrs. Hector M. Holmes, Mrs. Walter A. Hosley, Mrs. Llewellyn A. Marr, Mrs. Harry N. Matthews, Mrs. W. Deane Preston, Jr., Mrs. Warren K. Russell, Mrs. H. Allen Spiller, Mrs. Benjamin T. Stephenson, Mrs. Solomon Townsend, Mrs. F. R. Williams, and Mrs. Lee W. Woolston.

Auburndale Woman's Club

"A plea in defense of sanity in the drama" was George Bernard Shaw's motive in writing "The Devil's Disciple," a play in three acts, read before the Auburndale Woman's Club, last Tuesday afternoon, by Adele Hoes Lee. This play, the reader explained to her audience, was the only one in which Shaw deigned to lay his scenes in America, and this one was a story of Revolutionary days. Miss Lee, who is a member of the faculty of the Leland Powers School, of Boston, was presented to the Club by the chairman of the Day, Mrs. George E. Felton.

During the business hour which preceded the program, Mrs. Ernest L. Johnson reported that nearly three hundred dollars had already been received from the sale of Christmas Seals. Mrs. Charles Valentine, chairman of the Legislative committee of the Club, and a member of the Department of International Relations in the State Federation, recently reported that her committee had secured one thousand signatures to the Petition for Reduction of Armaments. Assisting Mrs. Valentine were Mrs. Arthur Desoe, Mrs. Nathaniel Grant, Miss Margaret Haskell, Mrs. H. U. Hutchinson, Mrs. Conrad Jensen, Mrs. Ella McIntyre, Mrs. Frank Quimby, Mrs. Susan Tuttle, Mrs. Eugene Ufford, and Mrs. Roger Valentine.

The Community Service committee of the Club, through its chairman, Mrs. Joseph McCarron, reported that five baskets were sent to needy families at Thanksgiving time, and five more were planned for Christmas delivery. The funds for these were raised at the recent Food Sale held by them. Working with Mrs. McCarron are Mrs. Edward Edmonds, Mrs. William Galvin, Mrs. Henry Goodman, Mrs. Ralph McKenzie, Mrs. Frank Rapp, Mrs. Silvanus Smith, and Mrs. A. P. Walker.

A Zontian Inter-City meeting convened at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday evening, December 7, under the auspices of the Newton Zonta Club. Groups were present from Boston, Cambridge, Lynn, Salem, Malden, Arlington, Somerville and Springfield, with a visiting member from Tennessee. After-dinner entertainment included two delightful solos by Miss Julia Tobin, accompanied by Miss Cataldo, and interpretative dances by Miss Mary Stanley—"Greek Cloak Dance" and "Freedom"—effectively presented with Miss Stanley's mother at the piano.

The address of the evening was by Miss Margaret McGill—a citizen of Newton who has spent some time in Russia studying the social and economic situation in its particular reference to women and children. Among much which was illuminating Miss McGill said that whereas it was once held that "women had no right to study, orate or agitate," today they are a part of every council, enjoying equal status with men. Their advancement is directed by women. Industrialism, farm collectivism and education of workers and peasants are the bases of re-construction in this vast country of tremendous resources coal, iron, timber, water-power—sixty thousand miles of railroads and ten thousand miles of airways. Russia covers approximately one-sixth of the earth's surface. Twenty thousand American engineers are at work in Russia.

The next meeting of the Newton Club will be held at Cedar Hill, Waltham, Wednesday evening, December 16. Miss Mabel Bragg, formerly assistant superintendent of the Newton schools, will read Christmas stories.

POLICE NEWS

Leslie McCormick, 33, of 446 Willard street, Quincy, was arrested at the South Station, Boston, last Friday by Patrolmen Turner and Kiley of the Newton police. He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident after causing injury to a person. On the night of November Motorcycle Officer Turner found Gertrude Carberry, 21, of 14 Brackett street, Brighton, lying unconscious on Commonwealth avenue near Lake street. The girl was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital and later to the Boston City Hospital with serious injuries. The girl told the police that she had met a man named "Leslie" in a Boston restaurant and he had offered to drive her to Brighton. When she noticed that he was continuing on towards the Newtons she jumped from the car. Two women who were following in another car obtained the registration number on the car from which the girl fell. McCormick, who is employed as a clerk at the South Station, denied that he was the driver of the car in which the girl was riding, but, according to the police, she identified him. He appeared in the Newton court last Saturday and his case was continued until December 12.

Early last Friday morning an automobile speeded through Newton Corner containing three men and a woman. The latter was screaming and as the car went through Nonantum square Patrolman William Whelan rushed onto the street to halt the car. The driver steered directly at Whelan and the policeman was forced to move rapidly to avoid being hit. Whelan drew his revolver and fired several shots in an effort to frighten the driver, but the latter only put on more speed and disappeared in the direction of Brighton.

Someone entered the shop of John Lawlor on Pearl court, Newton, and stole papers belonging to the Disabled Naval Veterans, Incorporated. They also took two cut glass dishes and two candlesticks. The break was discovered by Lawlor last Friday morning. The papers had been placed in the shop by Leo Flannagan.

Phillip Locke of Harvey street, Cambridge, was fined $20 in the Newton court last Friday when found guilty of stealing some clothing and a couple of ladders. He appealed. The articles were taken from a barn at 3 Vernon street, Newton. The complainants were Earle Field and his son William, of 547 Centre street, Newton, who owned the articles which were stored with other things in the barn. The barn is owned by Peter Turchon of Newton who testified that he had given no person permission to take anything from the barn. Locke claimed he had been given permission by the owner to take a pile of rags which were in the barn and also permission to take the ladders and use them. In the rags, Locke said he had found a suit and an overcoat which he had cleaned and repaired.

In the Newton court last Friday Frederick Neal of Lanark road, Brighton, was fined $10 for speeding.

Saturday morning a burglary was discovered at the plumbing shop at A. F. Fiske & Co., 987 Watertown street, West Newton. It was the fourth burglary at this shop during the past 2 years. The burglars entered through a rear window, went to the cash drawer and stole $16.

Fred Bean, 63, of 255 Homer street, Newton Centre, was held up by two daring bandits last Friday night on Homer street, near Cedar street, Newton Centre. The two bold bandits, fortified by revolvers, threatened the elderly man and removed his wallet from an inside pocket. The wallet contained only $1. The gun men were about 25 years old.

TELLS HOW TO MAKE USE OF LEISURE TIME

"Leisure, For What?" was the subject of the address by Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, Chairman of the Department of Education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at the afternoon session of the monthly Church Day of the Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Church, on Thursday of last week. The home has long since ceased to be the center of industry in this machine age, said she, leaving the housewife with much leisure time which should be planned the same as working hours, and as Dean Inge has said, our souls are dyed the color of our leisure thoughts. There are numerous fields offering avocations to women. Both in music and in the drama one should sponsor the best. The singing of foreign operas in English should be encouraged in this country. The translating of an opera into the language of the country in which it is rendered is peculiar only to America.

Mrs. Pigeon, who is the only woman on the Boston School Committee, speaks with authority when she says that a woman is needed on every school committee. All children are born free and equal, theoretically, but they differ morally, mentally and physically. No one could have a keener understanding of their requirements than the mother. A woman with leisure time can fix the responsibility for all activities in our schools and make sure that they are doing their best for the children.

The field of legislation should attract the woman of leisure. There are numerous instances where women have entered this work by accepting offices formerly held by their deceased husbands. Such positions won through campaigning mean great strain and toward the end a form of nausea from constantly talking about one's self. There will be many unkind thrusts as well. A woman entering public service should possess the patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon.

A Hindu lecturer recently said that the American people have too heavy calendars. They need to be taught mental poise. It is true that in this country there is more leisure time than elsewhere and, lacking the courage of our convictions, we choose our recreation according to the fashion, the same as we choose our clothes with little enough thought of real culture, service or power. Edna St. Vincent Millay in one of her poems likened this lack of poise to burning the candle at both ends, which gives a lovely light but doesn't last.

The command "Judge not that ye be not judged" from the Scripture reading called forth an incident told the speaker by the headmaster of a well known boys' school. The mother of two brothers in the school was so much occupied with activities outside the home that she neglected her sons altogether, never wrote them or sent gifts as other mothers did. This neglect embarrassed the boys to such an extent that they adopted the plan of going into the village and mailing gifts to themselves.

The story was told to show that we must not be too hasty in our judgment of the acts of others.

Mrs. Frank E. Morris, President of the Association, was in charge of the meeting and devotions were conducted by Mrs. J. C. Atkinson.

Mrs. C. E. Thyng chairman of the Social Service Committee, provided sewing in the morning for the Newton Welfare Bureau and for the Hattie B. Cooper Community Centre in Boston. Luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. by Mrs. Edwin P. McGill and her committee.

BENEFIT SHOW, PARAMOUNT

All is in readiness for a big time Saturday morning at 10:30 at The Paramount Theatre, where a special show will be given for the poor of Newton. Admission to this performance will be only by donations of food, clothing, toys, etc. Already many articles of clothing and shoes and toys have been sent to the theatre, as many who cannot attend the show Saturday morning want to help the cause and are sending in their donations in advance. If the loyal people of Newton who supported the Midnight Show in such a fine manner continue their giving spirit on Saturday, there will be a truck load of supplies to go to the Newton Relief Committee.

MELODRAMA AT NEWTON CENTRE

"Gold in the Hills" that gripping melodrama by Frank Davis, with a real heroine and a real villain, an injured father, a snappy soubrette sister, an innocent child; all the thrills of that kind of play that made our grandparents laugh and cry fifty years ago will be produced at the Newton Centre Women's Club on Wednesday evening, December 16. Mrs. Laura Kelly of Lexington and Miss Martha White of Newton Centre will supply the incidental shivery music. Between the acts there will be what used to be fondly known as the "olio" in which old scenes, old dances and old recitations will enjoy the lime light again. Miss Rosalind Harris of Auburndale is directing the play and Mr. Robert Foote is Business Manager.

The attics of the Newtons have been searched for costumes, some of which have not seen the light for forty years, fountains, cotton crepes, gingham, have been taken from the old trunks in which they have so long rested to make "Gold in the Hills" seem more realistic. The proceeds of the play and incidentally the sale of carnations at the play will all be given to Mayor Weeks for the benefit of the unemployment fund for the out-of-work in the Newtons. A substantial sum is sure to be realized and incidentally you can laugh and cry and enjoy what your grandmothers laughed and cried over as this play sweeps onward to its happy end.

Actually starts car frozen in ice box in

1/2 second!

THE PLACE . . . Refrigeration room of The Seaboard Terminal Company

STARTING TIME: 1/2 Second

A room that chilled you through fur coat and galoshes.

An ice-covered car, filled with gasoline that was actually 29° below freezing.

A group of witnesses—a South Pole flyer, engineers, refrigeration experts.

Would the motor start? And how fast?

Down . . . went the starter. Bang . . . went the engine. Click . . . went the stop watches.

The frozen motor had started in a shade less than 1/2 of a second! Four-tenths, to be exact.

We believe that no other gas has ever met such a test. And that TYDOL hung up a record.

To substantiate this, TYDOL actually proved its case against well-known competitive gasolines.

We believe that this New TYDOL makes gear-grinding, battery-draining starting a thing of the past—regardless of snow and ice.

Always super-power, anti-knock, high-test. Now—split-second starting at no extra cost. Tide Water Oil Sales Corporation, 60 Cambridge St., Allston, Mass. Telephone Stadium 2330.

IN A GIANT ICE BOX . . . This revolutionary starting test was held at 29° below freezing in the Seaboard Terminal Company—the finest and largest refrigerating plant in the world. The car was left at temperatures close to zero for 12 hours before the test, and every step of its amazing performance was checked by witnesses.

WINTER VEEDOL

(100% PENNSYLVANIA)

This can of VEEDOL Motor Oil was frozen solidly in this cake of ice, and kept there for 12 hours at 29° below freezing. Even under this extreme cold test, VEEDOL was ready to gush instantly to every bearing and to every moving part of the icy motor.

Don't let a slow-flowing motor oil ruin a fast-starting gasoline. Always use cold-proof VEEDOL and instant starting TYDOL together and you'll have the perfect combination for winter motor protection.

Business Men Conclude Scout Course With Overnight Trip

Eighty Men Attended Camp Affair Where Each Patrol Shared In Entertainment

As the sun was setting over Lake Quinapoxet in West Rindge, N. H., last Saturday afternoon, a cavalcade of automobiles from Newton drove through the wooded road into Camp Quinapoxet, where the final, overnight session of the Norumbega Council Boy Scout training course was held. By four o'clock eighty men of the course were there, with packs and equipment, ready for climax of the successful training course. By Patrols they were assigned to cabins and immediately made ready for the night.

The big mess hall of the Camp, brightly lighted and with a roaring fire in the huge fireplace was the scene of merriment and good cheer, when the men assembled there for final instructions and for detail assignments. One Patrol was assigned to help the kitchen force, headed by John M. Bierer, Treasurer of the Council and Scoutmaster of the Training Course, as cook. His helpers were Maynard Hutchinson, President of the Council, who excels at peeling onions, Scoutmaster W. P. Harris, who shines at cooking as well as telling tall stories of his woods experiences, and Scouter Jim Walton.

Another Patrol had built a big outdoor fire-place, hunter's style, and had a huge fire shooting its flames high, preparatory to a barbecue supper. There, the steaks were grilled for hot steak sandwiches; when the cooks were ready, the men lined up and received rations of tasty, melting steak sandwiches, coffee, apple pie and cheese. They stood around, in the flickering light of the fire, with stars brilliantly picked out in the heavens and the thin crescent of a new moon as the only illumination.

After cleaning up and doing the final camp chores, all gathered again in the big mess hall, with Senior Patrol Leader O. A. Kitterman, leader of the course and affectionately known to the "Troop" as "Kit." There were a few serious words about Scouting and Course—just a touch to start the group thinking, as has been the policy throughout the entire period—and then Patrols put on their stunts.

The Ram Patrol of the Abundant group started the evening by exhibiting their paces as "mechanical" doll soldiers. All were dressed for the part, in striking, home-made uniforms, with wooden poles and they went through their manoeuvres in stiff-legged doll fashion to the tune "March of the Wooden Soldiers," changing as the "captain" blew his whistle. By the way, it was one of this same Patrol who appeared "dressed for dinner," in full dress coat and vest, with khaki shorts for leg-wear. He was greeted with howls of derision (as he fully expected to be).

The Crows of Highlands and Newton staged an indoor circus with all of the stunts, even to the strong man and his "acrobatic" partner.

The Owls of Newton Centre staged a minstrel show, complete even to black face, ending up with an original song.

The Nipmuck Patrol of the Centre, named for the Indian tribe which roamed our Nobscoot Reservation, staged an intercollegiate track meet, from the bleacherites' angle, going through all the pantomime.

The Wabanaki, of Waban, burlesqued certain phases of the training course and members of the Troop staff, followed by an interpretation of the Scoutmaster telling a Munchausen-like story of how he killed a panther, or escaped from one unarmed and unharmed.

The Eagles put on the "Murder in the Light House" much to the amusement of the Troop. The Nobscoot closed with the "Indian Horse Thief."

Following, Kit introduced Mr. H. V. Kudlich, Scout Executive of the Cambridge Council, whose camp had been loaned to us, as having the proper and sufficient facilities for the overnight hike. He spoke of crafts at camp, including the use of saplings, birch roots and horn for making of gadgets and gifts. This was followed by motion pictures of the 1931 season at Camp Quinapoxet.

The balance of the evening was spent in informal group discussions around the fire and in a cabin.

Shortly after midnight, all lights were out and soon snoring resounding over the country-side and shivering through the thick hemlocks indicated a night being well-spent.

About six o'clock, the cook and his staff turned out and soon aromatic odors began to emanate from the kitchen. By six-thirty more were up and at seven all were out in full force. Some of the courageous heroes did more than broke the ice on the lake, which was four inches thick to wash and clean up in; they brought out shaving kits and used the icy water for shaving — among this group was Mayor Weeks. At eight o'clock came the call to breakfast and the men sat down to oranges, oatmeal with cream, country sausage with scrambled eggs, bran muffins, marmalade, doughnuts and coffee, a filling breakfast for a strenuous day. Breakfast was followed with a short service, led by Patrol Leader of the Owls. Then the men cleaned up cabins and packed their kits. Upon re-assembly, there was discussion and question period, followed by an "obstacle race" involving getting through unharmed an electric fence highly charged, after each Patrol had succeeded in burning a string which impeded the way. Afterwards, with the loss of only one man who was electrocuted by falling on the fence, they ran and slipped across the ice to the next obstacle which was "chasm, three thousand feet deep." This they had to cross by any means possible. Here one man, keen on knowing the exact width, proceeded to pace it and was immediately declared killed!

At ten o'clock, each Patrol reported on a Scout subject which had been assigned to it, as a commission report.

During this time, the cook had been barbecuing on the big open fire out of doors four suckling pigs. As the men were seated for dinner, these pigs, wreathed with garlands of pine and hemlock, were borne steaming to the tables. Fixins were browned potatoes, parsnips, cranberry sauce, pickles and a luscious dessert of rice,

Annual Concert Of Highland Glee Club

Miss Ruth Posselt, Noted Young Violinist, Is Guest Artist

The Highland Glee Club of Newton, Inc., opened its twenty-fifth consecutive season with a concert in the Newton High School Auditorium Tuesday night, presenting as soloist Miss Ruth Posselt, violinist.

In these times when it is so easy to turn the dial and hear exotic male chorus singing over the radio, there is, nevertheless, a certain satisfaction in visualizing a body of stalwart men, seventy strong, render a concert of the excellence which characterizes this Newton organization.

Judging from the number of men on the stage, the club is larger than it has ever been before.

The body of the house was well filled with an enthusiastic gathering, who, by their spontaneity, not only encouraged the chorus and the soloist, but gave expression to real enjoyment on their part.

The program, as usual, was well chosen, opening with Bullard's famous "Winter Song." This arrangement, though familiar to most audiences because of its frequent use, is never hackneyed when done with the enthusiasm and verve which characterized it. "The Sleigh," another selection, was enjoyed and encored. The arrangement is a most effective one, and because of its demand for an exceedingly brisk tempo and crisp diction, it is a bit dangerous for a club of this size to undertake without full confidence, as even the slightest slip would greatly mar its effect.

"Invictus," by Protheroe, is new, and not only was it a pretentious undertaking, but rendered by the club in a most inspiring manner. This is truly a "he-man's" composition, and it is hoped that we shall have an opportunity of hearing it again in some future concert.

Miss Ruth Posselt impressed the audience not only with her amazing skill as a technician, but added to her following another Greater Boston audience which has followed with great interest the meteoric success she has justly merited as an artist of national repute. Her charm and grace added greatly to the excellence of her playing.

This young artist displays an understanding of years of experience. She has a security of execution and a rhythmic smoothness of bow which makes the most difficult compositions simplicity personified, and most interesting to listen to.

A Fibich-Kubelik arrangement called "Poem" was well chosen in that it showed a warmth of tone too frequently sacrificed by those who master technique at its expense.

Miss Posselt was splendidly accompanied by Miss Gladys Posselt.

The custom of completing the program with Christmas carols is most appropriate, and casual remarks by the audience after the concert should alleviate any doubt as to the enjoyment which the audience got in singing "Adestes Fideles" with the club.

At the invitation of Mr. Maclean, the audience joined the club in the last verse, after which there was an impressive and reverent silence, followed by a spontaneous applause.

Mr. D. Ralph Maclean conducted with his usual charm and ease, and was accorded a warm welcome by the club and the audience.

Karl Switzer, the club accompanist, as usual added greatly to the enjoyment of the program by his excellent and understanding work.

Ernest Schleicher, the club's baritone soloist, was again heard in incidental solos, which he always does so excellently.

The next concert of the club will be the second Tuesday in March—soloist to be announced later.

MARIONETTE SHOW

A Marionette Show in the interest of the Girl Scout Campaign Fund will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on December 30th at 10 a. m. The plays include "In a Castle Garden," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Dance of the Skeletons," and "Box and Cox." Mickey Mouse and other subjects will take place between the plays.

A.J. Ford Is Elected Pres. Of Businessmen

The Newton Business Associates held their monthly meeting at Perry's, 285 Washington street, Newton, on Monday evening. Following an excellent dinner, the annual business meeting and election of officers were conducted. The newly elected officers are — Andrew J. Ford of Ford Market, president; John Dewey of Dewey Market, and J. M. Snider of the Paramount Theater, vice president; George L. White of the Newton Trust Company, treasurer.

President Laurence Frederick was in charge of the meeting. The secretary's report was read by Watson Baker and the treasurer's report by Robert Sproule, in the absence of Treasurer George White.

It was voted to donate $25 to the Newton Welfare Bureau, in addition to donations already made by individual members of the associates. President Frederick reported that the organization had been requested to join in the movement to ask the City Government to convert the Chaffin house on Vernon street, Newton, into a children's library. This building and its accompanying grounds was purchased for $100,000 and is now owned by the City of Newton. The building is a fine example of modern architecture and is well equipped for the purpose.

It was voted to have a large Christmas tree at Newton Corner provided a proper location can be obtained for it. City officials had suggested that the tree be placed on Washington st. in front of the Stevens Building and near the sidewalk. Members were of the opinion that such a location would not be effective and would cause a traffic hazard.

President-elect Ford urged the members to continue their efforts to have the city provide a proper parking area at Newton Corner, and to emphasize the desirability of Newton Corner as a shopping centre.

Saco-Lowell Shops To Move In Spring '32

The Directors of Saco-Lowell Shops have voted to consolidate the manufacturing operations now carried on in Newton Upper Falls, Mass., into Biddeford and Saco, Maine.

The company has acquired several large buildings of the York Plant in Saco which are adjacent to its present plant in Biddeford and separated from it only by a channel of the Saco River which can be bridged easily at this point. These buildings which are in excellent condition and suitable for the purpose contain about the same floor area as the buildings in Newton Upper Falls, exclusive of the foundry. For a moderate expenditure the big and well-equipped foundry in Biddeford can be enlarged sufficiently to provide ample capacity for the consolidated shops' requirements of castings.

The productive capacity of the company will not be lessened by the move. On the contrary, its ability to serve the industry will be strengthened.

The Biddeford plant is much larger than the plant in Newton Upper Falls. The consolidation of the smaller plant with the larger one and the concentration of equipment and personnel into one location, will greatly increase the efficiency and economy of manufacturing and result in large and permanent operating savings.

The consolidation has been carefully planned and will be carried through rapidly and in a methodical and orderly manner. There will be no interference with the present small volume of current business. It is expected that the consolidation will be virtually completed sometime in April of next year.

Local Man Is Named Head Of Building Dept.

Mayor Appoints Mr. H. A. Hageman As Commissioner

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen held on Wednesday night a communication was received from Mayor Weeks announcing the appointment of Harry A. Hageman of 137 Allerton road, Newton Highlands, as Public Building Commissioner to succeed Cecil Chadwick who resigned on October 1st.

The following information regarding Mr. Hageman was issued from the office of the Mayor:

"Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton yesterday appointed Harry A. Hageman, well-known civil engineer, to the office of Public Building Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation on September 24th of Cecil C. Chadwick. The appointment was submitted to the Newton Board of Aldermen at a special meeting last evening, and in accordance with city charter requirements, confirmation was held over for two weeks.

"Mr. Hageman, who has been employed for 18 years as an engineer by the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, has had an unusually broad and varied experience in building construction and civil engineering work. During the World War he was released by Stone & Webster to take charge of all plant construction, office buildings, shops, docks, etc., for the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. The Squantum plant, at Fore River, was one of the big projects carried on under his direction.

"He was graduated from Cornell University and is a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers and of the American Society of Civil Engineers. For 14 years he has been a resident of Newton, a citizen and property owner, at present living at 137 Allerton road, Newton Highlands. He is married and has one son, a student in the John W. Weeks Junior High School."

Mr. Hageman is 54 years of age.

Many City Employees To Work Half Time

Last Friday an order was issued by Mayor Weeks to have 200 employees of the Newton Street Department put on half time until further notice. The laborers affected work on the highway, sewer and forestry divisions. Last year about half this number were placed on half time and the preceding year 110 men were so affected. Because of seasonal conditions it would have been necessary to have laid off 100 laborers for the winter and it was deemed better by the mayor to give 200 men part time employment rather than to have 100 remain idle all winter. This is the earliest date for several years that the half time schedule has been put into effect.

There is considerable dissatisfaction among many of the laborers placed on reduced time because of the fact that some of the men affected have been in the employ of the Street Department for periods totalling 10 and 12 years, while other employees of the Department who are kept at full time have been on but a couple of years. The men so favored have been given special ratings such as teamsters, chauffeurs and the like and it is claimed that some of them are working as laborers.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TO PLAY WALTHAM ON ARMISTICE DAY

Next fall Newton and Waltham high schools will play their annual football game on Armistice Day instead of on the second Saturday in November as is the usual custom. The fact that November 11th, 1932, falls on Friday permits of the change of date and it is anticipated that there will be wider interest in the game on the holiday than would be the case on Saturday with several college games being staged in which supporters of both Newton and Waltham are interested.

Melrose Gets Newton Date

While no official announcement has been made regarding the scheduling of a game with Melrose in 1932, Dr. Martin, Newton faculty manager, verifies the report. The entire Newton schedule will not be approved until the athletic committee meets next spring when there is no doubt but what the Melrose date will be sanctioned. The contest, which brings together a leading Suburban league team and one of the best of the Mystic Valley League elevens has been arranged on a one-year basis and will be played at Newton on October 29th. This is the date which the past season was filled by Woburn High.

Having been undefeated in football for the past two seasons Melrose should provide Newton stern opposition. It will also give those fans who like to compare the respective abilities of Suburban and Mystic Valley league teams an opportunity for a real line as to which league plays the stronger game.

Thus Newton will have six home games next season, Arlington, Quincy, Somerville, Melrose, Rindge and Brookline and will be away from home for but three games, at Cambridge Latin, at Everett, and at Waltham.

KEVORKIAN WINS WATTERS AWARD

Alexander Kevorkian, Newton High School junior, was awarded the Dr. Henry Watters award at a special assembly at the high school on Wednesday of this week. Kevorkian, one of the three juniors on the 1931 football squad, was one of the outstanding players in the Newton line. He played as a reserve tackle in the early games but towards the end of the season had won a regular berth. Kevorkian is a younger brother of Ed Kevorkian, former Newton High athlete and tackle on the Brown "Iron man" team of 1927.

The award was made on the basis of improvement in play during the season, sustained value to the team, and was restricted to one who was playing his first season on the varsity. Five youths were nominated for the honor and the final selection made by the votes of Coaches Sanborn and Conside, Principal Irving O. Palmer, Director of Physical Education Ewing Wilson and Faculty Manager Dr. Oscar Martin. The award, which was offered by Dr. Henry Watters, was a heavy black sweater.

At the assembly ninety-nine letters were awarded to the members of the various football squads, cross-country runners and winners of the fall tennis tournament players which were announced a few weeks ago.

To Banquet Players

Next Tuesday evening the varsity football squad of the past season will be tendered a banquet by the H-Y club at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Following the dinner William J. Bingham, Harvard Athletic Director, will speak and members of the Harvard-Yale game will be shown.

Among the invited guests are Irving O. Palmer, Paul E. Ellickers, U. G. Wheeler, Ralph N. Sanborn, L. P. Jones, Andrew Steinhope, Chas. Conside, C. W. Peterson, Dr. Oscar Martin, Donald Enoch, Frank Simmons of the high school faculty, Mr. Harry Bascom, Carl Pescosolido, Jerry Nelson, Walter Kiley and Warren Brimblecom.

Mr. Palmer and Mr. Wilson, and possibly Mayor Weeks if he is present, will extend greetings and Mr. Sanborn and Captain Bill Duane will also speak. John Bruen is toastmaster and chairman of the banquet committee which also includes Warren Bray, Robert Buell, Charles Butler, Fred Perkins, Thomas Lyons, and Edward Weldig.

OLD HUNNEWELL RECORD IS TIED

A sixteen-year-old New England bowling record made by the Hunnewell Club team of 1915 was tied on Wednesday night in a Newton league match at the Commercial Club in Brockton. The Commercial Club team bowling against the 1931 Hunnewell Club team turned the trick. Incidentally but one member of this year's Hunnewell team Harry Dexter bowled in the match with the B. A. A. in 1915 when the high total pinfall of 3089 was reached.

In 1915 the Hunnewell Club team was composed of Arthur Wellington, Alfred Paul, George Harris, Harry Leonard and Harry Dexter. In the match with the B. A. A. Wellington led his teammates with a 668 and Dexter totalled 634 for the three strings. The other three were all under the six hundred mark but the team total for the three strings was 1089 to set a new N. E. team total. At Brockton on Wednesday night Commercial started off with all five members of its teams over two hundred for a new single string record of 1069. In the second string four of the bowlers were over two hundred to make a string total of 1041. During the third string strikes were not as frequent but on the final bow Briggs, Commercial anchor, swept the alleys for a strike and brought the total to 1089. Another unique feat in the match was the fact that every member of the Commercial team, Tilton, Lawson, MacDonald, Appleton and Briggs, totalled over 600 for the three strings. In setting the records Commercial took all three points from the present Hunnewell Club team composed of E. O. Loring, Alfred Hansen, William Blandy, Clarence Colby and Harry Dexter.

In other matches the Middlesex Sportsman's Association of Arlington is leading the league, took three points from the University Club on the latter's alleys, Waban took three points from the Newton Club on the Newton Club alleys at Newtonville and Mauds of Wellesley took three from Weston at Wellesley.

SPORT NOTES

Tapped For "Skull"

Two local youths were among seven Boston University juniors tapped for membership in Skull, the highest honor a student can receive. Both Dan Harrington of Newtonville and Arthur Chamberlain of Auburndale, varsity athletes, were the local youths tapped. Harrington is a star guard in football, defence player on the hockey team, and a member of Lock, the sophomore honorary society. Chamberlain is a subcentre in football, captain of the varsity track team, secretary of the student athletic association, and also a member of Lock.

On Boston Team

Newton has one representative on the Boston Hockey team which will represent the Hub in the Olympic elimination games at New York this winter. John Gaisford of Newton, former Country Day and Harvard University star is the sole local youth.

Yale Wins Two

Yale opened its hockey season last Saturday night defeating the Melrose Hockey Club, 10 to 0 at New Haven. On Wednesday it scored its second victory by topping the Boston Hockey Club 5 to 2. Allie Fletcher and Joe Gilligan, former Newton high star athletes, are spares on the Yale sextet. Fletcher is a forward and Gilligan on the defence.

On Tennis Lists

Malcolm T. Hill of Waban and his doubles partner in tennis the past season, A. G. Ingraham, are placed first in the New England rankings in men's doubles announced last Saturday. Hill and Lawrence B. Rice of Newton Centre are not ranked in the men's singles because of insufficient playing data. In the women's singles Miss Virginia Rice, former Newton Centre girl, is ranked third and in the women's doubles with her partner Mianne Palfrey is also ranked third.

Crosby Scores For Crimson

Harvard opened its hockey season on Monday night with a 2 to 1 victory over the University Club Olympic team candidates. It was a last minute victory for the Crimson. No score was made until the last six minutes of the game with the University Club taking the lead. About four minutes later Wilson Crosby of West Newton poked a rolling disk into the strings from a hectic battle in front of the net, tying the score. A minute later Saltonstall took a pass from Baldwin and sent it home to win the game. Crosby started at left wing on the first Harvard line, having been switched from his last year's defence position by Coach Stubbs.

On Tech Freshman Five

Two former Newton high school basketball players are playing on the M. I. T. freshman five this winter. Bernard Donette is playing right forward and Dick Bailey, Newton 1931 captain, is a substitute.

Aid In Freshman Victory

The Northeastern freshman and sophomore track meet was held on Tuesday with the yearlings snatching a victory in the relay race to win the meet, 44 to 42. Two Newton youths had a prominent part in aiding their team to win. George Lamb, Newton high distance runner a year ago, romped home an easy victor in the mile-run with a 15-yard lead over his nearest teammate, Stepat, who took second over the leading sophomore entry. Bill Quigley, Newton relay performer a year ago, led off in the relay race which went to the freshman through the efforts of the anchor man who overtook and nosed out the sophomore anchor.

WILL DEFEND THREE INDOOR TRACK TITLES

Candidates for the 1932 indoor track team at Newton High School are practicing daily in preparation for the coming indoor season which opens on Friday, January 8th, with a dual meet with Medford at the Boston Y. M. C. A. track. The usual dual meets with Watertown and Brookline will also be held before the team swings into the interscholastic meets that wind up the indoor season. The four big indoor affairs are the Northeastern University, B. A. A. Andover Academy and State interscholastic meets which will see Newton defending its title three times. Last year the greatest track team in Newton history won the honors in the first three and lost by a narrow margin to Boston English in the State meet. Incidentally the Newton outdoor track team of last spring was the best in orange and black history. Titles were captured in three big outdoor affairs, the Worcester Polytech, State meet at the Harvard Stadium and the State Relay carnival at Fitchburg. Although losing a dual meet to Brookline the Newton team revenged itself on Boston English by upsetting the latter for the first time in its dual meet history at the Boston University track at Riverside.

There has been quite a turnover on the Newton track team since last winter with Milton Green, Walter Holmes, Doug Chalmers, Dick Jarrell, George Lamb, Jim Colligan, Malcolm Whitney, Dan Erwin and Al Mouser among the missing. Green is at Exeter Academy, Chalmers and Jarrell are at M. I. T., Lamb is at Northeastern, Colligan and Whitney are at Tilton School, Holmes will enter Northeastern in January and Erwin and Mouser are still in school but ineligible under the three year rule.

But Coach Don Enoch is optimistic over prospects for the coming season with a nucleus of several veterans awaiting the call. While no one expects a season similar to that of last year the orange and black runners will make trouble for any contender who attempts to usurp its titles. Boston English, Lawrence, Brookline and Brockton will be snapping at Newton's heels for the chance to climb up to the championship seat.

Leading Newton's veterans this season are Captain Jimmy Cahill, Douglas Sloane and Stanley Johnson with Elliott Bradley, and Tom Molloy other lads who scored some points last year. Cahill will make all the 300-yard runners this season sit up and take notice while Doug Sloane shows prospects of coming close to equalling Walter Holmes' fast stepping of last year. Johnson is showing excellent form over the hurdles and if he can increase his speed he will make "Patsy" Donovan, the Lawrence flyer, look to his laurels. Molloy is one of the former prospects for the shotput but is already receiving strenuous competition from two new candidates, Tom Kinrade, and William Howe. Mike Gulian, nephew of "Mike" Gulian of Brown football fame, is expected to toss the shot at times when he is not needed with the basketball squad, where he is a regular guard.

Willie Mullen has boosted Newton's chance somewhat in the 600 having returned to the track after trying out hockey last season. In the 1000-yard run Coach Enoch will depend upon the leading cross-country runners of the past season, John Connolly, a sophomore, Tom Fitzgerald and Roger Maynard.

The high and broad jumps are presenting the greatest difficulty but the Newton mentor will have a 5 ft. 6 in. high jumper and a 9 ft. 4 in. broad jumper when the time of need comes around. Over one hundred boys are reporting for the indoor sport but as soon as the wheat is sifted from the chaff the squad will be reduced. A freshman-sophomore team is being inaugurated and home competition has been arranged with Brookline High. It is possible that a meet will be staged with Medford freshman and sophomores and material uncovered for varsity teams of ensuing years.

SPORT NOTES

Gallagher On First Line

Herbert Gallagher of Newton is left wing on Northeastern University's first forward line of the hockey team.

Get Fall Awards

Athletes at Harvard received awards for participation in fall sports early this week. Francis Gleason '34, was the only Newton youth to receive a major "H" in football. Joe Fox of Newtonville received a major "H" in cross-country being a member of the team which won the intercollegiate title. A minor "H" in football went to Carl Pescosolido as he was a member of the varsity squad but did not play against Yale, and major freshman numerals went to Donald Gleason, younger brother of Francis, who played on the yearling team against Yale.

BOY SCOUT TRAINING COURSE ENDS

pineapple and marshmallows. Following dinner, each man was asked to stand and tell what the Course had meant to him. It was inspiring and truly uplifting to listen to the men tell in just a few words how much the training course, its leader, Kit, and the associations had meant to him. All were emphatic that it was the dawn of a new day for Scouting in Newton which would mean untold values to the boys of our city.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks climaxed this session with a statement on what Scouting meant to the city, nation and world and the part it could and would play in the successful future to come. He was introduced by President Maynard Hutchinson, of Norumbega Council, Scout Commissioner Marcy, Chairman of the Training Course Troop Committee, then presented the certificates to the men, as they were handed to him by Kit.

As a token of their appreciation and personal esteem to the training course, through Scoutmaster Bierer, presented Kit with an Appalachian sleeping bag and Mrs. Kitterman with dishes. A sleeping bag was also presented to Dick Nisbett, of Mr. Kitterman's staff, who rendered invaluable services to the training course.

The following men received certificates for completing the training course:

Troop Committee: G. D. Marcy, Chairman; Messrs. Harwood, Wentworth.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

The First Congregational Church of Newton Centre and the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville are arranging for an unusually interesting Christmas celebration to be held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20th. "The Christmas Story in Pantomime" will be given in the Newton Centre Church at four o'clock and will be repeated in Central Church at 5:30. Mr. C. Hassler Capron is coach and he has planned very beautiful lighting effects.

Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, who has done such interesting work in dramatics, designs the costumes. The musical interpretation of the pantomime includes selections from "The Holy City," by Gaul, the "Pastoral Symphony" by Mendel and other favorites that have won their way into the hearts of people as Christmas music.

In the Newton Centre Church Mr. Ralph MacLellan will be the organist and Mrs. Robert D. McKnight vocal soloist. In Central Church Miss Lillian West will render the organ selections, assisted by Mrs. Nina Mae Ford, soloist, and the Junior Choir. There will be gift services in both services and benevolent objects will receive these contributions of clothing, money and toys. Those taking part in the pantomime are: Lois Rockwood, Carolyn Raye, Silas Phillips, Priscilla Wright, Ruth Ulmer, John Whelden, Basil Ridgeway, Norman Dow, Thurman Philoon, Newton Douglas, Ellis Dierdorff, Chester Church, all of Newton Centre. From Newtonville, Virginia Conant, Mariada Comer, Carolyn Bassett, Dorothy Schipper, Winslow Hartford, Rev. Wynn C. Fairfield, Fred Edmonds, William Leonard, James Brickett, Jr., John Hayden, Harry Bond, John Aренд.

Newton Priest Transferred

Rev. Salvatore Scerenci, for the past two years a curate at the Church of Our Lady, Newton, has been transferred to the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston. He will minister to the religious needs of the Italian people of the South End in Boston who attend the Church of Our Lady of Pompei. Father Scerenci was the first Italian priest to be assigned to the Church of Our Lady and had become quite popular, not only among people of his own race in this city, but with the other members of the parish. He is succeeded by Rev. Guido Palotta.

A presentation by the choir and selected cast of "A Mystery for Christmas," by McKinney. This was given at the Christmas service last year, and because of its great success, it was decided to repeat it this season.

The "Mystery" is based upon the idea of an old fifteenth century Scriptural play. Such plays were written for the church, and were acted in the choir or chancel, with the characters occasionally appearing in the aisles. The music is selected from traditional sources and forms a continuous musical background to the action of the play.

TWO IMPORTANT MATTERS

There will be two matters discussed at some length before the next meeting of the School Committee which are of great importance. One is the matter of alleged competition of the vocational school with local business men. We do not need to mention the importance of a severe restriction to this practice with searching inquiry into the reasons for later requests for additional equipment. The second matter regards the equipment of the Bigelow School at Newton as a full-fledged junior high school. Residents of Wards 1 and 7 have been active recently in agitating this step. The need is apparent and we believe the committee will take due consideration of the matter in presenting its plans for next year's financial needs.

Efforts to induce the officials of the Saco-Lowell Shops to retain the Newton Upper Falls plant have failed. The loss of this industry is to be regretted. Inasmuch as the number of local residents employed by this concern is comparatively small the removal of this plant to Maine will have less injurious effect upon the local unemployment situation than would otherwise be the case.

ONCE AGAIN

Once again we are impelled to call attention to the fact that although covers on the garbage trucks are provided they are not being used at times. While the result is not as disagreeable perhaps, as in warm weather, it is unpleasant and odorous, to say the least.

For the sixtieth time The Newton Graphic wishes all its readers and friends a most Merry Christmas.

MAYOR WEEKS URGES ECONOMY

At a meeting of Department heads yesterday Mayor Weeks emphasized that Newton's tax rate will be higher next year unless strict economy is practiced. He predicted that Newton will have to pay higher State, County and Metropolitan taxes the coming year, that its receipts from Income Taxes will be much less and that the removal of the Saco-Lowell plant from Newton Upper Falls will cause a heavy loss in tax revenue. The Mayor said in part:—

"With this situation facing us," Mayor Weeks said, "I want to ask every department head to co-operate with me to the fullest extent. I had felt sure that we would be able next year to maintain our present low tax rate and had even hoped that rigid economy on our part might even reduce it, but now there is a possibility that an increase will have to come unless extraordinary economy is practiced in all departments."

"Salary increases are absolutely out of the picture. We must do the necessary things, but we can pass up all frills and extras. Analysis of department accounts as of December 1st, shows that balances are left in many accounts. This is a creditable showing. Most of this money can be turned back into our treasury and will assist us in the coming year."

"No matter how good a job we do in Newton, regardless of the economy we practice, we have to pay the State, County and Metropolitan taxes and the whole 'apple cart' could be tipped over by State extravagance of which we are obliged to share our part. Therefore, it is our duty to balance the expected advance in our costs of government by exercising rigid economy."

SONS OF ST. GEORGE ENTERTAIN

Kensington Lodge No. 500 of the American Sons of St. George recently held a social gathering in Forest Hall, Upper Falls. Following the close of a short business meeting an entertainment of instrumental music with songs and readings was enjoyed by over 100 people. Among the lodges entertained were the Commonwealth of Hyde Park, Cabot Lodge of Boston and the Sherwood Lodge of Needham. Following the entertainment a collation was served by the entertainment committee.

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

The Newton Central Council will run the Christmas Clearing House as usual. This central index is a checking up of Christmas dinner giving for the purpose of avoiding duplications and for giving therefore a wider distribution of the Christmas cheer, provided by Newton citizens. Will those interested please call at 12 Austin street or telephone Newton North 7680.

PARAMOUNT, NEWTON

"The Sin of Madelon Claudet" will be the leading opening film at the Paramount beginning next Sunday. Helen Hayes who takes the leading part in private life is the wife of Charles MacArthur who adapted the play to the screen. On the same program will be shown the film "Are These Our Children" with an all-star cast.

For the last half of the week Olive Brook and Kay Francis will be seen in "24 Hours." On the same program will be that wholesome story of Zane Grey's "The Rider of the Purple Sage."

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The large stone mansion on Islington road, Auburndale, completely destroyed by fire on the night of December 8, had an interesting history. It was erected about 60 years ago by E. D. Winslow, who developed considerable property at Auburndale. Winslow was a prominent figure in the life of Newton and Boston in those days. A brilliant talker and writer, he represented the Town of Newton in the legislature and for a time he was conspicuous in the Boston newspaper field. He started the Boston Evening Times, the first of newspapers in the Hub. Later he negotiated for the purchase of the Boston Post from Colonel Green and shortly afterwards he went from Boston to Buenos Aires, Argentina, where he became the owner of the "Buenos Aires Herald" which eventually became the leading newspaper of South America. Winslow had a building erected in the beautiful capital of the Argentine which had few equals in the Western Hemisphere.

Soon after the mansion was built by Winslow it was purchased by Richard M. Pulsifer, fourth mayor of Newton, who served in 1880 and 1881. Mr. Pulsifer was born at Chestnut Hill in 1843 and died at Auburndale in 1888. He was a part-owner of the BOSTON HERALD, a director in Boston banks, one of those who assisted in founding the Newton Cottage Hospital and the Newton Club and an original member of the Swedenborgian Church at Newtonville.

About 8 years ago the mansion was acquired by some Boston men who started a resort there under the name of the "Castle Inn Club." The social activities at this club became too hectic for people residing in the vicinity and following a number of complaints the place was raided by the Newton police. The manager of the club was hauled into the Newton court and his trial, which was given sensational publicity by Boston newspapers, lasted several days. The closing of the Castle Inn Club followed.

This year the building was taken over to be used as a private school for boys under the name "Langer School." The career of the man who built the structure was dramatic. The end of the mansion with its varied history was dramatic.

If, in future political contests in this city you receive cards or circulars alleged to be signed by prominent men and women residents of the Newtons, before you take such campaign literature seriously, ascertain whether or not the citizens whose names appear on the cards or circulars have given permission for their alleged endorsements. Prior to the recent election in this city a number of cards were distributed in the interests of certain candidates. According to the statement printed on these cards they were signed by a number of citizens in each Ward. We spoke with three persons whose names were included in the Ward 1 list and each stated that the name was used without the knowledge of the owner. The names of two others in this list were those of persons who do not reside in the Ward. A prominent resident of Ward 2 whose name appeared on these cards, has indignantly repudiated the use of his name without authority. Of course, the persons responsible for the printing and distribution of the cards would not knowingly resort to picaresque politics. Someone must have just made a mistake.

The sudden death of Emerson Stoddard last week removed a familiar figure from our midst. Mr. Stoddard was a native of North Brookfield and served in the Civil War. He had been a resident of Newtonville for the past 8 years and took an active interest in the affairs of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. Because of his slender physique, his white goatee and the patriotic talks he gave to pupils in the Newton schools, many of the children fancied that Mr. Stoddard personified "Uncle Sam." Despite his 88 years, he was very energetic. When President Hoover arrived in Newtonville in 1928, during the Presidential campaign, Mr. Stoddard was one of those who greeted him at the Newtonville railroad station. He was invited to accompany Mr. Hoover's escort to Boston and was given a seat on the platform at Boston Common near that of the President.

Members of the City Engineer's staff have been surveying Washington street in anticipation of the resurfacing of this highway next Spring. Employees of the Water Department are making house connections along the street so that it will not be necessary to tear up the road for such a purpose after a good surface will have been laid. The Boston Consolidated Gas Company is to lay out by laying connections to buildings and it is supposed that the other public utility companies will do likewise.

Everybody is enthusiastic over the program advanced by President Hoover to raise additional taxes. Some of the many millions of dollars collected as income taxes from corporations and individuals, and then returned, would help now.

There is one advantage the new-fangled electric clocks have over the old fashioned clocks. You can make them run backwards.

Isn't Ely Culbertson a modest, self-effacing person?

The whipping post and ducking chair ought to be revived for the males and females who start runs on banks by spreading rumors which stampede timid folks to withdraw their savings. Such calamity criers are the worst panic propagandists.

If you want to see a poor piece of road construction by a company which has an international reputation for excellent work, view that stretch of Commonwealth avenue recently resurfaced between Washington street and Maple street, Auburndale.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Let us hope Santa Claus has not taken up contract bridge. If he has you know what chance we'll have of meeting him next week.

That Terrible Toot!

There's nothing that puts the fear of the law in our hearts as effectively as a traffic policeman's whistle. One long shrill blast and our blood congeals. Even a stumbling pedestrian whose conscience is clear, will stand rooted to the spot. The driver, never too sure he is pleasing the cops by his manner of operating, will halt his bus with a grinding jounce and wait for a reprimand. The attention of the rest of the world is centered breathlessly on the outcome.

Such has grown to be the power of a traffic policeman's whistle. For that reason I was greatly interested to see its effect on a social gathering of about 100 young and old of both sexes. The master of ceremonies I knew to be a man of unlimited resources. Nothing that he does surprises me. Nevertheless I went through the inevitable emotions when he blew a policeman's whistle to command attention. If the others who heard it were as temporarily petrified as I they didn't grasp, at least for a minute, the words that followed. They knew it was some kind of an announcement, but the sensation produced by the shrill and penetrating toot must have thrown them off their balance.

However, the clever master of ceremonies knew exactly what he was doing. His intention was to get his audience in hand without delay. He knew he could not do so by merely clapping his hands or shouting, "Ladies and gentlemen." With his keen mind he was fully aware of the difficulty in quelling the conversational riot without force. Therefore he resorted to the one instrument that is more compelling of obedience than a red light, an angry voice or even a big stick.

I never have observed a crowd of dancers respond so promptly. The whistle caused the same reaction in this select gathering as it would in a traffic-congested public square. All talk, all movement and for a time all smiles ceased abruptly. It seemed a bit incongruous when the whistle's blasts were followed by a pleasant invitation for everybody to join hands in a circle and dance merrily and lightly over the polished floor. After a while the dancers became used to the whistle and lost some of their dread. Eventually they displayed gay spirits and a lightness of heart. Never once, however, did they fail to respond to a second's delay. The authority of traffic policeman which is equivalent to saying he is a King in his own right.

Missing Gloves

This should be, and I've no doubt but what it is a very busy time for dealers in gloves. Now, you're wrong if you think I am dwelling on the weather and the fact that the glove-buying season is on. What I have in mind is the glove-losing season. You might properly interrupt with the assertion that gloves may be lost any old time of year. True, but this is the period when there is really an excuse for it.

I should like an opportunity to say something in behalf of the forgetful ones. They need plenty of sympathy as much as they require plenty of gloves. Ordinarily they have to make their way single-handed and that is asking a good deal when the weather is cold and both hands ought really to be covered.

One of the favorite places for mislaying gloves is the postoffice. As the rush of parcel post business increases you will find more mislaid gloves. The explanation is simple. You march up to the window with an armful of bundles. After they are weighed you must buy postage and in order to get at your money you must yank off at least one glove. I speak now for the frail members of the human race and not those who are always mentally alert, always practical and who never make mistakes. These latter demand nobody's help.

The people who need friends are

City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett recently was the speaker at the annual meeting of the Brattleboro, Vermont, Woman's Club. He spoke on famous murder trials in which he and his father had been participants as counsel. We received a copy of the daily paper of that city containing an account of the affair and of Mr. Bartlett's talk. Did our genial City Solicitor really find it an attractive little city on the Connecticut? He certainly did. The lengthy account of the affair in the Brattleboro paper contained the following references to the gentleman from Waban—"the remarkably fine speaker, Joseph W. Bartlett, well known lawyer of Boston, killed two hours' time with painless ease on the part of both himself and his audience. He created in one or two instances the atmosphere of the court in a murder trial so vividly that it needed only the presence of judge and jury to make the scene complete. Attorney Bartlett is a Democrat and a Dartmouth man—demerit and merit marks which evenly offset each other." The Brattleboro paper referred to Mr. Bartlett as "a man of special distinction in his appearance and ease in address, combining a requisite amount of humor with the high tension points to relieve his audience."

Many years have passed since Henry Chapin Sawin served as master at the Bigelow School. But, his former pupils affectionately recall each Christmas season "Daddy" Sawin's annual reading of Dickens' "Christmas Carol." The kindly old teacher got a big thrill recalling the tale of "Tiny Tim" and the other characters in Dickens' masterpiece.

Rev. John Shade Franklin, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church in West Newton and a pastoral counselor of Norumbega Christian Endeavor Union, will be guest speaker at the December 20 early evening meeting of the Faneuil Congregational Church Endeavor Society, Frank Clarke, president.

"The Lure of Achievement" is to be the subject of the meeting for which an interesting Christmas music program has been planned as an added attraction.

The Lincoln Park Endeavorers are actively interested in the organization of plans for Norumbega Christian Endeavor Union's approaching 45th anniversary meeting. The birthday supper program is to be held at the West Watertown Union Church Tuesday evening, January 12, when Harry A. Holmes, General Secretary of the World Christian Endeavor Union and president of the New York State Union, is to be featured as guest speaker. Union President H. Newton Jones of 58 Winthrop street, West Newton will be master of ceremonies for the birthday meeting.

WOODLAND PARK SCHOOL

The following Newton girls are on the honor roll at the Woodland Park School, the junior department of Lase Seminary: Elizabeth Leland of Auburndale, Edythe Cummings and Barbara Martin of West Newton and Natalie Caldwell of Chestnut Hill.

Those who haven't any too many gloves and who are called upon to perform numerous duties. It isn't the least surprising that they become forgetful and in their haste leave a glove or two behind. Such catastrophes are not confined to the postoffice. They are liable to happen everywhere. There is always hope if you leave them at the house of friend but the possibility of a loss is not as great under such circumstances. It usually happens in a place where there are many people and from which you are anxious to get away.

This subject, as I approach the end, offers no moral. I certainly am the last one to attempt to preach reform. Therefore, I make no criticism and have no ideas regarding self-discipline for your benefit. The thought occurs to me, however, that we might establish a sort of clearing house for missing gloves. At such a center—let us make it the bank or some equally trustworthy and dependable place, all single gloves found or recovered could be brought for the purpose of matching. The more I think of my scheme the prouder I become. There is no limit to the possibilities. After all gloves are very much the same in pattern. If you happened to have lost a right hand glove and somebody else a left hand one and his were found and brought to a municipal glove exchange—well, there's no use going on for you must understand it. In fact, I'm so pleased with the suggestion I shall ask Mayor Weeks to put in it his inaugural message.

Now Will You Stop

What appeared to be a dainty Christmas card when handed out by the letter carrier proved a formal communication to this column. In order that you may not be influenced or prejudiced by anything I might say, I submit the contents as they were revealed to me.

"Dear Mr. Bentley—If it is not too late I should like your advice as to the choice of a present my fiancée. He is always making fun of the sort of gifts girls select for the young men to whom they are engaged so I would like to surprise him with a novelty. I don't want to give him anything that may be considered trifling and yet if it is too practical he may not like it. You see I am perplexed and need advice. O, if the approximate cost will help you let me say I don't mind spending $10 or $15. (Signed) Eugene."

I do not know what you will think of my answer. Possibly you will say that I was discourteous to the nth degree. Nevertheless, here it is:

"My dear Eugene—Such problems as yours do not interest me except that when presented in a letter to this column I am afforded an opportunity to express my views without reservation. Your boy friend, as I picture him from your letter, is a tiresome chump. If he makes jokes about Christmas gifts he lacks originality and furthermore his manners are bad. That any young woman should hold affection for him sufficient to consent to marriage is his good fortune. He doesn't deserve anything more. What reason you have for punishing yourself by trying up with such a galeot is more than I can understand. Hope this answers your query. Write any time. (Signed) L D G B."

SPECIAL MEETING OF ALDERMEN

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Wednesday night.

An order was passed declaring the results of the City Election of December 8. Four loans on real estate from the Horace Cousins Fund were authorized. According to a vote passed by the Aldermen at a recent meeting, all members of the Board are supposed to be given an opportunity to know who the applicants are, what the amounts of the loans are and where the properties involved are located. Members of the License Committee were in conference while the other Aldermen received information regarding the four loans, so Alderman Temperley asked that the matter be referred back to the Finance Committee. Alderman Ball, Chairman of the Finance Committee, objected to the request of the Upper Falls member, asserting that all the Aldermen had been given ample opportunity to get the information.

President Collins of the Board smoothed over the matter by suggesting that Alderman Temperley get the desired information individually from Alderman Ball. A caucus of the members of the 1932 Board of Aldermen was held and Alderman Roy Collins of Ward 2 was unanimously nominated for re-election as President of the Board. Alderman Thomas M. Gallagher of Ward 1 will again be Vice President. The Aldermen voted to continue in office City Clerk Frank M. Grant for another two-year term and Francis Newhall as City Treasurer for another term of one year.

Thomas, Jr., and rushed in Gallagher's car to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. It was found that the little girl had received a slight fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. She is making a favorable recovery.

Monday afternoon at 1:15 a car driven by Gladys Staley of Allston hit Serge Koloff, 11 of 25 Priscilla road, Chestnut Hill as the boy was crossing Commonwealth avenue at Manet road. The boy received slight injuries.

Monday evening at 6 p. m. cars driven by Philip Carson of Malden and Wallace DeWolfe of 250 California street, Nonantum collided at Chestnut and Elliot streets, Newton Upper Falls. Carson was arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Cars driven by John Neffinger of Warwick road, West Newton, and John Hammond of Revere collided Wednesday at Waltham street and Warwick road, West Newton. In a report made to the Newton police Neffinger claims that he, his wife and 5 year old child received injuries.

Paul Hessler, 35, of 246 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands was severely injured on Wednesday at Boylston St., Boston, when he was hit by a car driven by Henry Shaw of Woodstock avenue, Allston. Hessler was taken to the Boston City Hospital. He received a fracture of the left arm, concussion of the brain and other injuries.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Last Friday at 4:20 p. m. there was a collision at Washington and Perkins streets, West Newton between cars driven by Edmund Joy of 34 Auburn street, West Newton and Joseph Ruffo of Brighton. Both cars were considerably damaged.

WILLIAM DANA FOLLETT

William D. Follett of 25 Ballard street, Newton Centre died on December 15. He was born in this city 43 years ago, the son of Mrs. Nellie Dana Follett and the late William J. Follett. He graduated from the Volkman School and had been associated with the Lewis Manufacturing Company. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edna Lois Follett; two sons, William Dana Follett, Jr., and Robert P. Follett; a daughter, Elizabeth Woodbridge Follett; his mother, Mrs. Nellie D. Follett of Vernon Court, Newton, and a brother, Austin W. Follett of North Attleboro. His funeral service will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at his late home. Rev. Dwight Bradley will officiate. Burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

EUGENE HOUGH

Eugene Hough, for many years a resident of Newton, died on December 7 at the Liano Co-operative Colony, New Liano, Louisiana, where he had made his home for the past several years. He was born at Wells, Vermont, 79 years ago and while in Newton was a member of the firm of Hough & Jones, painters. Mr. Hough was a profound student of sociology and psychology and taught the latter subject at the colony. He was a self-educated man. His mother, who died, when he was 10 years of age was his only teacher and he supplemented this meagre education by intensive reading.

MRS. MARY G. HANKS

Mrs. Mary Standish Hanks, widow of H. W. Hanks, died on Thursday, December 17, at her late home, 1 Willow terrace, Newton Centre, in her 78th year. She was a native of Colchester, Connecticut, and had resided in this city for 14 years. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Mildred F. Hanks of Newton Centre and two sons, Harold S. of Wellesley and Roy S. of Waltham. Her funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 at her late home. Rev. Mr. Burrill of Dennis will officiate. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Wellesley.

MRS. ANNIE LIBBY

Mrs. Annie Libby of 190 Summer street, Newton Centre, widow of Oliver C. Libby, died on December 13. She was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, 32 years ago and had resided in this city for 50 years. She is survived by two sons—Levi Libby of Newton Centre and Otis Libby of Sanford, Maine. Her funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon; Rev. C. N. Arbuckle officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

GERARDA LOMBARDI

Gerarda Lombardi, daughter of Mrs. Lucia Baccari Lombardi and the late Raphael Lombardi, died on December 14. She was born in this city 20 years ago. Her funeral service was held Wednesday morning at the Church of Our Lady and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. She is survived by her mother; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Leary of New York City and Donna Lombardi of Newton; and two brothers, Dominic Lombardi and Anthony Lombardi, both of this city.

JAMES DEVERIX

James Deverix of 109 Dalby street, Nonantum, died on December 12. He was born at Waterloo, Quebec, 77 years ago and had resided in this city for 40 years. For many years he was employed at the Aetna Mills, Bemis. He is survived by his wife, daughter and six sons. His funeral service was held Monday morning at the Church of Our Lady and burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

LUCY BURNS

Lucy Sullivan Burns, a life long resident of Cedar street, passed away at her home on Saturday after a long illness. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated on Monday at nine o'clock at St. John's Church. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, Needham.

Mrs. Burns is survived by her husband and one daughter, also two sisters all of whom live in Wellesley.

SERVICE OF RECOGNITION

On Monday evening in the Congregational Church a most impressive service of Recognition and a reception was held for the Rev. Ralph Hebard Rogers who assumed duties as minister on Dec. 12. Rev. Daniel Bliss, the associate minister of the Old South Church in Boston gave the invocation, and Rev. Boynton Merrill of the Second Church in Newton extended a welcome to the Newton Fellowship. The Scripture Lesson was read by Rev. Maurice Bullock of the Centenary Church and Rev. Dwight Bradley of the First Church of Newton gave the prayer for the Church. Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt of Harvard Church, Brookline, of which Dr. Rogers was formerly associate minister brought salutations from that church and Rev. Percival Wood, rector of the Church of the Messiah gave the right hand of fellowship. Dr. Rogers pronounced the benediction. The Church choir under the direction of the organist Mr. Gerald Frazer assisted. After the service Dr. and Mrs. Rogers met the members in the chapel where refreshments were served.

AUTO HITS WOMAN

Monday afternoon as Evelyn Sampson of 62 Hawthorn street, Newton, was crossing Watertown street, Nonantum, she was hit by a car driven by James Simmons of 253 California street, Nonantum. Simmons took Miss Sampson to the Newton Hospital. She received injuries to her head and arms and severe body bruises.

ROTARY CLUB

Mr. E. Lawrence Howie, past president of the Salem Rotary Club, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club. He spoke on Rotary Principles and gave an interesting and instructive talk on his chosen subject. He expressed a firm belief in Rotary and the future but like everything else today there is need of considerable thought before things are taken for granted. He dwelt at length upon a few of the planks in Rotary such as the code of ethics, friendship and international scope.

The annual Christmas Party of the Newton Rotary Club will be held next Monday at the regular meeting place. Orville O. Clapper is chairman of the committee in charge assisted by Karl Switzer and Warren K. Brimblecom.

Recent Weddings

AYER—BENTON

Miss Helen D. Benton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Richardson Benton of Vergennes, Vermont, was married to Robert Wells Ayer of Newton Centre and Wayne, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. F. Ayer of 170 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, on Saturday, December twelfth, at the home of her parents, at four-thirty in the afternoon. Rev. Charles S. Hagar performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of old ivory satin and a tulle veil with cap of lace. She carried cream colored roses and freesias. Mrs. George L. VanBergen of New York City, as matron of honor, wore Spanish tile velvet and carried Talisman roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary E. Lake of Concord, New Hampshire, a classmate of the bride, wore green velvet and carried Talisman roses.

Otto E. Wolf of Cambridge, Mass., was the best man and the ushers were James F. Nields of Ware, Mass. George L. VanBergen of New York City and Malcolm I. Benton of Vergennes.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

On their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Ayer will be "at home" at Wayne, Michigan, after February 1st.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley College, class of 1929, where she was a member of the Shakespeare Club. The groom is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1929. He is a member of the Flying Club and Pi Eta.

PHIPPS—BAKER

A very pretty home wedding took place on Monday evening at 8 o'clock when Esther Agatha, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Baker of 126 Cornell street, Newton Lower Falls, was united in marriage to Mr. Clyde Eugene Phipps.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. J. Fairweather of the Perin Memorial Church, of which the bride was a very active worker.

The bride wore a gown of bride's satin and lace, and a veil of point d'esprit draped with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Laura Baker a sister of the bride was maid of honor. Her gown was a Nile green chiffon and she carried a bouquet of roses. The best man was Mr. Arthur Wood.

Following the ceremony a reception was given after which Mr. and Mrs. Phipps left for an extended honeymoon to New York and Washington.

On their return they will reside in Newton Lower Falls.

Recent Engagements

The engagement is announced of Miss Phyllis Gammons of Newton St., Weston, to Mr. Deane Lewis Bassett of Cliff road, Wellesley Hills. Miss Gammons is the daughter of Roland F. Gammons, president of the West Newton Savings Bank, and is a senior at Miss Amy Sacker's School.

Mr. Bassett is the son of Mr. Harriet Burr Sander and received his education at Phillips Andover, Cornell University and the Babson Institute of Business Administration.

POLICE NEWS

Richard Desmarais, 18, of Greenwood avenue, West Newton, was given a suspended sentence of two years in jail by Judge Gibbs in the Superior Court at Cambridge last Friday and ordered to pay $50 for the expenses of prosecution. Desmarais was found guilty of having stolen an automobile at Waltham. He telephoned a Newton taxi company to tow a car, which he claimed was his, from Waltham to a barn at West Newton. John DiLoff, formerly of Nevada street, Newtonville, and latterly of Hawaii, appeared in the Newton court on Saturday on a charge over 5 years old which accused him of a serious offence against a young girl. DiLoff was arrested last week at Nonantum by Patrolman Jenkins who recognized him as he returned to this city on a visit. Because the girl against whom the offence was alleged to have been committed could not be located the case was dismissed.

Leslie McCormick, 33, of Willard street, Quincy, was in the Newton court last Saturday charged with having departed from the scene of an accident without making himself known. It is alleged that on the night of November 8 McCormick met Gertrude Carberry, 20, of Brackett street, Brighton, in Boston and offered to take her home in his automobile. According to the girl's testimony, McCormick drove his car along Commonwealth avenue towards the Newtons instead of towards her home and she opened the door of the car and stepped on the running board. That was the last she remembered until she recovered consciousness in a hospital. The girl was found lying on Commonwealth avenue by Patrolman Turner of the Newton police. She had a fractured jaw, a broken nose, a number of teeth knocked out and other injuries.

Grace Tirrell of Framingham and Helen Moran of Hopkinton testified that they were riding in a car following that in which the Carberry girl was riding. They saw the girl step onto the running board and then saw a hand reach from the car and push the girl onto the street. McCormick testified that he never had seen the Carberry girl until she came to the office at the South Station in Boston where he is employed with Patrolman Turner. The girl identified McCormick as the person she had ridden with on the night she was injured. The Tirrell and Moran girls had obtained the registration numbers on the car from which the girl was hurt and on this clue McCormick was arrested as the alleged driver of the car. Judge Maloney of Ayer who presided at the hearing continued the case until December 19.

Samuel Magazun, 16, of 184 California street, Nonantum, was arrested last Friday charged with entering the Bigelow School at Newton and stealing groceries and some money. He was held in $5000 bail for trial on December 18. It is alleged that Raymond Bertrand of Williams street, Newton, was implicated in the burglary with Magazun.

Emilio Valente, 25, of 17 William street, West Newton, was in the Newton court last Saturday charged with attempted burglary at the fruit store of Anthony Medaglia on Washington street, West Newton. He was found guilty and sentenced to serve on year in the Middlesex County jail. Valente was accused of having attempted to enter the store early on the morning of December 10, but he was frightened away before he succeeded.

A new rule has been put into effect at Newton police headquarters by order of Chief Hughes. Heretofore, in past years, newspaper reporters could peruse the "blotter" which was kept on the booking desk at police headquarters. The "blotter" is a large day-book or journal in which are entered the names and addresses of all persons arrested and the offence or offences with which they are charged. In it also are entered reports of fires, stolen cars, complaints struck by the train and severely injured. Miss Riley was killed.

Some months ago the members of the press were informed that they were to be denied the privilege of looking at the "blotter." The reason given was that the constant handling of the book by a number of persons caused it to become worn and dirty. One lawyer had demanded that the "blotter" be taken to the Superior Court at East Cambridge as evidence in a case and it was contended that the book was untidy in appearance. Also, police officials claim that some newspaper reporters by giving publicity to certain arrests retard the work of the police in apprehending other criminals.

Chief of Police Hughes says that the newspaper men will be given all the information that can be given without interfering with the proper functioning of the police department. He also says that other police departments have not permitted reporters to have access to "blotters." Asked if the exclusion of the "blotter" from the gaze of the newspaper men will result in the names of any persons arrested for driving cars while under the influence of liquor, or for other violations of automobile laws, being withheld from reporters, Chief Hughes stated emphatically "No."

Frank Burke, 19, of 1063 Beacon street, Newton Centre, was in the Newton court on Monday charged with using number plates on an automobile other than what the plates were issued for. His case was continued until December 21.

Carl Kothe of 926 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, reported to the police last Sunday night that a Packard sedan had been stolen from in front of 20 Rotherwood road, Newton Centre. The car was found abandoned in Dedham on Monday. Two other cars were stolen Sunday night. A Buick sedan owned by Robert Goldstein of 62 Fellsmead road, Newton Centre was stolen while parked in front of that address. A Ford roadster owned by Thomas Greenwood of Allston was stolen from the corner of Faxon and Watertown streets, Nonantum. Early Sunday morning Serg. Moran found an abandoned car on Nevada street, Newtonville. The car had been stolen several hours earlier in Watertown. It was the property of Charles Basle of Vernon street, Waltham.

WARD 1 IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION ACTS ON PARKING PLANS

At a recent meeting the Ward 1 Improvement Association took action on the matter of the proposed land takings at Newton Corner for the relief of parking congestion at that section. As a result, Miss Julia M. Eneases, president of the association has sent the following letter to Mayor Weeks:

Dear Mayor Weeks:

At the request of the Ward 1 Improvement Association I am advising you that the Association unanimously voted, at a recent meeting, its approval of the plan for the improvement of parking facilities at Newton Square submitted by the Newton Business Association, i.e., the taking of the land by the city, included within the area surrounded by Pearl Court, east side of Bacon street and Pearl street, including the three houses on Pearl Street between Pearl Court and Bacon Street, and the laying out of this area for parking purposes.

The Association also voted to oppose the taking of the so-called Opera House property for parking space, as it believes the first named area sufficient for present purposes, and that the taking of any further land at this location and at this time, until the first named plan has proved unnecessary, is both impractical and unnecessary.

INJURED ON BOYLSTON ST.

Paul Hessler of 246 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands, was struck down and injured by an automobile while crossing Boylston street on Wednesday. At the City Hospital he was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain, a fractured forearm, and bruises over the head and body. The automobile was driven by Henry C. Shaw of Woodstock avenue, Allston.

PART OF WEEKS' ESTATE SOLD

Two acres of land on the very top of West Newton Hill, which is one of the most exclusive residential sections of Newton, has recently been sold and deeds of transfer have been recorded at the Middlesex Registry of Deeds at East Cambridge.

The land was a part of the large estate owned by Beatrice Dowse Weeks, wife of the Hon. Sinclair Weeks, present Mayor of the City of Newton, and is situated directly to the south of the present Weeks' homestead. It is bounded on the east by Valentine street and will front on Bonad and Howland roads.

Elizabeth A. Haynes is the grantee, and it is her intention to subdivide this parcel into large lots, some of which will contain as much as 15,000 square feet of land. In order to make this change effective it will be necessary for the new owner to extend the present lines of Bonad and Howland roads through to Valentine street. This is to be done according to City of Newton specifications so that the new streets will become, in due time, accepted streets. The seller also has imposed stringent building restrictions in order that the new dwellings to be erected will conform to the present character of this fine neighborhood.

A recently issued garage permit shows that a garage of five-car capacity will be erected in a new location on the Weeks' holdings to take the place of an old building which is in the process of being torn down.

No information as to the purchase price could be obtained from Alford Bros., the brokers in the transaction.

Mrs. Clarence C. Smith of Centre street, Newton, is a member of the Health Education Committee of the Boston Y. W. C. A., which annually gives a Christmas tree and party for 400 children sent through the City Missionary Association. The party will take place Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19, at 2:30 in the Lee auditorium.

DOLL PARADE AT PARAMOUNT

The annual doll parade, sponsored by the Paramount Theatre, will be held on the Saturday afternoon following Christmas. Doll carriages are barred because of the space which they take. The prizes will be a silver loving cup and ten other prizes.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On New Year's Day, the Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold a reception from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., at which time the Club will be glad to welcome all members and friends. The president, Mrs. John F. Capron, and members of the Board will receive informally, and are particularly anxious to welcome the young people at this holiday time. In order to make the occasion even more attractive there will be dancing, with music furnished by Carl Wongberg's Orchestra. Mrs. William H. Raye is in charge of the afternoon, and among those assisting her are: Mrs. C. S. Chapin, Mrs. E. W. Dearing, Mrs. W. S. Douglas, Mrs. R. F. Hayden, Mrs. A. Polhemus, Mrs. E. F. Rockwood, Mrs. A. E. Vose, and members of the American Home, Hospitality and Reception committees.

Of added interest will be the most unusual Art Exhibition which opens that day. This exhibition has been arranged by Mrs. Maurice E. Goldberg of the Art committee, and is to be made up entirely of women artists, many of whom have attained international fame. It includes such leading painters as Ruth Anderson, Margaret Fitzhugh Browne, Gertrude Fiske, Laura Coombs Hills, Nellie Littlehale Murphy, Marie Danforth Page, Marian Sloan, and many others. Among the sculptors exhibiting will be Mary O. Bowditch, Anna Coleman Ladd, and Bashka Paef. The Exhibit will continue for two weeks. Members of the Art committee will also assist at the reception New Year's Day.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Gertrude S. Hasbrouck will give a course of six lectures on "Sex Character Education," beginning on Friday, January 8th, at 10 a. m., in the Central Congregational Church, and continuing for the five consecutive Fridays, at the same time and place. The entire course will be given for $1.00, and tickets may be purchased from any chairman of the standing committees.

Mrs. Hasbrouck has had a wealth of experience and comes to this community so highly recommended that all the churches of Newtonville are uniting with the Woman's Club in sponsoring this lecture course. She has lectured and conducted classes for mothers in many cities before coming here, and is the author of numerous books on Child Welfare and Infant Hygiene. She handles her subject in a most convincing manner and is a thorough student of child psychology.

West Newton Junior Educational Club

The January meeting, of the West Newton Junior Educational Club to be held on the 12th, is to be an Open Meeting for the mothers of the members. Mrs. G. Raymond Lehrer is to give an illustrated lecture on the Passion Play, which she attended last year. This promises to be an educational opportunity no one can afford to miss.

The dramatic group is hard at work rehearsing for the play "Scoops," under the coaching of Mrs. Paul E. Elieker, which is to be given in February for the benefit of the Newton Unemployed Fund.

The West Newton Junior Educational Dance is to be held Monday, December 21st, at the West Newton Neighborhood Club. The proceeds from this delightful affair will be used to aid in the support of the year 1932 babies, providing them with clothes, milk, etc. The dance will be open to the public, a thing heretofore unknown.

State Federation

CHEER FOR VETERANS. Guided by the enthusiasm of Mrs. Walter H. Woods of Brookline, chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans, a tireless group of workers is spreading yuletide cheer throughout the State, and with the spirit of Christmas everywhere in the air, the Clubwomen of Massachusetts are taking it upon themselves to see that the holidays of the veterans of many wars, and of their families at home, are made just a little brighter than they might otherwise be.

Christmas parties for the veterans are quite in vogue among the Clubs. The Eastern Star Women's Club recently entertained thirty patients from the Chelsea Naval Hospital. The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club has staged a party, and the Woman's Club of Brockton plan trees for "the boys" during Christmas week.

One of the most popular of all activities will be the singing of Christmas carols in the hospitals, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Harris Schroeder, State chairman of Music. The men are eagerly looking forward to taking a real part in this treat, themselves.

Clubwomen, too, are helping in filling the Christmas stockings for veterans under the direction of Mrs. Woods, chairman of packing for the fifth year.

No one will be forgotten, is the reassuring word of Mrs. Woods, who is grateful on behalf of the veterans for every kind of donation to help in this statewide spreading of holiday cheer. That she is right is shown in the following list of plans, which may serve as suggestions to Newton Clubwomen.

Out in western Massachusetts, Mrs. S. Henry Cobb, of Springfield, has a

Once again Christmas comes with its merriment and cheer. With gay greeting on a card; With dainty tissue and bright holly Painstakingly is wrapped the outer token.
There is an inner meaning infinitely more dear,
To voice kind thoughts comes more hard;
Understanding, appreciation—no flippant folly—
Warm discouraged hearts, in tenderness spoken.

Clubwomen, your editor wishes you merriment, yes,—good cheer.
But she wishes you much more that infinitely more dear—watchful eye over 100 needy veterans in that city, and she will see to it that the 80 uncompensated men among the 550 patients in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Northampton are not forgotten.
The tender word, appreciation, a friend's warm heart.

Gay-hued afghans and canaries are the delight of the boys at Rutland Heights, where Mrs. Woods recently visited on the occasion of the Barre donation day, taking as a good-will offering a goodly supply of bird seed for the canaries. Barre and South Barre women are good neighbors to the boys at Rutland, inspired by the interest of Mrs. Caroline Church, of Barre. They have scoured the woods for Christmas gardens for each of the wards and for the dining tables at Rutland. The afghans, by the way, must be 60 by 80 inches, according to directions.

Southboro, North Grafton, Orange, and Worcester women are on the alert with kindly deeds. Newton men in hospital will be remembered from the proceeds of an Armistice Day musicale at the home of Mrs. G. Duthie Strachan.

This year the women war veterans, too, will be remembered through the diligence of Mrs. Carlton B. Lyons, of Randolph, both those at home and those in the government home in Danville, Illinois. Mrs. Lyons is compiling a birthday list, and her Club will send gifts of gold to three veterans at Norfolk. Down in Cape Cod there will be Christmas cheer for the women veterans and for the Indians serving in wars.

Through the courtesy of the Auxiliary to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 500 Christmas cards have been distributed to uncompensated veterans. Also they will repeat their gift of evergreens to the Marine Hospital. At Chelsea Naval Hospital, Mrs. Luther W. Chick plans trees for the 21 wards.

Patients at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital in Bedford will be remembered with gifts, Christmas cards, and greens, and with many comforts, through the interest of Mrs. R. K. Miller, of Winchester. The Soldiers' Home, filled to capacity, will not be forgotten.

The Brookline Woman's Club is among those sending gifts to men in hospitals, as well as caring for their families. In Lynn the Clubs will repeat their fine Christmas program under the direction of Mrs. T. Gordon Burckes.

RADIO. Christmas will be "celebrated" in song and story in the weekly broadcast of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, on Saturday, December 19th, at 11:30 a. m., over WBZ. Mrs. Charles L. Fuller, Radio director, will present her sister, Mrs. Franklin S. Nichols, president of the Quincy Federation of Women's Clubs, in "Christmas in Other Lands" (poetry); Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bishop, also of Quincy, will sing Christmas songs. "Christmas Spirit in the Community" will be portrayed by Mrs. Arthur L. Davis, of Ware, who will make her radio debut as director of the Fifteenth District in western Massachusetts.

On Saturday, the 26th, Grace Morrison Poole will give the "Good Bye, 1931" message, which is sure to be an interesting summary and prophecy. As first vice-president of the General Federation and candidate for the presidency, she will be given welcome by the organization over which she served as State president. Music will be in songs by Helen Choat Ohmura, Soprano, with Myra Pond Hemenway, as her accompanist. The rest of the program will be in the hands of Mrs. Hiner H. A. Evans, vice-chairman of the Division of Mothercraft, with the topic "Children Well and Happy."

LEGISLATIVE POLICY. A special legislative session of the Executive Board of the State Federation has been called by Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, president, for December 18th, today at 10 a. m., at the Boston Y. W. C. A., for the consideration of bills to be presented to the individual Clubs for action. Mrs. Fred V. Hart, State chairman of Legislation, is presenting speakers for and against certain measures of special interest to women. The members of the Legislative Division are meeting in session with the board.

Twelfth District

Legislative Conference

The first Legislative Conference of the year for the Twelfth District of the Massachusetts State Women's Clubs was held on Friday, December 11th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Russell Hart, chairman of the Legislative committee of the Twelfth District. The program was arranged by Mrs. Harry E. Moore, chairman of Legislation of the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Mrs. Hart explained, before introducing the speakers, that the purpose of this year of the Legislative committee was to put bills which will come up before the session before the Clubs, and to get opinions from the Club members. In accordance with this plan, the following speakers explained several important bills which are coming up in the near future: Mr. R. W. Bowdoin, secretary of the New England Council, a philanthropic organization of business men interested in bettering economic conditions, spoke on the three bills which are to be submitted concerning the taxing of chain stores; Senator Francis G. Prescott spoke on the "Primary Convention"; Representative Mary Livermore Barrows talked on "Jury Service for Women"; and Representative William F. Shanahan's subject was "Compulsory Automobile Insurance."

Mr. Bowdoin was not in favor of taxation of the chain stores, pointing out that it would result in higher prices which would only impoverish the community. He maintained that economic laws should be treated as natural laws,—the laws should not be changed, but rather studied, and made to work for one, the only way natural laws can be made to benefit humanity, and the only plausible way to treat economic or social ones. "We are," he said, "facing the social consequences of economic growth, and to get to the base of the matter we must make these new economic laws, which have developed naturally, work for us." New England, he pointed out, had fifty per cent of its population dependent upon the manufacturer's payroll, and the taxing of chain stores would be economically unsound, because of the great quantity of material which they buy from our own manufacturers.

He produced statistics to show that by six chain stores alone in New England, fifty-four million dollars worth of material was purchased last year, representing seventeen million dollars, at least, in payrolls. The argument often used that chain stores are taking money out of New England does not hold water, he declared, arguing instead that the money saved by the purchaser who patronizes the chain stays in New England, as well as all the money that the chain puts back to the manufacturer, and that the manufacturer pays back to the resident of New England in payrolls. Furthermore, the chain stores are not crowding out any but the inefficient independent merchants, and with statistics he again pointed out that in the last ten years, within a thirty mile radius of Boston, the increase in independent stores had been almost 100% while that of the chain stores had been only 30%.

Senator Prescott was in favor of the pre-convention primary as a means of decreasing the chances for unintelligent voting on the part of the public.

Representative Barrows declared that women were in every way suited for jury service, and were more qualified to judge cases immediately concerning women than were men. "Women are not crying for jury service," she said, "it is jury service which is crying for women."

Representative Shanahan was convinced that Compulsory Automobile Insurance was the only way to protect the public, but admitted that the laws still could be improved. CHRISTMAS CAROLS. Massachusetts is to enjoy a tremendous revival of the picturesque custom of out-of-doors carolling, is the prediction of Mrs. Florence Harris Schroeder, of Needham, State chairman of Music for the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. In cooperation with Mrs. Walter H. Woods, of Brookline, State chairman of the Division of War Veterans, the Music Division, headed by Mrs. Schroeder, has planned a statewide Christmas carolling program among Clubs and choruses.

Mrs. May Fiske Hoffman, president of the Federation Choral Society, announces a program of traditional Christmas carols, supplemented by a group of little-known Polish carols, to be sung on Beacon Hill, Boston, Christmas eve, led by George Sawyer Dunham. They will visit a number of shut-ins and elderly folks, and will be glad to make additional visits on request.

The Somerville Woman's Glee Club, Mrs. Lottie Griffin Stevens, conductor, will give an evening of carols and folk music of other lands, in costume, on the 23rd, at the Soldiers' Home, Chelsea.

The Glee Club of the Young Woman's Club of Winthrop will sing carols at the Marine Hospital, on the 22nd, under the direction of Mrs. T. G. Hetherington.

The Swampscott Woman's Club Choral Class, Mrs. Stephen R. Davis, chairman, will sing the same evening at Chelsea Naval Hospital, while in Bedford Mrs. Schroeder will direct her home chorus, the New Century Club of Needham, at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital.

Y. M. C. A.

The mid-winter Reunion of the Campers, Leaders, and Parents will be held on Monday, December 28th. The Banquet will be served by a caterer and addresses and toasts will follow.

Dick Clapp, who was awarded the Camp Cup and also the Best All-Round Cnp, will speak for the boys. His subject is "What Camp Frank A. Day Means to Me." Mr. Leon Smith of the Dad's Club will speak from a Dad's viewpoint. A member of the Camp Committee will give an address to the parents and campers. Plans and changes of equipment will also be announced at this time.

The entertainment will be given by Mr. Thor Rylander of Auburndale. Mr. Rylander is a well known magician and sleight of hand entertainer. Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Director of the Camp, will tell the boys about the 1932 season and will receive applications for the next year. Many are already making requests for places at camp and it has been an early registering camp for the past few seasons.

Camp Frank A. Day holds a very enviable record in camping. It is rated highly by the Camping Movement. Under the direction of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, its character development plan of activities and its religious influence make it an enjoyable and profitable place for the boys of Newton and vicinity.

Parents, Campers, Counselors, and Prospective Campers with their Parents are invited to this mid-year activity.

Christmas Party

The Annual Christmas Party of the Boys' Division will be held on Friday, December 18th, at 7:00 p. m. The Committee, Lyman Hutchins, Jr., J. Dale Reitz, Marvin B. Perry, Jr., and Harold Murphy, have planned the program for the party and for the vacation period. Each member attending the party will bring a present. These gifts will be opened at the party, used for a few moments, and then rewrapped and given to the Newton Welfare Bureau for distribution. The Christmas tree and decorations which will be in use in the Boys' Department during the Christmas period have also been donated by the Junior Clubs. During the vacation period there will be special programs each day.

Junior Clubs

The Junior Clubs have started and are planning the biggest year they ever had in Club work. The Stamp Club which meets every Friday at 4 p. m., under the direction of Mr. Percy Lewis is also meeting with big success.

During the past few weeks the Boys' Division has put in handicraft work in the form of Plywood Carving. Many boys have already made tie racks, wall plaques, and Flower Pot Stands for Christmas presents. They also have the opportunity to make Stationery Stands and Playing Card Holders.

Senior Basketball

The Y. M. C. A. Senior Basketball Team defeated Somerville Y. M. C. A., 45 to 30, Saturday at the Newton "Y" gymnasium in a suburban league game. The game was well played and interesting all through. The following Newton players contributed to the scoring: Mahler, Earle, McDonald, Lansed, Kohler, Benson, Robbins, Clarke, and Joyce. For Somerville: Hamilton, Craig, Dockrey, Hoff, Perry, Wiggins, McKay, LeBaron, Barry, Woodworth and March did the scoring.

The Newton Team is tied with Wakefield and Melrose for second place in the Y. M. C. A. Suburban League. Wakefield plays at the Newton gym on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Junior Basketball

The "Y" Junior Basketball Team was defeated by the strong Lowell team 44-23 at Newton last Saturday afternoon. The Junior Team will play Wakefield on the Newton Court Wednesday evening at 7 p. m.

Senior Swimming Team

The Y. M. C. A. Senior Swimming team has been preparing for the meet with Providence Wednesday evening. The following Newton swimmers will take part: James Gallagher, Relay, 100 and 220 yard swims; Cushman Clapp, 40 and 100 yard swims; Raynelmas, Relay, Breast Stroke, and Back Stroke; Leo Neville, Diving, Relay, and Back Stroke; McCarthy, Diving and 220 yard swim. The seniors will swim every Wednesday evening, meeting teams from Y. M. C. A.s all over Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Junior Swimming

The Junior Team met defeat at the hands of the Lowell Juniors Saturday evening in the local swimming pool. Regan started for Lowell while Anderson, Lovell, R. Gallagher, Smith and Shaw started for the losers.

Fellowship Club

Mr. Roy Edwards of the Basley Lumber Company spoke last week at the Fellowship Club. His subject was "Lumber." Mr. Edwards is a very interesting speaker and many stayed until a late hour asking questions. The speaker next week will be Mr. Max Singer, Finger Print Expert at Police Headquarters, Boston.

STONE INSTITUTE ASKS ASSISTANCE

Stone Institute and Home for Aged People of Newton Upper Falls has issued an appeal for funds with which to support the 25 aged people who are constantly being cared for by the Home. Contributions so far this year lag $1500 behind the amount which had been contributed at this time last year. The trustees are dependent upon public generosity for the funds with which to balance their budget. The officers are as follows: Charles E. Riley, President; Seward W. Jones, Vice President; William H. Rice, Secretary; Clara E. Frost, Matron. Pledges and checks, large and small, may be sent to Albert P. Carter, Treasurer, 104 Highland avenue, Newtonville, Mass.

GUEST NIGHT OF SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R. HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Husbands, daughters and friends of members of Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, attended with great anticipation the Guest Night, which is an annual event of the Chapter, on Wednesday evening, the 9th of December, the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Gregory, of Newtonville, being thronged, in spite of the snow and rain of a stormy evening.

The meeting was opened shortly after 8 o'clock, with the salute to the flag, the regent, Mrs. John F. Dunton, presiding. She welcomed the guests with appropriate reference to the thirty-fifth anniversary of the Chapter, and mentioned the highlights of achievement, and a few of the noteworthy members who have made the Chapter one of power in the community. She then introduced Professor Henry K. Rowe, of Newton Theological Institution, and author of the Tercentenary History of Newton, issued by the city last year, who spoke on "Newton's Part in the Revolutionary War." He brought out many interesting facts as to the early families, and early town records, as background for information as to the numbers of descendants of such settlers as John Fuller and Edward Jackson who served in the Revolution of 1775; and then led aptly to the modern problem of service to humanity through world peace; each period in history having its leaders in rightful action of the moment.

In lighter vein were the impersonations of the evenings' entertainers, Mr. Peter Murray, who gave character sketches of the Scotch, Irish and English, also of the Hebrews, while mimicking very cleverly such actors as Harry Lauder and Denham Thompson, and others. Before the meeting and during the reception which followed, a delightful program of choice selections was rendered by Mrs. Mina G. Del Castillo's trio. Mrs. Del Castillo is well-known in the woman's club world, through her work in the State Federation of Women's Club, and equally known for her musical attainments. A reception followed the program, with members of the Executive Board and guests in the receiving line, namely, Mrs. John F. Dunton, regent; Mrs. Walter C. Whitney, vice-regent; Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, honored guest as first vice-president general of the D. R. Society, daughter of the Revolution, a member of Sarah Hull Chapter; Miss Emma Downing Coolidge, recording secretary; and Mrs. Robert J. Estabrook, corresponding secretary. Other members of the Executive Board, which were hostesses for the evening, who did the honors of serving delicious refreshments, were Mrs. Sidney R. Porter and Mrs. M. E. Gleason who presided at the tables; Dr. Marietta P. Reid, treasurer; Mrs. George N. Putnam and Mrs. Jesse A. Rogers, councillors; Mrs. John G. Gidding, historian; and Mrs. Howard R. Mason, auditor. Daughters of members also assisted in serving.

Members of the Chapter are reminded that boxes of delicacies and gifts are to be sent to war veterans in hospitals and to others, for Christmas, and they should leave their gifts of books, fruit, candies, neckties, games, or money, with Mrs. George N. Putnam, 104 Vernon street, Newton, at the first of the week, Monday or Tuesday, the 21st and 22nd.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton celebrated its 35th birthday at its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 14, at the Chapter House, the regent, Mrs. Liverus H. Howe, presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read and approved, Mrs. Howe called the attention of the members to the food sale and Christmas sale being carried on by the House Committee and asked for their patronage, and also to Mrs. Holden's exhibition and sale of the beautiful work done by the Kentucky mountaineers, consisting of quilts, bags, coats, etc. The regent then thanked the members for the very generous response to her request for gifts for the veterans.

Mrs. F. W. Bakeman reported two more afghans ready to send to the veterans at Rutland. Mrs. E. P. Goodman said she would be very glad to give the names of veterans to anyone who would like to send a personal Christmas greeting.

The meeting was adjourned and the birthday and Christmas party began with the singing of carols. Miss Emily F. Jordan at the piano. Tea was served by the hostesses. A large birthday cake with 35 stars on the top, on one side D. A. R., and on the other L. J. C., was a delightful reminder of the day. On leaving each one was presented with a candle and requested to light it on Christmas eve in memory of the Christ Child.

The hostesses were: Mrs. A. D. Salinger, chairman; Mrs. A. S. Pratt, Mrs. F. W. Pray, Mrs. E. F. Prescott, Mrs. J. H. Rand, Mrs. R. B. Rand, Mrs. J. L. Richards, Mrs. H. P. Richmond, Mrs. H. A. Robbins, Mrs. O. L. Schofield, Mrs. R. K. Shattuck, Mrs. F. M. Sherman, Mrs. F. S. Sherman, Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. W. S. Smyth, Mrs. W. C. Starkweather, Mrs. G. H. Talbot.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER

Mrs. Charles E. Beane was hostess to the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., and guests, at her home, 5 Pine Crest road, Newton Centre, on Tuesday, Dec. 8, with sixty present.

The meeting was called to order at 2:15 with the regent, Mrs. Albion Brown, in the chair. During the meeting the chapter voted 10 dollars to Ellis Island, 10 dollars to one of the pupils of the American International College at Springfield and one dollar to the Newton Chapter, Red Cross, for an annual membership.

After the transaction of all business Mrs. Ruthford of Newton Highlands sang several solos. Her beautiful voice always delights her audiences and this

K. OF C.

Announcement of his Committee on New Members was made last week by Peter W. Collins, Supreme Lecturer, and Chairman of the Committee. All sections of the city are represented on the Committee and it is expected that this group of men will be most instrumental in securing the prescribed number of new members which are necessary to fulfill the slogan, "Give Fifty Thousand New Members to the Order in 1932." The quota of one hundred new members has been established and already the number applying for admission is quite large.

Reservations for the Wm. C. Prout Memorial Track Meet can be made with Chairman Edwin Heislain, N. N. 0455-W. Many have applied for tickets and it is expected that more will attend this year's Meet than any other year.

The official visitation to the Council will be made by District Deputy F. J. Moynihan of Roslindale at one of the two meetings in January. Plans for the evening include an address by Secretary Joseph Martin. Mr. Martin has covered every State in the country and is well versed on the various phases of Columbianism.

A monster Stag Turkey Party will be held in Elks' Hall on Monday evening. Any man in the community may attend. Lecturer J. Neale McDonald is in charge of the Party and it is expected that several hundred will be present.

CHARITY BRIDGE

Mrs. H. Reginald Bankart of Newtonville is chairman of the committee which is at work on plans for a charity bridge to be given for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest Association of the City of Newton. The bridge is to be held on Monday, January 25th, at 2:15 p. m. at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse. Mrs. E. V. Alley is treasurer of the committee, and Mrs. Charles H. Cobb is secretary. Mrs. LeRoy C. Percy will handle the publicity. Mrs. Watling L. West and Mrs. Roger E. Hall will be in charge of the sale of candy and nuts while Mrs. Charles E. Bailey will arrange for the tea which will follow the bridge. The assisting committee includes Mesdames Guy Winslow, G. F. Earnshaw, Donald E. Rust, Walter Hartstone, Constance Kemper, Donald Wheeler, Roy Argersinger, Walter McGill, John Perry, Harold Sherman, E. P. Offit, Gardner Walworth, Ernest Cobb, Mabel Webber, Robert Emerson, Fred A. Tennant, Morris Dennison, Harry Baldwin, Frederick W. Harding, Gordon Wilkes, W. F. Warner, William Raye, John F. Capron, Orville Forte, George B. H. Macomber, Edward A. Andrews, A. D. Salinger, Lindsey Hooper, George Willard Smith, William C. Anderson, Clinton Tylee, C. A. Boutelle.

ANNUAL HOLIDAY DANCE

The Annual Holiday Formal will be held on Christmas Eve, December 24th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse, where Mrs. Charles W. Hawkes, Mrs. Albert W. Muther, Mrs. Frank A. Shute, Mrs. Grosvenor D. Marcy, Mrs. Metcalf Melcher, Mrs. Earl G. Manning, Mrs. Edgar J. Smith and Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne as hostesses. A gay evening of dancing, novelties and refreshments has been planned and a glorious opportunity is presented to renew friendships in the younger set in the Newtons. The music will be supplied by Meyer Davis who will present his Copley-Plaza Orchestra of ten pieces under the direction of Warren Hull. The latter, who has played on Broadway in juvenile leads such as Joe Cook's "Fine and Dandy" and "Joe Marie," will entertain with novelty skits in singing and dancing. Mr. Edwin S. Drowne, Jr., Mr. Frederick Hill and Mr. Edwin Smith form the committee in charge of arrangements.

W. C. T. U.

A number of the members of the West Newton W. C. T. U. will go to Boston next week to help fill baskets for the sick and shut-ins. They are also sending a box of good things to go into the baskets. This work is done at 14 Ashburton place.

was no exception. She was very ably accompanied by Mrs. Miller of Newton Highlands.

Mrs. Wallace Leonard, secretary of Sailors' Haven Aid, then spoke most interestingly on "Sailors in the Port of Boston." Her address was listened to very attentively and thoroughly enjoyed.

Following this speaker, Mr. Arthur McCarthy, Post 32, American Legion, of Newton, was introduced. He told much of his welfare work among the veterans and of the great need of more help.

This meeting was for the benefit of the veterans in the hospitals. Gifts of clothing, gloves, neckties, tobacco, cigarettes, stationery, money and anything one could think of, to make some invalid veteran happy at Christmas time, were crammed into the bright red stockings made for that purpose. These presents will be sorted and given where they are most needed. This work has been done for several years by the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, and as each Christmas comes it is more interesting. This year has been the best yet and a great deal of credit is due the chapter for its success.

Later, refreshments were served in the dining room by the hostesses, assisted by her committee, Mrs. Wardwell, chairman, Miss Hannah L. Bond, Miss Geneva Brown, Miss Abbie Clark, Mrs. F. A. Dodge, Mrs. E. F. Freese, Mrs. C. A. Bassett and Mrs. R. J. Henderson.

Next Thursday, at 2 P. M. bridge party will be held at the homes of Mrs. C. O. Bassett, 50 Hyde street, and Mrs. C. E. Beane, 5 Pine Crest road. These parties are sponsored by the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter and are to raise money for the benefit of the veterans. With the money that was brought in at the Christmas meeting fifty dollars will be added to the stockings to help make a real Christmas for the World War veterans in the hospitals.

ClubThe West Newton Woman's Educational Club had the enjoyable experience of aiding in worthwhile educational work on Wednesday morning,
December 9th, when the president, Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, presented on behalf of the Club, to the pupils of the Levi F. Warren Junior High School, a gift of books for use in the library of the school.Dr. Harry B. Bernstein, noted plastic surgeon, educator, and artist, presented a talk of unusual interest to the members and guests of the Club at the meeting on Friday, the 11th.Dr. Bernstein combines vocation and avocation in the practice of plastic surgery, and believes that to recreate the contour of youth, the mind, as well as the body, must be rejuvenated.
He told his audience to limber up their souls and stretch their understanding when they exercised their bodies, remembering that spinach and forgiveness are two of the best beauty aids.
The woman who is making the grade today, as he put it, possesses imagination; she has an objective, and knows where she is going. Her interest is in something beside herself. Of course, she gives her attention to fastidious grooming, but thinks of her clothes as a frame for the picture—herself.
Each individual's face is her very own; a mirror and a monument to her thoughts, ideals, and dreams, stated the lecturer.As he brought forward, the proper state of mind can accomplish much, but, of course, it cannot stay the hand of time, and it is then that plastic surgery comes into its own.Dr. Bernstein was showered with questions—all of which he answered in a helpful and entertaining manner, citing examples from his many successful operations.Preceding the lecture, Miss Priscilla Hay, daughter of Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, first vice president of the Club, rendered several piano selections which received appreciative applause.At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served by the Hospitality committee. The table, adorned with a festive little Christmas tree, was presided over by Mrs. Frances E. Nowers and Mrs. George H. Jackson.West Newton Junior Educational ClubThe meeting of December 9th of the West Newton Junior Educational Club was an open meeting to the Senior Club. Many members of the Senior Club were present, and their president, Mrs. D. E. Brackett, gave a short talk on the aims of the Club and suggested that the two Clubs become better acquainted. It was suggested by the Senior Club that the Year Book for the West Newton Junior Educational Club be entered in the Statewide Federation contest open to the Junior Clubs for the best Year Books.Mrs. John S. Franklin, director, suggested for the Club's Charity work for this year, that they support a child, as has always been done in the past.
The members of the Club heartily endorsed this.Two new members were voted in:
Miss Betty Mills, and Miss Gertrude
Welch.Miss Constance Dort and Miss Phebe Giles had charge of the entertainment and refreshments. Mr. S.
Morton Smith, an extremely clever young magician, entertained the Club by many forms of magic that won the hearty applause of all members. Refreshments, consisting of chocolate cane, coffee, brownies, and pepper-minis, were served.Mrs. Paul E. Elicker has kindly consented to coach the play "Scoops," which is to be given for the benefit of the Newton Unemployed Fund. Several parts were recast and the Club is expecting great things of its dramatic group.The first rehearsal of the play was held Monday, the 14th of December, at the home of Miss Phebe Giles, of 243 Waltham street, West Newton, at 7:30 o'clock.Newton Community ClubThe Newton Community Club held its meeting on Thursday, December 10th, in the Underwood School Auditorium.Through the courtesy of Hubbard's Drug Store, motion pictures were shown of H. P. Hood's Ice Cream Plant.In the program for the afternoon musical selections were rendered by Mr. Claire Leonard, and Mrs. Raymond Greene, a talented Club member, gave an interesting talk and exhibit of costumes from different countries she has visited, in which display members of the Club and others took part, including Miss Gladys Rogers, Mrs.
Laurence Shaw, Miss Faith Wing,
Miss Emma Montanari, Miss Martha
Wing, Miss Doris Lockwood, Miss Helen Bradshaw, Master Bobbie Furman, Miss Bessie Bacon and Miss Marguerite White.There were many features, also, besides the program, which appealed to members looking for Christmas ideas.
Among them, beautiful etchings, ex-hibited by the Newton Glass Company, drew attention.The Conservation committee had two tables of appropriate Christmas decorations.Many orders were taken for Christmas wreaths by the Girl Scout Troop Committee.The Food Sale, which was for the benefit of the Philanthropic Fund, was well attended.The refreshment table was very attractively decorated. Those who served were Mrs. Robert Bushnell, Mrs. Walter Whitney, Mrs. John X.
Nolen and Mrs. Russell G. Carter.Shakespeare ClubSaturday afternoon, December 12, Festivities were held at the home of the Shakespeare Club's Christmas
Festivities were held at the home of Mrs. William E. Moore, 55 Hillside road, in charge of Miss Virginia Drew.Mrs. Moore's home was resplendent with Miss Drew's decorations—Christmas greens, a scintillating Christmas tree, candles and red roses.The program was most interesting, the Shakespearean Contest prize being carried off by Mrs. Frederick L.
Keith.Then followed a Musical Contest in which sacred, patriotic, national and various other melodies were rendered on the piano by Miss Drew and Mr.
Alan McIntosh. The president, Mrs.
H. E. Durgin, won this prize, being able to name the greatest number of these selections.The contest on notable personages of the world was won by Mrs. C. E.
Severance.Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, a past president and honorary member, poured following was the distribution of the exchange of gifts between the members by Santa Claus.At the close of a most enjoyable afternoon, Miss Virginia Drew presented each member of the Club with a remembrance from her mother, who had held the various offices of the Club, this being a framed picture of some famous place visited by Mrs.

against their background of hemlock and cedar; rustic baskets filled with silvered branches and holding large Christmas candles; real and artificial mistletoe, Santa Clauses and tiny trees were exhibited before the Garden Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club last Monday afternoon. Mrs.
Charles S. Grover of Vista Avenue, chairman of the Group, as hostess, Fraser, of Wellesley, who gave a talk on "House Decoration for the terior decorations, which included the use of evergreens, helpful hints for mantel, table, and tree trimming, illustrating how easily and at what little expense it could be accomplished.A social hour, with refreshments, followed, during which Mr. Fraser answered questions on any phase of gardening or of decorations in which his audience was interested.Auburndale Review ClubSelections from Chinese poetry, read by Mrs. John E. Williams, opened the program of the Auburndale Review Club last Tuesday morning, when it met with Mrs. Nelson Freeman, of Lexington street. Mrs. Williams first read several selections in blank verse, the first, "Individuality," dating back to 2500 B.C. Two others, "Harmony," and "Affinity," were products of the first century. She closed with one written by her son, Richard Williams, now a senior at Oberlin. This poem,

"Threads of Chinese Tapestry," received the first prize three years ago, at which time the author was a member of the Newton High School.The book reviews followed. Mrs.
J. Franklin Rider, chairman of the morning, reviewed Lady Hosi's "Portrait of a Chinese Lady," the characters being taken from the author's Chinese friends in the Southern part of China, where Lady Hosi, an Englishwoman, spent many years. "The Good Earth," by Pearl S. Buck, was discussed by Mrs. Albert Purser, who explained that the author, known in private life as Mrs. John L. Buck, born in China to American Missionaries, was a guest in Auburndale two years ago. Her descriptions of Chinese people and customs in this book are true to life. The last paper dealt with Korea, and was read by Mrs.
William P. DeWitt. Her book was "The Grass Root," by Yungchill Kang, and is an autobiography of the author, who has risen from an obscure birth, unaided by his family, to his present position as a member of the University of New York.During the business session preceding the program, the president, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, read an appeal from the "Home For Christmas Committee for Disabled Soldiers," and the Club voted to contribute ten dollars, which will enable one of the patients at the State Hospital to see his family at Christmas.Newtonville Woman's ClubChristmas cheer and happiness glad-dened the hearts of sixty small children at a party given then by the Newtonville Woman's Club, on Tuesday, December 15th.This Christmas Party has been a custom for several years, but because of existing conditions the number entertained was raised to sixty last year and the same plan was adopted again this year.William H. Fish, Jr., a son of one of the members, had charge of the main feature on the program, a Marionette Show of "Jack and the Beanstalk." These puppets, representing the characters, were made and operated by him, and his very clever manipulation of these marionettes delightened both the little guests and the children of Club members, who were also invited.Before the show and between the acts, a hurdy-gurdy, played by Tom Mallone, added much amusement to the afternoon's program.After the entertainment, another treat awaited the guests. A heavily-and she introduced Mr. Albert A. laden Christmas tree, hung not only with decorations, but with gifts for each one, was lighted, and to everybody's surprise, Santa Claus himself appeared with two little helpers,
"Twinedee" and "Twinededum."
Santa Claus was impersonated by Miss Marion Drew Bassett, and the sprightly little brownies were Alice
S. Kelley, "Twinedee," and Paul H.
Elicker, "Twinededum." The brownies assisted Santa in giving out the presents: dolls to the girls, engines and airplanes to the boys, besides a surprise bundle of clothing to each.
A substantial supper was then served to the special guests, and after playing games, each child was taken by car to his or her home having had a happy afternoon of Christmas joy.The Christmas Party this year was in charge of Mrs. Howard M. Waybright, and an able committee, all of the arrangements being supervised by them. The Flower committee, with Mrs. Walter N. Keene as chairman, decorated the tree. The supper was served to the children by the members of the Social committee, of which Mrs. A. William Krause is chairman. Miss Marian D. Bassett was responsible for the selection of the little guests and the Club again expresses its thanks to the local firemen who reconditioned the toys which were distributed to these children. All these committees and workers united to make this one of the many outstanding philanthropic works carried on by this club.Newton Upper Falls Woman's ClubThe Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club held its Annual Christmas Party
Monday night, December 14th, in the Emerson School Kindergarten, Mrs.
Donald Finchbaugh was in charge of the evening's program.Mrs. Walter H. Woods was the guest of the evening. Mrs. Woods is chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans of the State Federation, and gave a very interesting and informal talk on her work with the Veterans. The donations for the Veterans' Stockings were received at this time.Christmas carols were sung, and games were played, after which delicious refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee. A large number were in attendance and all joined in the holiday spirit of the party.Newton Highlands Woman's ClubThe rain did not affect the large attendance at the Creche Exhibit in the Club Workshop, Sunday afternoon and evening, December 13th. The exhibit was free to all in the community and even the smallest children had to be coaxed away from the creches, which were very artistic and beautiful.In the afternoon and again in the evening Mr. Ernest J. Weaver gave a very interesting and instructive talk on creches and their history.The exhibitors of the creches were Mrs. Alexander G. Caldwell, Mrs. Donald D. McKay, Mrs. Ward I. Cornell, Mrs. Don J. Edwards, Mrs. W. Herbert Stetson, and Mrs. Ernest J.

trees, were exhibited by Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn, Mrs. Percy I. Merry, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Drowne, Mrs. Ernest J.
Weaver, Miss Harriet Marcy, Miss
Eleanor Clark, Mrs. Donald D. Mc-Kay, Miss Ruthena Warren and Miss and the Club chorus sang Christmas carols followed by community singing of carols in the evening.DATES OF NEXT MEETINGS AND

WEEKS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Marionette Club presented the Jolly Capers Marionettes in a show entitled "White Snow" at assembly December 9. Mr. Donald Angier of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross presented the school with a Red Cross flag at the same assembly. The flag was received on behalf of the school by Barbara Blake.

The school expects to have a good varsity basketball team this winter. Games have started already between the class rooms and "home-room" classes.

The officers of the Linoleum Block Club are as follows: Anne Livingstone, president; Norman Sharp, treasurer; John Lynch, vice president; Peggy Berkshire, secretary. The Club is financed by a nickel a month dues. The making of a linoleum block picture is very interesting. The picture of which a print is to be made is placed in a solution which loosens the ink. It is then placed against a linoleum block and they are both put between two blocks of wood and placed in a powerful press. This transfers the picture from the piece of paper to the linoleum block. Then the picture is chiseled out from the print with a small scooped shaped tool.

The purpose of the Garden Club under Miss Sylvester is to get pupils interested in beautifying the home and in knowing its history. When weather permits they go out and study nature. When pupils have finished a certain number of lessons, Miss Sylvester presents them with a badge, which is considered a great honor. The children are making blue prints of leaves and have a fine collection. The Club has its own little plot in the school yard and is already planning what is to be in there. The girls are making original flower pot designs and the boys are making trellises and stands for them.

The officers of the Aviation Club are William Diamond, president; Louis Andrews, vice president; and Albert Billings, secretary. The boys in the Aviation Club are making model airplanes that will fly. They make different types of airplanes such as the bi-plane and the under-cabin. Mr. Gulesian, their supervisor, says they are progressing well. The Club also has a committee of boys who give advice about the different kinds of planes which the boys are to make in club.

Sponsored by Mr. Perrault, the Camera Club meetings are held in room 104 every Thursday from 1:29 to 2:15. The President is Allan Watts. The club has various committees, such as the pin hole camera, the frame, the colored picture, and the photographers' news.

After the business meetings the Club is turned over to the activity program. The reporters go out in search of interesting subjects to photograph. Collections of photographs are made; some of which will be used in the school publication. Various colored snapshot books are also being made. The members are a very interested and active group.

Burton McMullin is the president. Allan Roberts, vice president, and George Adcock, secretary of the Bicycle Club. The club takes bicycle hikes twice a month. Donald Kitchen is leader of these hikes. Two hikes have been taken. One to Waban Hill and another to Newton Highlands.

The members of the Club prepare talks on how to ride bicycles and the need for safety. They also talk on the construction of the brakes and bicycle parts. Mr. Poole is the faculty adviser of the club.

DAY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

A new practical arts course, open to seventh grade boys, has been added to the F. A. Day curriculum on "Camp Maintenance." The boys, guided by Miss Pratt and Miss Joy, are learning how to care for themselves in an out-of-doors camp, how to cook wholesome foods, how to mend their clothes, how to care for camping equipment and tackle, how to make the best provisions for sanitation. Although the course is still in its beginning stages, it is proving most successful.

The reaction to the visit of Captain Harry Hillman and Coach "Chuck" Winterburn of Leland Stanford University continues to make itself felt in the school. Boys and girls alike are eager to put into practice the principle of team co-operation suggested by Coach Winterburn.

Honor Roll

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The closing session of the First Term of the Norumbega District School of Religious Education took place on last Monday evening at the Newtonville M. E. Church. Announcement was made that the Second Term will begin on Monday, January 11, 1932, and the following courses will be given: Story Telling, The Prophets, World Vision or Outlook.

Each of these three courses will be given two periods each evening, for the School will last only six instead of the usual ten evenings. This new plan will make it possible for each class to hold twelve sessions, so that members of the class may receive credit, if they care for it, from the International Council of Religious Education.

From these three courses, teachers of any age in the church school may find teaching material, facts, stories, incidents and illustrations that will enrich and make more interesting and practical the church school lessons being taught on Sunday.

REFUSED PERMIT TO KEEP HENS

The Newton Board of Health has refused to grant a permit to Joseph Taylor of 34 Ripley street, Newton Centre, to keep hens at that address. Taylor wanted to keep hens and neighbors protested. Among the objections raised against keeping hens in a thick settled neighborhood are—that hens keep people awake, trespass into nearby gardens and that rats, vermin and skunks are attracted to hen yards.

Eighth Grades—Room 11, Lena Coella, Library, Polly Brown, Margaret Clark, Richard Adams, Room 15, Catherine Hayes, William Krause, Porter Jarrell, Room 18, Tony Proia, John Rechel, Dorothy Robinson, Virginia Schwer, Room 24, Antoinette Myer, Room 25, Alice Drury, Raymond Duprez, Frederic Fairfield, Eleanor Farnum, Nellie Frederick, Eleanor Gibson, Gordon Graves, Room 28, Cynthia Steltz, Marion Uline, Floyd Walker.

Ninth Grade—Room 9, Alfred Amendola, Guido Coletti, Gertrude Bartlett, Muriel Bruce, Audrey Holman, Room 21, Mary Marshall, Ruth McKusick, Bethiah Morrill, Donald Palller, Room 21, Robert Perry, Room 22, James Clelland, Ellis Donovan, Grace Rangnow, Marguerite Robertson, Carol Smith, James Stewart, Loring Thompson, William Ward, Donald Whitney, Gale Wisbach, Room 23, Barbara Hastings, Doris Houchins, Barbara Kimball, Marjorie MacMillan, Room 26, Arlene Carroll, Dorothy Chapman, Joanne Clare, Carolyn Everts, Julia Flag.

At the last assembly held in the auditorium, the Day Junior High School had the good fortune to hear Miss Bragg, who, as representative of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, presented the school a Red Cross flag which was accepted by Joyce Wheeler, president of the Red Cross Club. After the ceremony came a play, "Songs for Goings," presented by Miss Johnston's home room assembly committee. The characters were as follows: Marjorie Gilbert, the daughter; Henry Merrill, the son; Esther Heywood, the mother; Robert Beebe, the father; Doris Houchins, the grandmother; Eleanor Hanlon, the maid. The cast is indebted to Mrs. Gilbert, Marjorie's mother, who coached them so successfully. Between the two scenes Mr. Tanner played selections on his saxophone. A letter of appreciation was recently received from Ruth Chapin, secretary of the Newton Welfare Bureau, expressing thanks for the 21 baskets given to the Bureau at Thanksgiving.

The Seventh Grade General Language divisions were fortunate in having the opportunity to see some splendid slides on Roman life in connection with their study of Rome.

Eighth Grade Latin classes have been having a contest in the declension of "bonus bona bonum." At present Lloyd Walker, having declined it in 12 seconds, is champion. With William Hudson, the president, in the chair, the Eighth Grade held an unusually interesting class meeting on December 10. At a short business meeting it was decided that part of the class dues should be devoted to the purchase of a tree for the school grounds. Entertainment was furnished by the "Wendell Palmas Jazz Orchestra," composed of Wendell Palmas, Carmen Colella, Jerry Marrocco, Domenico Bartolomucci and Francis Palmieri. After a short intermission dancing followed, accompanied by the school radio and the jazz orchestra.

In spite of bad weather members of the Day, Adams, Horace Mann and Claffin schools, about 1200 strong, attended two showings of "The Legend of the Lightning," presented by the Tatterman Marionettes in the Day auditorium. This charming Indian story, so cleverly enacted, thrilled the audience with its realistic thunder, the shrill cries of the eagle, the chattering of the squirrels, the lovely scenery and the quaint puppet characters who acted in life-like movements.

Warren Junior High School

Warren is now turning its attention to basketball. The varsity had a practice game with the 1931 Alumni this week and won 26-12. The girls' varsity soccer team lost to Weeks, 3-1. The second team, however, came

GIRL SCOUTS

Newton is following out the Christmas message urging Girl Scouts to help spread the Christmas spirit, whatever their circumstances and surroundings, which has been issued by Mrs. Frederick Edey, national president of the Girl Scouts, to the 275,000 members of the organization throughout the United States.

"Whatever our enforced economies, and who is not being economical these days, we can all afford to be cheerful and spread abroad the happy Christmas spirit," says Mrs. Edey. "After all the event which gives significance to the festival took place in a humble stable at Bethlehem, and the Child who was born lay in a stone manger, warmed only by the breath of the cattle about Him."

"This is to me essentially a season of homely family gatherings, of rejoicing over what is received, however small, and of giving without stint of time and trouble. We can all give good humor, and there are not so many of us who cannot afford to put some little thing in what might otherwise be a limp stocking. Let us try to see that no child's stocking hangs empty by the fireside on this Christmas morning. Indeed I know none will, if the Girl Scouts can help it. I am awfully proud of the generous and practical way in which they are preparing to make others happy, well-fed and warm this holiday time. But, even if there are some who cannot take part in these preparations, there is no one who cannot be gay. So let us all join in the games and happy gatherings about the Christmas trees. Let us sing our carols, and help fulfill the wish that I send to everyone of you. I shall send it in the form of a little verse, not my own—

"May the giver of gifts give unto you
That which is good and that which is true
The will to help and the courage to do
And a heart that can sing the whole day through."

The December meeting of the Officers' Association was a Christmas party which was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Sloane. A very dejected Santa Claus arrived with an empty sack, but the officers were "prepared" and he departed, much cheered, with a bulging one. Santa took the gifts to the Welfare Bureau for distribution.

Mr. Sloane entertained the officers with moving pictures in which the officers were most interested. Animals of gum-drop origin emerged from the quick fingers of the officers into a contest whereby the best looking one's maker received a prize.

The officers then turned their talents to Christmas Carol singing which was followed by refreshments.

One touch of the starter, and the motor roared.

Stop-watches clicked in the bitter, freezing air of the cold room.

And they read 1/2 second!

Lightning starting made a reality, even on the coldest days! Not just a claim or a phrase.

We believe the New Winter TYDOL to be without an equal. And to get factual proof for this belief, TYDOL was tested against well-known competitive gasolines.

All we ask is trial in your car.

And we believe that your motor, or any motor, will lose its sputter, its wheeze, its long, gear-grinding start—instantly.

Always super-power, high-test, anti-knock. Now—split-second starting at no extra cost.

Financial Report Of The Relief Committee On Unemployment

Work Being Supported By Generous Contributions From Citizens—Nearly $50,000 Received

Financial report of the Mayor's Relief Committee for the fiscal year ending October 1, 1931, was made public today by Mayor Sinclair Weeks on receipt from the Chairman of the Committee, Leon B. Rogers. The report shows that the work of aiding unemployed men and women in Newton is well supported by generous contributions of citizens and carefully and wisely expended.

Total receipts for the year amounted to $49,484.40 and the expenditures totaled $46,258.37, leaving a balance on hand of $3,083.56. The money was used principally for paying the wages of unemployed men doing labor work, for food and clothing distributed directly and through the Newton Welfare Bureau to needy families and for loans to so-called "white collar" men unable to find work of any kind. Mr. Leon B. Rogers, head of the committee, and every one of his associates worked throughout the year without a single penny of salary and are still carrying on the work without compensation. The clerical employees in the Relief Committee offices were secured from the unemployed list, so that the organization functioned as a 100% relief agency. The report, which covers the activities of the Committee from Nov. 5, 1930, to October 31, 1931, was audited by a firm of certified public accountants and found to be correct in every detail.

Loans were made to persons whom the committee felt would repay the money over a period of time. These loans are known to have saved many a home from being broken up. The total amount of "white-collar" loans amounted to $12,994.00 and this is one of the most satisfactory features of the Committee's work.

Because contributions of warm second-hand clothing were not sufficient to provide for the hundreds of needy children, especially during the colder days of last winter, the committee spent $2,532 for new clothing. This was distributed by the Newton Welfare Bureau. Other second-hand garments and shoes, given out by groups of women from representative Women's Clubs of the city, helped to make hundreds of youngsters comfortable.

Soon after the committee was organized, it was decided to distribute most of relief through the Newton Welfare Bureau. This organization has the experience and the trained investigators who know how to distribute aid where it will do the most good. The labor item was expended mostly for the cutting of wood from lots donated by private citizens and from the Boy Scout reservation at Nobscot, which was burned over two years ago. Through the Committee, approximately 850 to 900 cords of wood were delivered on orders issued from the Department of Public Welfare, the Newton Welfare Bureau, or the pastors of the various churches.

It is estimated that the wood so delivered would have cost at least $18 a cord, so there is a potential saving to the city of between $4,000 and $6,000. Besides the material saving, the Committee was able to create jobs for from 25 to 35 family men with dependents, which made it unnecessary for them to obtain any relief through the city or private organizations.

Details of the financial report are as follows:—

CELEBRATES ITS SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

On Monday evening, Dec. 14th the Newton Emblem Club No. 8 celebrated its sixth anniversary with an official visit from the Supreme President, Mrs. Bernard McHugh, of Watertown, and her suite.

The Newton Emblem Club presented Mrs. McHugh with a fitted suit case; the president of the Newton Emblem Club, Miss Florence Grogan, of West Newton with a beautiful set consisting of a necklace, ear rings and bracelet; Mrs. John Gordon, the first president of the club with a large bouquet of chrysanthemums and a past president, Mrs. Alice K. Burns with a bouquet of carnations.

After the presentations the following entertainment was enjoyed; a song, "Hail to You, Supreme President," by Miss Margaret Totten; several dance numbers were given by the Misses Ruth and June Nesbitt, Rosalie Noden, Amelia Murphy and Anita Elkins; Mrs. Edith McDonald played several saxophone selections; Miss Catherine Donahue sang a few songs and the financial secretary, Miss Theresa Caruso gave a reading. The Supreme President gave a fitting address as did several members of the Supreme Club. The evening closed with a buffet supper.

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE CHILD

Arakel Bilezikian of 204 North St., Newtonville, gave a quantity of blood in a transfusion yesterday at the Newton Hospital in an effort to save the life of his 4 year old son who was in a dying condition from scarlet fever. Little hope was given for the recovery of the child.

NEWTON EMBLEM CLUB TO HOLD WHIST PARTY

On Monday evening, Dec. 28th after the regular meeting the Newton Emblem Club members will hold their regular Christmas party. Miss Eleanor Mulcahy, chairlady of the entertainment committee has arranged a special program of entertainment. Refreshments will be served and gifts exchanged.

Kiwanians Bring Christmas To Boys

Hold Party at Working Boys' Home

Nearly 200 orphan boys of the Working Boys' Home of Newton Centre furnished a surprise for their hosts, the Newton Kiwanis Club, at a Christmas party in the home Tuesday noon by singing the "Builders' Song" and other rollicking Kiwanis airs. The youngsters, most of them from six to a dozen years old, sang the songs with all the vigor and swing of well-trained service club members. They had had only one day of rehearsal, which made their stunts all the more surprising. This feature of the party was one of the events of a jolly party at which the men had an even better time than the boys.

The Newton Kiwanians took along a caterer and to the boys and themselves served a bountiful turkey dinner with all the fixings. Dr. F. H. Paul, president of the club, presided, and introduced the speakers and entertainers, while Brother Fabian, superintendent of the home, presented some of his talented youngsters. One little fellow, with marked oratorical ability, thanked the Kiwanians for their interest and generosity and wished them all success and happiness in this season and prosperity in the New Year. Another boy, who had to be lifted to a table top so that those present could see him, offered a dramatic recital of the famous poem "Where Did You Get That Hat."

Professional entertainment was provided by "Sandy" McFarland, radio entertainer, who bowled the boys over with dialect stories and also sang some of his most popular compositions for them. Tabaldi and Antonelli, vaudeville piano and vocal team, pleased the little fellows with tunes for him in days ahead, ending joy and in his heart a wealth of sunlight, song, and love, as rich as that which he has unconsciously poured into the lives of some of us who have known him and loved him.

Supplementing the informal reception on Saturday will be a family dinner party next Sunday at which Mrs. Moore's wedding dress will be worn by her youngest daughter, Miss Helen Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be pleased to receive their friends on Sunday as well as on Saturday.

Newtonville Projects Supported By Ass'n

The regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held on Thursday evening, December 17th, at the home of Mr. G. W. Taylor, 30 Foster street.

Aside from the members of the committee there were present Alderman-elect Donald M. Hill, and Mr. C. R. Fowler, vice president of the Wilbur Associates, a local improvement association in West Newton.

After the reading of the reports of the secretary and the treasurer, it was voted to include with the next literature sent to members, the card of the Mayor's relief committee asking citizens to find work about their homes for the unemployed who apply to the Mayor's Relief Fund.

The matter of furnishing police protection to school children crossing Lowell avenue was discussed.

A committee which has been working with the Playground Department in regard to finding suitable recreation spaces for small children, especially—was continued. This committee also will handle the matter of a possible restriction to residents of Newton of skating privileges on local ponds.

The Association is carefully watching developments in connection with the building of the new City Hall, with the purpose of conserving and improving the appearance of surrounding areas.

The Committee ratified a donation for the Newtonville Community Christmas tree in Washington park, and also made a generous donation from its funds to the Newtonville quota of the Mayor's Relief Fund.

Several suggestions were made by committee members as to ways in which the village might be improved with the aid of workers who were (Continued on Page 4)

Newton Couple Wed Fifty-Five Years

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moore To Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Moore of 199 Church street, Newton, will observe their 55th wedding anniversary on Saturday, December 26. Mr. Moore was born in Pepperell and Mrs. Moore is a native of Bondsville, Massachusetts. They were married on December 26, 1876, at Ilion, New York, by Rev. L. Golden. They had 10 children, nine of whom are living. The children are Mrs. William C. Pickersgill, Newton Centre; Dr. Howard Moore, Miss Bertha Moore, Harold Moore, Newton; Walter Moore, West Newton; Mrs. Alexander B. McClelland, Allston; Mrs. Homer L. Welsh, Newton; Miss Helen Moore, Newton; Mrs. Robert J. Deighton, Somerville. Their two grand children are W. Francis Pickersgill of Newton Centre and Doris McClelland of Newton.

Mr. Moore is a public accountant by profession and was formerly president of the Palmer Savings Bank. He is a charter member of Newton Lodge, B. P. O. E., and a member of Fraternity Lodge of Masons, Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star; White Shrine of Jerusalem and Aleppo Temple. Mrs. Moore is a member of Newton Emblem Club, Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star and White Shrine of Jerusalem. They have been residents of Newton and constant readers of the GRAPHIC for 36 years.

Supplementing the informal reception on Saturday will be a family dinner party next Sunday at which Mrs. Moore's wedding dress will be worn by her youngest daughter, Miss Helen Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be pleased to receive their friends on Sunday as well as on Saturday.

REORGANIZING LOCAL MOTOR CORPS

Reorganization of its Motor Corps by Newton Chapter, American Red Cross is among the chapter's principal activities in which the public is urged to join. It will be recalled how the service of the Motor Corps proved invaluable in various emergencies, particularly during the influenza epidemic of 1918.

It is now being reorganized to carry invalids, children and incapacitated persons to clinics at the Newton Hospital and hospitals in Boston.

Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Joel M. Barnes enrollments are being made. Mrs. Barnes is prominent in the Metropolitan Chapter, Boston, and Newton is fortunate in having her as Acting Captain.

Further enrollments are desired and all who are interested are invited to get in touch with Newton Red Cross at 12 Austin street, Newtonville, (tel. Newton North 217).

Pennants for cars are available to those who have enrolled and will be furnished to all who join.

The Motor Corps will carry on the work begun by the Volunteer Motor Corps of Newton Central Council which has asked the Red Cross to take it over. The Council inaugurates measures and proves the need and then requests the aid of the organization best equipped to carry on.

Newton Minister Ends Pastorate

Rev. Chester A. Drummond To Preach Final Sermon Sunday

At the Channing Unitarian Church in Newton next Sunday Rev. Chester A. Drummond will preach his last sermon as minister of this church. Rev. Mr. Drummond has been in the ministry 25 years and for the past 10 years has served at the Channing Church. An exceptionally fine preacher, of very spiritual type, his earnestness and zeal have made him popular with members of his parish and his interest in civic affairs has won for him the esteem of citizens of Newton. When he preached in other Newton churches in exchange with their pastors, he made a very excellent impression.

Prior to coming to this city, Rev. Mr. Drummond held pastorates at Somerville, Massachusetts and New Orleans, Louisiana. He has achieved notable success in writing and coaching pageants and dramatic productions. Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton in referring to Mr. Drummond says:

I am glad to pay my tribute to Rev. Chester A. Drummond who at this Christmas season is about to sever his pastoral relationship with Channing Church. For years he has filled an important place in our community. Not only has he been one of the most spiritually minded of the clergymen of our day but also a loyal friend to all and a most public spirited citizen.

The city of Newton will always be his debtor for the beautiful Tercentenary Pageant which he wrote and directed two years ago. Those qualified to judge, pronounced it a masterpiece for lines and lights.

Join with his many friends in wishing for him in days ahead, ending joy and in his heart a wealth of sunlight, song, and love, as rich as that which he has unconsciously poured into the lives of some of us who have known him and loved him.

Rev. Mr. Drummond has had a number of invitations to preach at churches in other cities since he announced his intention to resign from the pastorate he has held at the Channing Church.

City To Petition State For Highway

A special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was held last night by order of Mayor Weeks to petition the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to lay out and take charge of Boylston street as a state highway from the Brookline to the Wellesley line.

All twenty-one members of the Aldermen were present together with the Mayor, City Solicitor, members of the Planning Board, and representatives of the State Department of Public Works and the Attorney General's office.

It was unanimously voted by the aldermen to present the petition and bids on this work will be asked for within the next couple of weeks by the state. Engineer Pillsbury of the Public Works department explained the construction of the Worcester Turnpike through this city and Mr. Louie of the Attorney General's staff assured the aldermen that the City will not surrender its rights to regulate the speed of traffic over the highway or its right to control the zoning along the highway.

NO COLLECTIONS AND ADVERTISING IN SCHOOLS

The Newton School Committee refused a request from Marguerite Woodward and others that permission be given to allow a collection to be taken up in the Newtonville public schools to finance a Christmas Tree festival at Washington Park, Newtonville. The committee opined that to grant such a request would establish a dangerous precedent.

The committee also turned down a request submitted by Mrs. Sinclair Weeks asking that posters be permitted in Newton school buildings advertising plays to be presented at the Fine Arts Theater in Boston by the Junior League of that city. The committee called attention to the fact that such advertising has not been permitted since the war. It was also mentioned that collections for the Near East Relief Fund and the restoration of the frigate "Constitution" were not allowed.

Present Petition To Improve Newton School To Committee

Nine Hundred Sign Request For Adequate Equipment At Bigelow School

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night a committee appeared representing residents of Wards 1 and 7. This committee presented a petition containing 900 signatures and asking that the Bigelow School at Newton be improved and added to so that it will be a junior high school in fact as well as in name. Other sections of the city have new junior high schools, excellently equipped and containing all modern facilities for complete junior high school courses of study. But, the Bigelow School, an old building, erected as a grade school, with dark corridors and inadequately maintained, provides accommodations only for pupils attending the 7th and 8th grades. Children in the 9th grade must travel to the High School at Newtonville. Last year a wing was built onto the school, the erection of which was supposed to convert the building into a real junior high structure. This wing merely provides a gymnasium and locker room and the alleged Newton Corner junior high school continues to be only an apology for this type of modern public educational unit. In exterior appearance and interior appearance and equipment it is in sorry contrast with the Day, Warren and Weeks junior high schools.

The committee which appeared to present the petition was comprised of Mrs. Ralph Patterson of Maple avenue, Newton; Mrs. C. E. Gleason of Watertown road and M. W. Dennison of Farlow road. The School Committee voted to refer this matter to the 1932 School Committee and requested Supt. of Schools Wheeler to prepare plans and specifications showing what changes and additions will be necessary at the Bigelow School to convert it into a real junior high.

The matter of the Vocational School seeking work in printing, electrical and automotive work in competition with Newton citizens engaged in these occupations was not discussed by the School Committee.

Considerable of the School Committee's time at the meeting was taken up over a discussion concerning whether or not one young girl attending the Weeks junior high school shall take shower baths. Dr. Myron Barstow of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, an osteopath, objects to his daughter, Dorothy, age 13, taking shower baths after indulging in gymnasium exercises at the palatial new school at Newton Centre. It is a rule of the Newton School Department that all pupils must take a shower bath after participating in physical exercise in a school gymnasium. Dr. Barstow contends that it may endanger a child's health to take a shower bath after strenuous exercise. He believes it is better to have the child cool off normally.

Supt. of Schools Wheeler told the committee that it is the practice in schools and gymnasiums for persons to take shower baths after exercising and that the medical profession believes this practice beneficial to health. He added that Principal Carr of the Weeks School had ruled that if the Barstow girl will not take shower baths after attending the school gymnasium, she will not be permitted to attend the gymnasium classes. Dr. Barstow complained that a teacher at the Weeks School warned the Barstow child that if she does not attend the gymnasium classes she will lose credits that may prevent her from graduating and from attending college, after the girl had presented a physician's certificate which stated that it is not advisable for the girl to take shower baths at the school. Supt. Wheeler dispelled this contention by saying that a credit of but ½ point is allowed for physical training and that this can be easily made up on some other study, so that the girl's chances of graduating and attending college will not be affected to any degree if she does not attend gymnasium classes. The School Committee voted to leave the matter in the control of Supt. Wheeler.

The committee turned down a proposal to have the city purchase the Church of the Good Shepherd at Waban and alter it for use as a school building to relieve congestion at the Angier School. The School Committee was of the opinion that the proximity of the church building to Beacon street and the railroad tracks would make it unfit as a school building and it would cost more to alter the building than to build a new structure. It was also shown that this building is of wooden construction, a fire hazard and has inadequate light and ventilation for school purposes. An addition to the Angier School of a portable school there was suggested as the proper way to relieve the congestion.

The other members of the School Committee voted to extend a vote of appreciation to Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson and Joseph F. Lockett, members of the committee who ended 9 and 6 years service at the meeting and who retire. Mr. Wheeler paid tribute to Supt. Wheeler and Secretary Kellar of the School Department.

CAROLS SUNG BY HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB

Between 35 and 40 members of the Highland Glee Club accompanied by a quartet of trumpeters left the square at Newton Highlands at four o'clock Christmas morning and proceeded over the following route: Brewster road, Woodward street, Bowdoin St., Newton Highlands, Lake avenue, Beacon street, Orient avenue, Ward street, Sumner street, Franklin street, Athol street, Peabody Home, Chase St., Monmouth road, Baptist Home for Aged People, Newton Centre, Deaconess Hospital, Brookline, Austin street, Kirkstall road, Newtonville, Mayor Week's home, Valentine road, West Newton.

This custom has been followed for many years and affords a great deal of pleasure to people along the route especially to those who are invalids or shut in and to the several hospitals visited. It is a contribution by the Highland Glee Club for public enjoyment and is a marked addition to the Christmas spirit.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

HOCKEY TEAM TO OPEN WINTER SPORTS SEASON

The Newton High school hockey team will open the season of winter sports Saturday of this week at the Boston Garden against the Stoneham High sextet. Coach Dr. Oscar Martin of the orange and black has had his squad rounding into shape for some time and it has been able to get onto the ice for a half dozen real sessions. Wednesday and Thursday afternoon the Boston Garden management turned over the rink to the school teams for practice periods. Newton's turn came on Thursday when Dr. Martin gave his charges their final tuning up session before the game with Stoneham. During the recent cold snaps the Newton squad was able to get on the ice at New Pond on Boylston street and last Monday used the rink at Ware's Cove, Auburndale, for the first time.

The team is without a captain this year for the present with the prospects being that a captain will be appointed for each game until well along in the season when a permanent leader may be elected. Three letter men form the nucleus of the first string line-up although some of the newer candidates are giving the veterans a close battle for regular positions. The starting line-up is practically determined with the exception of the right wing where Albert DiGeorge has been pressing Dick Kelley, one of the three letter men, so closely that he may earn the starting assignment. Phil Skillings, goalie, and Natole Sostillo, right defence, letter men from last year's sextet, will start in their regular positions with Charles Houghton, transfer from Huntingdon school, at left defence. Bill Duane, football captain the past season, is at centre ice with Albin Carrell, reserve quarterback in football, on right wing. The second forward line consists of Norbert Champagne, Minot Guild, and Nelson Manning and the third forward line is Kenneth MacKay, John Waters, and Robert P. Young. Alexander Kevorkian, Bob Buell and Paul Andres, all football players, are the spare defence men with Al Robinson and John Hennessey ready to take Skillings place in the net when the occasion requires.

In practice sessions the Newton squad has been displaying a fair brand of hockey and should make the going hard for any of the contenders to the championship. Although Melrose, with several championships in a row to its credit, is rated the favorite, it is doubtful the Ell ponders will have things all their way as they did last season.

With four games on Saturday's card there will be plenty of action at the Boston Garden. In addition to the Newton-Stoneham game, Belmont will play Melrose, Cambridge Latin opposes Arlington and Rindge Tech takes on the newcomer to the league circuit, Medford. On Monday or Tuesday, depending upon the availability of outdoor ice, the first set of outdoor games will be staged with Rindge at Newton, Stoneham at Melrose, Belmont at Cambridge Latin and Arlington at Medford.

SPORT NOTES

Bowdoin Awards Numerals
Freshman numerals were awarded three local youths who were on the Bowdoin College freshman eleven this past fall. The trio includes Walter H. Billings of Upper Falls, John S. Holden of Waban and Richard B. Nason of Newton Centre.

Hall Second, Chalmers Third
Charlie Hall, Tech sophomore and former Newton High athlete, placed second in the 600-yard run at the M. T. handicap track meet last Saturday. Hall was running from scratch. Doug Chalmers, another ex-Newton star and now a Tech freshman, with a handicap of 15 yards placed fourth.

On Bowdoin Relay Team
Jim Esson, former Newton High swimmer, is a member of the Bowdoin varsity swimming team. He is lead-off man on the relay team. Last Saturday Brown easily defeated Bowdoin 57 to 19 taking every first place but one. Lewis of Brown equalled the intercollegiate record of 24 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle dash. Joe Bryant of West Newton, former Dartmouth captain, is a co-holder of this mark.

Play For Tech Fresh
The M. I. T. freshman basketball team was defeated by the Harvard yearlings last Saturday night, 24 to 35. Doucette and Bailey, Tech forwards, were both members of last year's Newton High quintet. Doucette caged one basket and Bailey two for six of the engineers' points.

Now Playing Defence
Johnny Garrison, ex-Harvard hockey star from West Newton, has been switched from centre ice to a defence position on the University Club sextet, Boston's Olympic amateur aggregation which plays its first intercollegiate game in New York next Monday. Monday night the University six blanked Harvard, 7 to 0 with Garrison caging one and passing to his defence mate, Batchelder, for another.

Owen Playing Wing
Captain George Owen, former Newton High and Harvard star athlete, now captain of the Boston Bruins pro hockey team, is now playing a wing position on one of the forward lines. The position is not new to the ex-Harvard star as he learned the game at centre ice and played college hockey there. Since joining the Bruins a few years ago he has been playing defence almost all of the time.

BASKETBALL TEAM GETS VACATION FROM PRACTICE

Wednesday afternoon the Newton High basketball team which has been practicing diligently for the past several weeks held its final practice session of the year. Due to the fact that Coach Simmons will be away for the Christmas vacation, no practice will be held until Saturday morning, Jan. 2nd. This will give the orange and black squad a chance for other practice sessions before opening the season on its home floor with Watertown as the opponent on Jan. 6th.

Last Monday the Newton varsity played a faculty team and chalked up a 29 to 26 victory in an overtime session. The high school second team scored a 21 to 17 win over a team of ineligible players. Four varsity teams faced the faculty, each playing for about eight minutes each. The starting team consisted of Bob Patterson and Palmer York, guards, George Taylor and Charles Flagg, forwards, and Arthur Tilley, centre. This team was relieved by George Gulian and Frank Vasalotti, guards, Kenelm Winslow and Leighton Harris, forwards, and George Jones, centre. Patterson, Gulian, Vasalotti and Jones are letter men from last year's squad as is Warren Huston, captain-elect of the 1932 football eleven. Huston was injured near the end of the gridiron season and was excused from practice by Coach Simmons until after the Christmas vacation period in order that he might fully recover and be in shape for the season. He should clinch one of the regular forward berths with little trouble although all four of the forwards mentioned above played well against the faculty. The faculty team had Simmons at centre, "Fat" Jones and Taylor at the forward positions and Ray Green and Rohrbough as guards during the first half. In the second half Taylor was replaced by Green and Considine took Green's place as guard.

SPORT NOTES

Local Youths Star
The Yale-Dartmouth hockey game at New Haven last Saturday in which the Blue easily triumphed over the Green, 13 to 4, was largely a reunion of former Newton High players. Six of the seventeen tallies were caged by former wearers of the orange and black. Allie Fletcher, as a reserve forward and Joe Gilligan as a reserve defence player, scored three of Yale's tallies. Each counted once in the second period and Fletcher added another in the third session. Langdon Powers, Frank Spain, and Bob Bennett, the two first named forwards and the latter a defence player, counted once each for Dartmouth. All three played on the Newton High team along with Fletcher and Gilligan a few years ago. Spain played centre ice and was acting captain in place of Bill Morton, Dartmouth star athlete, who is playing with the Eastern football team on the Pacific Coast in the Shriners' game this week. Powers started at left wing while Bennett got in as a spare on the defence.

Middlesex Gains
In the Newton bowling league matches on Wednesday night the leading Middlesex Sportsman's Association gained on the field by taking all three strings from Maugus on the Arlington alleys. Commercial took two out of three at Waban and Himmelfel took the Newton Club by a similar margin. The University-Weston match was postponed.

In Skating Championships
Miss Grace Madden and her brother, James L. Madden, of Newton will represent Boston in the pair figure-skating championships in New York on Sunday and Monday. They will also compete in the singles events.

Green Pulls Tendon
Milton Green, Newton track captain and outstanding schoolboy track performer last year, will not compete for Exeter on the boards this winter. Green, who was expected to score many points for the New Hampshire academy in the coming season, has pulled a tendon. It is doubtful whether the injury will heal in time for the late season indoor meets but it is hoped that he will be in shape for the outdoor season.

OPENS NEW OFFICE
Paul Harris Drake, formerly Newton manager of the George A. Dill real estate office on Commonwealth avenue, has resigned from the Dill organization to open a new office under his own name at 634 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre.

For the past three years Mr. Drake has been Mr. Dill's Newton representative, following his employment as a salesman in the Newton office of Walter Channing, Inc.
Mr. Drake resides at 56 Pembroke street, Newton.

Before coming to Newton in 1928 Mr. Drake operated an office of his own in Marlboro, Mass., where he took a leading part in City affairs. Mr. Drake was formerly a Unitarian minister and has served the Unitarian churches at Pembroke, Mass., Saco, Maine; Barnard Memorial, Boston; Christ Church, Dorchester; and the First Universalist Churches of Beverly and Marlboro, Massachusetts.

From 1913 to 1921 he was a staff reporter on the American Traveler, and Boston Telegram. Mr. Drake is married and the father of 4 children. He is an Odd Fellow, a member of the Grange, Newton Business Associates, and publicity representative of the Newton Board of the Boston Seal Estate Exchange.

In his new venture Mr. Drake has adopted the title of "Real Estate Counsellor" specializing in Newton Real Estate.

HI-Y CLUB GIVES BANQUET TO NEWTON FOOTBALL ELEVEN

Tuesday night at the Newton Y. M. C. A. the members of the 1931 Newton High school football team were guests of honor at a banquet tendered them by the Hi-Y Club. Members of the intermediate and junior varsity teams were also present. Toastmaster John Bruen introduced the speakers and presided over the program which was replete with enjoyment and good fellowship.

Principal Irving O. Palmer, serving his last year as head of the high school, said that not the least memorable event in his final year would be the performance of the football team. Coach Ralph Sanborn reviewed the past season with its seven victories and but two defeats, from Everett, 7 to 6, and from Somerville, 7 to 0. Ewing Wilson, director of physical education, Captain Bill Duane and Captain-elect Warren Huston also spoke. Cheers were led by Charles Butler, tackle on the 1930 team. Following the banquet movies of the 1930 Harvard-Yale game were shown.

Y. M. C. A.

NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION

On New Year's Day the Newton Y. M. C. A. will hold Open House to all members of the Association and to their friends from 7 to 10 p. m. Parents of the Junior members are included in this invitation. The Directors hope that a large number will be present.

The following program has been arranged: There will be a Band Concert in the lobby by the Newton Constabulary Band at 7 o'clock. Class drills and games by the Boys' Group, a Basketball Game by the Junior Varsity, and Ring Hockey by the Senior Gymnasium Class will take place in the Gymnasium. In the new Handball and Squash Racquet Courts, there will be matches, and Swimming Exhibition will take place in the "Y" Swimming Pool. At 9 p. m. there will be an entertainment in the Assembly Hall by Peter Murray, Singing Humorist and Character Impersonator, and Walter Keylor, Pianist and Story Teller.

Squash Racquets
The Y. M. C. A. Squash Racquets Team lost its match played at Dunster House (Harvard) last week four to one. John L. Sullivan, captain of No. 1 of the "Y" team, was the only player to come through with a win for his team. Sullivan, playing A. F. Dana, won 15-7, 15-10, 15-8. E. Graham Bates, "Y," lost to O. M. Nichols, 15-13, 12-15, 15-12, 15-6. Kenneth Gerritsen, "Y," lost to F. F. Evans, 15-8, 15-9, 15-11. Watson F. Baker, Jr., "Y," lost to H. C. Dickinson, 15-6, 13-15, 15-8, 15-10. Arnold Barker, "Y," was defeated by C. Birch, 15-10, 10-15, 15-12, 15-12. The Y. M. C. A. team is now in third place with the Union Boat Club and Dunster House just ahead. The next match for the "Y" will be on January 16th with the Freshman Team of the Mass. Institute of Technology at the "Y" courts.

Wrestling
Three members of the Y. M. C. A. Wrestling Team, coached by Dr. Fred E. Simm, won first or second places in the Open Meet conducted by the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening. Dick Young won first place in the 125-lb. Novice Class and Walter McGrath won second place in the 145-lb. Novice Class. After winning two hard fought preliminary bouts and also his semi-final bout, Leonard Morrison lost his final bout thereby winning second place in the 155-lb. Class. The next meet for the team will be the Open Meet conducted at the Boston Y. M. C. A. New Year's Day afternoon.

Basketball
The Senior Basketball Team of the Y. M. C. A. won its third consecutive Suburban League game when it defeated Wakefield Y. M. C. A. on the Newton "Y" court Saturday evening, 54 to 27. After trailing at the end of the first half 21 to 23 for Wakefield, Newton in the second half held Wakefield to 10 points while it more than doubled its own score. Twenty-two of Newton's points were earned by Arthur Kohler who played centre. Henry Mahler, playing right forward, accounted for 11 more points, John MacDonnell, left forward, for 9 points, Bill Lansed also at left forward, for 6 points, Ralph Robbins at left guard, for 4 points, and Earle, substituting at right forward, for 4 points.

The Newton "Y" Second Team with Earle and Dunbrack, forwards, O'Neill at centre, and Joyce and Plenty at the guard positions, also came through with a victory by defeating Wakefield Second, 31 to 19. Harry Gray referred both games. This Saturday evening, Newton meets Beverly Y. M. C. A. at Beverly.

But it's not as bad as it looks

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that they have sold for Charles Azab his new brick English type residence located at 84 Mandalay road, Newton Centre. With the house, which has just been completed and contains ten rooms and four baths, sun parlor and billiard room, there is a two car garage and 8,000 square feet of land, and the total value of the property is $32,000. Celia Lurensky was the purchaser and will occupy as a home.

Burns and Sons have also sold in the Chestnut Hill district a seven room single home located at 122 Ward street. With the house there are 7,000 feet of land and a garage, and the property is valued at $14,500. Catherine Prince conveys to Isabelle O'Connor, who buys for a home.

In the Farlow Hill district of Newton, Burns and Sons also report that they have sold two lots of land on Brackett road, comprising 21,600 feet for Mildred E. Bixby to Charles E. Wilber. Mr. Wilber will immediately start the erection of two single dwellings for the spring market. The total value of the land is $5,000.

All the above sales were negotiated through the Burns agency.

RAPID CONTRACT NOW BEING PLAYED

While rival contract bridge authorities are battling in New York for supremacy Carlton Russell of Brookline, with the aid of George A. Fiske of Auburndale, are introducing a new system of "rapid" contract. The compilation of a simple chart shifts the bidding down to a scientific basis. Freak distribution of cards and the maximum strength of contracting hands is reached in such a manner that no information is divulged. All informative "systems," "jump shifts," "takeouts," "showing honors," "psychic," "approach and forcing bids" are a dead language in the rapid system. One of the hands which went wrong for Mr. Lenz and Mr. Jacoby recently at four no trump would have been bid and made against any defence at six diamonds. Many people in Boston and vicinity are taking up this new "chart" bidding in their daily playing and find keen delight and satisfaction in its simplicity and accuracy.

ZONTA CLUB

The Zonta Club of Newton had a dinner meeting, as a Christmas celebration, Wednesday evening, Dec. 16, at Cedar Hill, Waltham.

After the dinner, the Club was entertained by Miss Mabel C. Bragg, of Boston University, an honorary Zontian, who reviewed the book, "The Little Mixer" by Lillian N. Shearon.

She paid high tribute to the late Henry Turner Bailey and gave his version of the Bible Story—"The Coming of Christ." Following that she gave Zonta Gale's "Story of the First Community Christmas Tree in Friendship Village," and closed with the story of "The Great Walled Country."

The singing of Christmas carols by the club brought to an end a very enjoyable evening.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be held on January fourth.

NEWTON CAR IN CRASH

Late Sunday night cars driven by Mary Durkin of Gardner street, Newton, and Samuel Woodbridge of Oakley road, Watertown, collided at School and Bacon streets, Waltham. Both cars were damaged and Miss Durkin's car was overturned. James Jones of Prospect street, Waltham, a passenger in the car was injured. Woodbridge was arrested, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

HOUSE BURNED AT NEWTON CENTRE

The residence at 789 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, owned by William F. O'Leary, and occupied by him, his sister, Mrs. Mary Finucane and her three children, was badly damaged by fire on Sunday morning. The loss to the house and its furnishings is estimated at about $12,000. The fire started in the living room of the house and when the firemen arrived in response to Box 716, pulled at 9.55, the flames had made much headway. While crews from Engines 3 and 4 were fighting the flames on the second floor, a hot-air explosion occurred which hurled some of the firemen down a stairway. Fireman Joseph Murphy of Engine 4 received a dislocated thumb.

Mary Roach, a maid, employed at the house, went to her room on the third floor to save some of her clothing. The smoke became so thick that she was forced to go to a window and shout for help. Firemen raised a ladder and rescued her. The fire spread to the third floor of the house but was checked before it broke through the roof. The cause of the fire is unknown.

POLICE NEWS

Leslie McCormick of 446 Willard street, Quincy, was found not guilty in the Newton court on Saturday on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. He was accused of having been the driver of the car from which Gertrude Carberry, 20, of Brackett St., Brighton, was alleged to have been pushed on the night of the accident. The girl was found lying on Commonwealth avenue, severely injured. Patrolman Turner of the Newton police who worked on the case obtained the numbers of the registration plate on the car from which the girl fell from two young women who were in a car which was following. Through this clue McCormick was arrested and identified by the Carberry girl.

McCormick asserted he had never seen the girl until she came to the office where he is employed and identified him. She was brought to the office by Patrolman Turner. McCormick stated that on the night of the accident he was at his home in Quincy. A record was produced from the Boston City Hospital, where the girl was taken on the night of the accident, to show that an odor of alcohol was noticeable on her breath, although she denied that she had been drinking that night. Judge Maloney of Ayer, who presided at the trial, found McCormick not guilty.

The Victory Market at 274 California street, Nonantum, was entered last Friday night and an attempt made to break open the safe there. The amateur safe breakers used a cleaver in an unsuccessful attempt to open the money holder. This was the second burglary at the store within the past two months. The store is owned by Conrad Larosee.

Two owners of bakeries in this city were in the Newton court last Friday charged with not keeping their shops clean. Alphonse Frechette of 19 West street, Nonantum, was fined $20. Inspector House of the Newton Board of Health testified that Frechette had failed to heed warnings he had received. Andrew Mazzone of 139 High street, Newton Upper Falls, was also found guilty and placed on probation until June 25. The complainants against him were Inspector House and Inspector Mosman of the State Department of Public Health.

In the Newton court on Friday John Callanan of Pilgrim avenue, Worcester, was found guilty of driving past a traffic signal when the lights were against him. His case was placed on file.

Raymond Bertrand, 17, of 35 Williams street, Newton, was held for the Grand Jury in bail of $1000 after evidence against him had been heard in the Newton court last Friday. Bertrand was accused of breaking into the Bigelow School at Newton and stealing groceries and money there.

Patrolmen Lyons and Feeley who arrested Bertrand testified that they had traced him through heel marks which they found on a piece of paper at the school. Bertrand was one of a number suspected by the policemen and when they found that he was wearing rubber heels which matched the imprints on the paper, they accused him of the burglary, and he confessed.

Samuel Magazzu, 16, of 184 California street, Nonantum, was also arraigned in the Juvenile court charged with having been implicated in the burglary with Bertrand. He retracted a previous plea of "not guilty" and admitted guilt. His case was continued until January 2 and he was held in $5000 bail.

Catherine Hansbury of Hano street, Allston, 19 years old, was charged in the Newton court on Friday with having been implicated in the burglary with Bertrand. She pleaded guilty and her case was continued until December 28 for disposition. She had been employed at the home of Richard Ott, Colbert Road East, West Newton. Articles began to disappear from the Ott home, including jewelry, clothing and linen articles. A complaint was made to the police and the Hansbury girl, upon being questioned, admitted she had stolen the missing articles. She had hidden some of them in the eaves at the attic of the house.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 11, of Newton Highlands, had a very delightful party on Monday afternoon in place of the regular troop meeting. Seven girls were awarded Second Class Badges by Mrs. Ralph Emery, former Captain of the troop, and Mrs. Grosvenor Marcy, Chairman of the Court of Awards, gave out 49 Merit Badges.

Two very lovely creches were on exhibition: one was loaned by a member of the Woman's Club and the other arranged by two of the girls. After some jolly games, a number of Christmas Carols were sung and refreshments were served. A Christmas Tree very prettily decorated, with many interesting looking packages at its base gave a real Christmas atmosphere to the room.

This is a "give away" Christmas for Troop 11. The troop has adopted a large family in Newton. They are sending warm clothing, mittens or gloves, and presents to each member of the family. The decorated tree will also go to the family. This will certainly be a merry Christmas for them and all the girls of Troop 11 who have done so much for them.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. K. K. Carrick, Chairman of the Troop Committee, presented each girl in the troop with a "Girl Scout Diary."

FURTHER REDUCTION IN WEST INDIES CRUISES

This is real good news for the traveling public who feel the pinch of times and would like to take a winter vacation.

It has recently been announced that some of the Cruise Companies have reduced their rates as much as 33 1-3%, sailing on giant ocean liners for a 10 to 20 day cruise, visiting practically all of the tropical resorts, such as Bermuda, Porto Rico, Venezuela, Panama Canal, Jamaica, Havana, Nassau and Miami.

Some of the accommodations are almost unbelievable; rates as low as $7.00 per day and up, including meals and stateroom berth; in many cases, cheaper than staying at home. For rest, recreation and the good of your health, there is nothing like a steamer trip. The Colpitts Tourist Company make a specialty of cruise travel, having all information, rates and sailings of the various cruises at their office, 262 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to our many friends

Personally supervised this quick-starting test of TYDOL gasoline. Lieut. Thomas Mulroy (CHIEF ENGINEER OF THE BYRD ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION)

THE PLACE . . . Refrigeration room of The Seaboard Terminal Company

STARTING TIME: 1/2 Second

"TYDOL Gasoline gave me lightning service at the South Pole on the Byrd Expedition" . . . says Lieut. Thomas Mulroy.

"But when my stop-watch clocked this 1/2 second start . . .

"At 29° below freezing . . . after 12 hours in this refrigeration room . . .

"Then I was convinced, from my own experience with Polar cold, that here was a new world's starting record."

We believe that such smashing proof has never before been given you.

But we will let you and your car be the judges . . . Try it. Try it in the coldest weather. And you will prove its starting speed to your own lasting satisfaction.

ON THE RIGHT ROAD

In its last issue the Banker & Tradesman published an extremely interesting symposium of business conditions in New England. The consensus of opinion from the leading cities of this section is greatly encouraging. "New England's banking, financial, mercantile, and industrial foundations are secure, and New England is slowly but surely leading the way out of the depression." Many business leaders have experienced unmistakable signs of improvement indicating that the corner has been turned. One of the outstanding and significant signs of emergence from the depression is the turning of the New England business mind to new thoughts and new ways. Here in Newton while there is a dominant spirit of optimism, this attitude is tempered with conservatism. The natural result of the times has been a tendency to economize and to withdraw savings. Recently savings deposits have exceeded withdrawals, which is an optimistic sign. Despite the trend to economize the business man notices a continued demand for service and quality. His greatest difficulties have been the slowing up of collections and low prices which ness. It is believed a proper advance in prices would help necessitate more sales to maintain the same volume of business after the first of the year. New models offering better value at lower prices and the desire to trade in used cars provide reasons for this opinion. Building has fallen off in Newton the past year about 20 per cent but recent sales of several large tracts of land for development is a hopeful sign for spring building. Inability of the builder to obtain construction mortgages and to use his second mortgage holding as collateral have held building down. Home buyers are looking for opportunities and will no doubt buy as soon as there is tangible evidence to give them confidence in the immediate future. The unemployment situation in Newton fortunately is not as serious a problem as in cities of more industrial nature. The chief difficulty here is with the "white collar" class. The Mayor's Relief Committee is handling its job efficiently with the co-operation of financial aid from Newton citizens. An early step toward economic recovery would be taken with the release of personal "frozen assets," thus the increase of available cash resulting in speeding up of payment of bills.

NEWTON AUTO FATALITIES DECREASE

Newton is one of one hundred and twelve cities and towns in the state which showed a decrease in the number of automobile fatalities for the twelve months ending December first. Last year twelve deaths by automobile occurred in Newton and this year there were nine recorded. There were ninety-eight towns with no fatalities on the honor list as issued by the Governor's Committee on Highway Safety. On the other side of the picture were thirty cities and towns that had a similar number of fatalities in each year and one hundred and fifteen that showed an increase this year over the preceding twelve months. In the coming year we hope Newton can show a continued improvement. To do so requires the co-operation of every driver with safety measures, vigilance while driving and proper regard for the rights of others, pedestrians particularly.

A FEW NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

- Resolve:
- ... to boost Newton in every way.
  - ... to be optimistic and cheerful.
  - ... to be thrifty, but not a hoarder.
  - ... to drive carefully.
  - ... to safeguard all pedestrians.
  - ... to vote at the coming important elections.
  - ... to have faith in Massachusetts and the U. S. A.

Even Washington street is a victim of the depression. In fact it has so many depressions that its condition is becoming dangerous.

ROTARY CLUB

The annual Christmas party of the Newton Rotary Club was held on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club. Each member brought an inexpensive gift for a member whose name had previously been assigned to him. Dr. Fred M. Lowe impersonated Santa Claus in an entertaining manner. Many of the original poems which accompanied the gifts provided great hilarity.

Newton Lower Falls

—Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Leland of Washington, D. C., are the holiday guests of Mr. Leland's mother, Mrs. Ellen Leland of Washington street.

—Miss Florence Pender of Crehore Drive had charge of the Pageant, "The Christmas Tree," in the Parish house of St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon. It was given by the Junior Church School.

—Sunday afternoon St. John's Sunday School Guild gave a very enjoyable entertainment to the children of the Sunday school. The children of the Sunday school took part in the play under the direction of Mrs. Jenkinson of Wellesley Farms.

—Melbourne Hemen of the University of Pennsylvania is enjoying the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hemen of Concord street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Anderson of Damien road are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Without being too critical it seems that altogether too much time has been consumed in laying the big water main on the short stretch of Pearl street, Newton, between Peabody and Centre streets. Making allowance for the ledge which was encountered, this work should not have taken the many weeks it has. Apart from the inconvenience caused to residents on Pearl street during the months since the pipes first blocked the street and the many weeks since excavating was commenced, is the inconvenience caused to the public by the closing of the street to traffic and the confusion caused by the many Middlesex & Boston busses which have been routed through narrow Centre avenue and which obstruct Centre street at Newton Corner in their temporary terminus. Several stores near the corner of Centre and Pearl streets have lost much business because of the huge trench in front of their places which prevents customers from parking cars. One store which depends largely on Christmas business has been seriously affected.

When work must be done on (or in) streets at a business section, every effort ought to be made by State and city officials to expedite such work. It is a serious matter to cause traffic delays for months. It is also a serious matter to cause large financial losses to business people in such a time as this.

Probably the most interesting candidate for office at the recent election in this city was Alfred Guzzi of West Newton. A handsome young man of Italian parentage, he was the most interesting speaker at the various political meetings held throughout the city. Guzzi referred to the fact that because he occupied the humble position of laborer in the Newton Street Department some folks consider him presumptuous to aspire to political office. He explained that he has taken keen interest in city affairs since boyhood, has regularly attended meetings of the Board of Aldermen and believes he can be of service to the city as an Alderman.

Guzzi is intelligent and gives one the impression of being honest and sincere. He certainly is ambitious and does not lack courage. A member of a racial group which already numbers thousands in this city, and which is increasing rapidly because of a high birth-rate, it is more than probable that within the near future he will satisfy his ambition to serve as a member of the Newton City Government.

The punishment being meted out to Representative McRadon of Pennsylvania because he dared to severely criticize President Hoover calls attention to the tremendous burden saddled onto the people of the United States by political patronage in the form of postmasterhips given to men (and women) who are absolutely unqualified to hold such positions and who render little or no service in return for the salaries they receive. Many millions of dollars are taken from the people of this country to pay postmasters who know no more about postal business than we know about Einstein's theory of relativity. What "easy marks" are the intelligent, liberty-loving American people.

Washington street, between West Newton and Newton Corner, was certainly in terrible condition before the trench for the huge water main was excavated. But, since this trench has been refilled, the street is positively dangerous. Depressions are constantly forming where the trench was filled and where smaller trenches were excavated across the street. The street should be patrolled daily by the street department and the depressions filled or levelled. Unless this is done, accidents to automobiles will occur and damage suits will follow. Where traffic must cross over the filled trench to reach Centre avenue, east of Thornton street, the street should be kept free from depressions and uneven spots.

Otto Kahn and other international bankers are quite frank in asserting that the private debts of Germany (and other European countries) should be paid before the debt owed to the American people is paid. Of course Mr. Kahn and his fellow bankers are not actuated in this belief because they get a big cut from the private debts. And they need the money so much more than the ordinary American citizen who is accustomed to taking it on the chin without protesting.

PAGEANT AT NEWTON

A Pageant entitled "The Song the Whole World Sings" was presented on last Sunday afternoon at 4.30 by the pupils of the Sunday School of the Newton Methodist Church. Those taking part were Mary Rich, reader, Marjorie Woodrough, Marion Benyon and Jeannette Benyon in the tableau. Jean Kilgore, Harriett Tashjian, Robert Kitterman, Robert Keene, Sanford Clerk, Anderson Fox and Archibald McLeod representing the United States; Eleanor Tashjian and Douglas Kitterman representing England; Virginia Douglas, Canada; Willard Sil-laker and Myrtle Burdick, France; Mildred Rich and William Smith, Germany; Patricia Peterson and Jean Viles, Mexico; Elizabeth Tashjian, Porto Rico; Dorothy Gavin, Spain; Albert Tashjian and Kenneth Strum, Holland; Jackie Sundborg, Brazil; Al-jene Grisse, Russia; Ethel Robinson, Italy; Gladys Ruth Smith the Alps; and Stewart Otto, Palestine. They were assisted by James Robinson, Ethel Davis, Paul Otto, Paul Viles, Rena McLeod and Margaret Vary of the Intermediate department. Dorothy Chubb gave a reading "The Legend of Cathay." The presenting of the White Gift by the congregation followed the pageant.

Some Good Lines.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes.
Have You Seen Niagara?
Marconi's Birthday.

Ferris Booth, who dwells in the Wall Street jungle, thought of a good line and prints it.

"Christmas lasts forever—depressions never do!"

Joseph H. Appel, an able New York merchant, also thought of a good line for use in advertising:

"Christmas cheer costs less this year."

It costs less, and is doubly cheerful, doubly valuable.

You can do twice as much buying with your money and ten times as much in the way of making others happy.

Those for whom the words "income tax" have hitherto meant nothing except the pleasant loading of national expense on to the bigger pocketbooks will take an interest in these words hereafter if Mr. Mellon's proposals go through.

He would add one million seven hundred thousand to the number of income tax payers, and income tax payers now "in the low brackets" will find their tax raised. The fact that it is necessary for those hitherto exempt to carry their share of the burden will not seem a good reason.

Congress will vote gladly, good times or bad times, the $60,000,000 that President Hoover wants to help the States building good roads, and the $20,000,000 for building. More than 300,000 men have been working on roads for the past year, and the Government has recently constructed, in co-operation with the States, 11,000 miles of excellent roads. These will be a great blessing to this country when it recovers from its present childish fright, and gets back to business.

In Rome, you go first to Saint Peter's, and then to the Church of St. Peter in Chains, where Michelangelo's Moses sits in solemn marble, gazing into the future. You visit the Grand Canyon, crossing the continent, and the big trees when you reach California. When in Buffalo, N. Y., you hurry to Niagara.

As you travel with the current, beside the edge of Niagara River, you notice that the water moves a little more swiftly, and see thousands of wild ducks swimming about, dark flocks of them. Nobody shoots them, although they are near enough to shore, because nobody would dare row out to pick them up, Niagara's fearful brink is too near.

Bunyan says that hens are grateful to their Creator, and prove it, raising their beaks and eyes to the sky with every swallow of water. How grateful must these ducks be to the Creator of Niagara.

Do not lay this sheet aside, fearing that one more description of "Niagara's grandeur" may be forced upon you. This is no time for such needless cruelty. You have seen a child fall downstairs. Imagine a river, carrying all the Great Lakes, falling down a precipice, creating millions of horsepower as it drops, and describe it in your mind to suit yourself. No human mind can grasp or describe anything really great, just as no half pint can hold Lake Superior.

You are dazed at first, as you stand, by the roar and rumble of the Horse-shoe Falls, masses of fearful weight tumbling, bellowing, never ceasing their awful power.

Then reflection restores peace. You think, "All that roar is only so many separate drops falling. All that power means small drops, going the same way. What could human drops do, if they went the same way, worked together and combined forces?"

Thirty years ago a young Italian, Marconi, conquered the Atlantic Ocean in a new way, as his fellow Italian, Columbus, had done in the old-fashioned way more than four hundred years earlier.

Thousands of telegrams and wireless messages congratulated Marconi on the thirtieth birthday of "wireless." Standing in a heavy storm on the shore of St. Johns, Newfoundland, thirty years ago, Marconi received, through a kite, which he sent into the air, the first signal across the ocean, the letter S.

Those that should have known better doubted the truth of his experiment.

Once again the world honors the genius of the Italian race.

The best news comes from Ireland, telling of a splendid development of public schools in the Irish Free State. The number of pupils in the free schools is bigger than it ever has been. Teaching of Gaelic in the schools is falling off. Finding capable teachers is difficult.

Fewer children will be burdened with a language not adequate to the needs of this day.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

When we see anything marked "Fragile" in glaring red letters, we are usually pretty careful in handling it. Too bad for some of us that such a label cannot be placed on our New Year's resolutions.

It Gets Them Somehow

I never thought for a moment that the great and famous bridge tournament in New York would make trouble for anybody. I considered it a blessing for I felt certain that a Nation that could suspend worries and vexations long enough to argue over a few hands of contract bridge was never going to the dogs. It is still my claim that the whole business is good for us and if we didn't know things about the game we should have known then we learnt considerable. The big daily newspapers helped a lot by spreading the reports of the sessions over several columns just as if they had been a crime or a divorce trial.

Frankly I dodged my friends who were interested because I am not a bridge player and don't even dally with cards. That is my misfortune and yet I don't like to be reminded of it. If I am asked my opinion about this or that thing that happened in the big tournament I cannot make reply because it's all Greek to me. A good bridge enthusiast will not permit me to escape with a mere confession of ignorance. He will say, "What, you don't play bridge. Well, what kind of a man are you?" It is disquieting, at least, and I am upset for the rest of the day. However, I am under obligation to nobody to play bridge and cannot be punished if I decline.

Therefore, it was not myself to whom I referred when I said that I did not think the tournament in New York would cause trouble for some people. I referred to two individuals who confided in me the fact that the tournament had them almost mentally cracked-up. One was a young woman secretary. She said her employer talked of nothing else and that while she played bridge for the fun of it she never went at it as if her life, or rather her job depended upon it. At least, not until the present. Nevertheless, she had to read everything in the papers about the Culbertsons, Lenz and Jacoby or suffer the consequences of criticism by an unreasonable employer.

The other case was that of a salesman. He might play a game of hearts, old maid and (keep this quiet, please) poker, but contract bridge was away over his head. Nevertheless he found customers who wanted to talk of the tournament and get his views. From what he told me I suspect that he was doing an intellectual side-step from the minute he started out in the morning until after his last call for the day. He would be questioned by customers and, rather than appear dumb, make some kind of a reply. He thinks he got by without anybody discovering he knew nothing of bridge. Still, he is taking no chance for the future and intends to learn about contract bridge as soon as the Christmas holidays are over.

Standing in Line

Money was not the only thing of which many ran short this Christmas. If your supply of patience did not dwindle considerably it was because you didn't have to stand in line at the parcel post window in the post-office. And by that I mean any post-office in any city or town in the country. Personally I completed an endurance record this year, although I thought I was timely and believed I had obeyed the command, "Mail Early."

However, I am not going to discourage upon my own experiences for I survived and feel the better for it. Probably I needed a little discipline and being forced to wait and wait was no doubt good for me. Let it be said at this point that you cannot put any blame on the local postoffice officials or their subordinates. Each office is assigned a stated number of clerks and carriers and if the force is not sufficiently large the blame attaches to those directly responsible. In other words Washington and the Boston central postoffice hand us the kind of service they feel is coming to us and we may take it or leave it.

You must agree with me that the desire of a lot of people to have insurance placed on their packages resulted in much delay. It is almost safe to take out insurance, I'll admit, and yet I never could understand why a parcel post system that was any good at all couldn't deliver packages without suggesting insurance. It has always struck me as an admission of weakness. But let's take up the less complex features of waiting in line.

I was one of those with bundles and stood about five or six from the window. Two young women, with at least 15 bundles, all requiring insurance, caused a blockade. The line behind me became longer and longer. We thought the two young women would never finish their transaction. As I glanced back I saw a pleasant old lady who accepted her fate with a smile. And yet she wasn't going to have anything put over on her as I discovered.

One of those important young men, snappily dressed and all that sort of thing, hurried in from the street. Instead of taking his place as he should at the end of the human string, he brushed into the middle, planning, no doubt, to save himself at least a 15 or 20 minutes' wait.

The young man found his nerve shattered by the nice old lady. She it was who promptly said, "You'll have to go to the end of the line." It startled the young man and he did not move at once. Thereupon the little old lady took him by the arm and gently shoved him towards the proper place. The rest of the crowd laughed. Justice will prevail, if we leave it to the women.

Well-earned Reward

Pass this along to the young folks or to any who may not yet have learned that hard work does count for something. It is easy to preach but sometimes difficult to prove your utterances. Therefore, when a shining example of an off-repeated truth appears you should seize it as worth while. The reason I have taken this opportunity to discuss one of those serious things of life is because I have been tremendously impressed. Won't you see if you don't agree with me when I tell you that after all industry does bring its reward and can overcome that greatest obstacle of all—political influence.

You probably have read in the daily newspapers that the Governor has re-appointed State Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy. A bit of political history is necessary to make clear my point. Mr. Guy was appointed after Former Governor Allen had been defeated for re-election. Mr. Guy, a member of the State Division of Banks since 1913 and Assistant Bank Commissioner for several years, was to serve an unexpired term of a few months. It seemed that he could not expect to be re-appointed inasmuch as he had been chosen by a Republican Governor and the matter of reappointment was in the hands of a Democratic Governor.

Mr. Guy took office in the midst of impending troubles among certain banks. His job was not an easy one. Then came more banking difficulties and his work increased. It reached a point where Mr. Guy felt it necessary to remain at the office from early morning until far into the night. There were nights when he stayed all night, catching what little sleep he could in his private office.

It was a well known fact that Mr. Guy was working unceasingly for the State. Nevertheless many Democratic politicians demanded that he be removed. The pressure to replace him was brought upon Governor Ely. Mr. Guy's term expired last April but he was held over because of the banking situation. Those interested thought that he would be retained as long as necessary and after that succeeded by one of the many Democrats looking for the place. But they reckoned without a knowledge of the Governor's appreciation of Mr. Guy's industry. Not only did the Governor see fit to reappoint Mr. Guy last week but also to praise him for his conscientious and untiring labors. The appointment was promptly confirmed by the Executive Council and the services of an able and hard-working State official have been retained. All of which is to the benefit of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 27.

The Golden Text is: "The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together; for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it" (Isaiah 40:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away" (Revelation 21:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Heaven represents harmony, and divine Science interprets the Principle of heavenly harmony. The great miracle, to human sense, is divine Love, and the grand necessity of existence is to gain the true idea of what constitutes the kingdom of heaven in man" (p. 560).

Winter

To some folks, "when winter comes", last summer's prices for cold weather necessities are only a memory of a lost chance.

To others, who had the cash to buy when coal, furs, winter overcoats, etc., were "out of season bargains", winter is simply a happy incentive to go right on banking a part of each week's pay, as to be ready when next summer's "winter's bargains" come around again—as they always do!

Here, your money not only earns a safe interest but enables you to save more money by buying when prices are lowest.

Try it!

MRS. JOHN HARVEY

The funeral of Elvira E. Harvey, who died Dec. 20 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Caspar Isham, 320 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands, on Tuesday at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Ben Roberts of the Congregational Church officiating.

Mrs. Harvey had lived in the Highlands for nearly fifty years. She was 94 years old and leaves two daughters, Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Isham, besides five grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

She had always been a very active woman, and maintained her independence of action to the last weeks of her life.

Burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

WILLIAM G. S. CHAMBERLAIN

William G. S. Chamberlain of 27 Ash street, Auburndale, died on December 22 in his 80th year. He was born in Springfield and had resided in this city for 48 years. He had been in the employ of the Boston & Albany Railroad as a civil engineer. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eleanor C. Chamberlain, a daughter, Mrs. R. Hazeltine of Chicopee Falls, and two grandchildren. His funeral service was held this afternoon at Newton Cemetery Chapel; Rev. Ralph Rogers of the Auburndale Congregational Church officiated. Mr. Chamberlain was a member of Roswell Lee Lodge of Masons of Springfield; Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar of Newton; Cryptic Council, Royal Arch Chapter of Natick and the Eastern Star Lodge of Natick.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Auburndale Woman's Club

American Home Sunday, an institution which has been urged by the Department of the American Home in the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will be observed in the Auburndale Congregational Church, on Sunday morning December 27th. The newly-installed pastor, Dr. Ralph Hebard Rogers, will speak on Modern Homes. Young women from the American Home committee of the Woman's Club will serve as ushers.

Monday Club

The next meeting of the Monday Club will be held on December 28th, at the home of Mrs. R. H. Barnes, 3 Bowdoin street. The subject, "Short Stories," will be in charge of Mrs. J. E. Peckham and Mrs. G. W. Barker.

Christian Era Study Club

There will be a meeting of the Christian Era Study Club at the home of Miss Blanche M. Noyes, 16 Willis road, on the afternoon of Monday, December 28th. Mrs. Ernest F. Drew will give a paper on "President Grant," which will be followed by one on "The Reconstruction."

Auburndale Junior Woman's Club

The Annual Dance of the Auburndale Junior Woman's Club will be held on Wednesday evening, December 30th, in the Auburndale Club House at 9 o'clock. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Utopians. The chairman for this Auxiliary Group to the Woman's Club this year is Miss Shirley Williams of Central street, while the advisors are Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatrick and Mrs. Donald Williams.

State Federation

RADIO. Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, first vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and candidate for national president, will be the featured speaker of the State Federation broadcast, on Saturday, December 26th, at 11:30 a.m. over WJZ. She has chosen for her title "Good Bye, 1931." Mrs. M. H. A. Evans, of Dorchester, vice-chairman of the Division of Mothercraft, will talk on "Children Well and Happy." Helen Choate Ommens, soprano, will be accompanied in a program of songs by Mrs. Florence Harris Schroeder.

New Year's Greetings will be brought to Clubwomen on the program for the 2nd day of January, by the State president, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader. The Isabel Arnold Dame Music Club Chorus will furnish the music, with Arthur B. Keene conducting. On the subject of "Utilizing Leisure" as achieved or suggested in the various districts of the State, Mrs. Hartley Smith, director of the Thirtieth District, will speak for her district, as other directors have already presented this problem as solved in their districts.

MOTION PICTURES. Mrs. Oscar A. Blaisdell of Wollaston, State chairman of Motion Pictures, is the official representative of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs on the Allied Motion Picture committee, a group from various organizations recently formed in the interest of better pictures for children.

RELIGION IN THE HOME SUNDAY. Sponsored by the American Home Division of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Norman H. Hastings, of West Roxbury, chairman. Clubwomen throughout the State have besought the ministers in their towns to observe "Religion in the Home Sunday," on December 27th, by including in their sermons on that day something about religion in the American home. To the Auburndale Woman's Club falls the honor of bringing to Newton this observance in one church of the city, account of which will be found under their heading for Coming Events.

AMERICAN HOME. In line with this excellent thought of stressing the influence for stability of religion in the home, are other well-worked-out ideas of the American Home chairman, in pamphlets that should have a wealth of inspiration for individual Club chairmen. Suggestions that may be carried out in forming of classes for study, or in lecture groups, as well as for the more pretentious Club program; and books for personal reading at home, (in lists that can be readily obtained from the chairman, 25 Lorraine street, Roslindale), will hold interest for the chairman who is wondering just what to do in her field of endeavor, and just how to do it. A myriad number of such fields to conquer may be found in the following list of pamphlets offered by Mrs. Hastings, as representing possibilities for choice, under the eight general topics of description:

1. Your Home.
2. Essentials for Successful Family Life.
3. Family Finance.
4. A List of Speakers for Club Programs, on the subjects: Household decoration.

CLUB INSTITUTES. Miss Anna C. Witherle, of Castine, Maine, chairman of Club Institutes for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who was a visitor at a recent Boston Institute meeting, is so highly impressed by what Massachusetts is accomplishing under the leadership of Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, that she is sending the monthly reports of Club Institutes in Massachusetts, as given in FEDERATION TOPICS, to her national committee scattered from Mississippi to the State of Washington.

RECENT EVENTS

Business and Professional Group of Auburndale Woman's Club

The Annual Christmas Frolic of the Business and Professional Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held last Monday evening, at the home of Miss Agnes Strang, on Central street. Four Christmas trees awaited the guests in the sun room, ready for decorating.

It has been the yearly custom of this Group to send a tree completely decorated, together with presents for each patient at the Canton Home for Crippled Children. Among this year's gifts to that Institution were 36 dolls, 60 strings of beads, and the same number of bracelets, 56 handkerchiefs, also games and toys, a total of at least 250 new articles.

In addition to these, the Group voted to aid the Newton Welfare Bureau, and their Frolic consisted of filling 50 stockings, putting into each one an apple, an orange, candy, nuts, a ball, toy, or game. Besides these stockings, there was a donation of 12 sweaters, 30 pairs of stockings, 24 pairs of mittens, and 56 handkerchiefs.

This Business and Professional Group, which is an auxiliary to the Senior Club, has a membership of 24 this year, and has its own officers, of whom Miss Eulalie L. Markey is the chairman. Miss Helen Balch and Miss Anne Bunker from the Senior Club act as advisors.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Christmas cheer of every kind was taken to the ladies in the Stone Institute last Friday, the 18th, when a large group of members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club went to the Home to hold their regular Club meeting. During a business meeting, notices and one or two brief reports of Federation work were read.

Songs by Mrs. F. L. Trask, and violin solos by Mrs. Kenneth Hastings were enjoyed tremendously, but not more than were the Christmas carols sung by a chorus of all the ladies of the Institute together with members of the Club.

Rev. John Shade Franklin, a Club husband, addressed the gathering, giving a message which will be thought about for many a day.

After this feast for the soul, everyone went to the dining room where ample justice was done to a delicious spread brought by the members of the Club.

Each lady of the Institute was presented with a basket to be taken to her room after the party. In this medium-sized market basket were found the most intriguing packages containing stationery, stamps, calendars, handkerchiefs, small red memorandum books with red pencil attached to each, individual fruit cakes, frosted, and decorated with candied holly, home-made cookies, boxes of marshmallows and chocolate peppermints, sticks of candy, little red baskets filled with nuts, raisins, and Christmas candies, pop-corn balls, tangerines, grapes, oranges, apples, etc. Each basket was attractively decorated with greens and red ribbon, and a Christmas card with an individual verse was within for each lady.

Mrs. John B. Shaw was chairman of this delightful day.

Newton Community Club

The Junior Membership Group of the Newton Community Club gave a Christmas Party on Thursday, December 17th, with an attendance of one hundred and fifty people present, fifty-two being children from the Stearns School section. Stanley Marshman was in charge of the Marionette Show which delighted the children.

At the close of the entertainment, ice cream and cookies were served. Miss Phyllis Baker, president of the Group, was assisted by Miss Marion Hinkle, Miss Frances Crowley, Miss Madeline Dunn, Miss Madeline Collins, Miss Marguerite Hokus, Miss Virginia Partridge, Miss Betty Potter, Miss Miriam Morrow, Miss Jean Morrow, and Miss Barbara Cox.

Mrs. Lawrence Kattelle, a Club member, was dressed as Mother Goose. Mrs. Kattelle was assisted by her son, Allen, who peeped dressed as Jack Spratt. In their fascinating costumes they won the hearts of each and every child. A beautifully-trimmed Christmas tree was an added attraction of the afternoon. Toys were given out to each child.

Many thanks are due to the Art committee for their efforts in decorating the tree.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The program at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday afternoon, December 17th, at 2:30 p. m., was a very enjoyable affair. After a short business meeting, the Club Chorus presented a program of Christmas music. Madame Apolline Blair was the conductor, with Freda Ames Nissen accompanying. The members of the Chorus, dressed in red and gold, presented the following Christmas music: "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Salutation," "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen," "The Heavens are Telling," "Sing we Noel," "The First Noel," and "Silent Night." Dorothy Waite was soloist.

Following this program, Nan Lagerstedt, well-known monologist, depicted the following situations: a country woman seeing Romeo and Juliet for the first time; two people who had been married for ten years getting dressed for a party; an account of a European traveller's experiences; a visit to the old ladies' home; a recitation, "It Takes a Heap of Living"; and an imitation of a Swedish maid at song.

Following the entertainment, tea was served for the Club members and their guests.

DATES OF NEXT MEETINGS AND ACTIVITIES

Dec. 26. State Federation, Radio.
Dec. 27. Religion in the Home Sunday, at Auburndale Congregational Church.
Dec. 28. Monday Club of Newton Highlands.
Dec. 30. Auburndale Junior Woman's Club, Dance.
Jan. 1. Newton Centre Woman's Club, New Year's Reception, and Opening of Two Weeks' Art Exhibit.
Jan. 2. State Federation, Radio.

ALLEN SCHOOL HONOR ROLL

The honor roll for the fall term at the Misses Allen School of West Newton includes:
Barbara Beach, June Booth, Betty DeBard, Eleanor Lane, Nancy Hickey, of West Newton, Peggy Harrison, Janet Merrill, Jean Morrison, of Newtonville, Janet and Louise McKinney, Elizabeth Cummings, of Waban, Mary Mackay and Dorothy Atwood of Newton Highlands, Lucile Cate, Auburndale; Priscilla Widger, Newton Centre; Betsy Earle, Newton; Eleanor White, Wellesley Hills; Helen Seasmans, Roslindale; Frances Garvin, Cambridge and Dover; Suzanne Peirce, Waltham; Edna Gordan, Brookline.

The school closed this week for two weeks holiday.

NOVEMBER HEALTH REPORT

The report of the Newton Health Department for the month of November shows that there were 51 deaths in the city during that period; 29 males and 22 females. The death rate per 1000 for the month was 9.31%. Cancer was responsible for 11 deaths. Hodgkin's disease 1, cerebral hemorrhage 5, heart ailments 9, arterio sclerosis 4, automobile accidents 3. Communicable diseases reported during the month included—scarlet fever 19 cases; measles 2, mumps 2, whooping cough 34, chicken pox 25, infantile paralysis 2. The Department staff inspected 43 tenements, 11 beauty shops, 169 markets and provision stores, 9 bakeries and 43 restaurants.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Vacation motion pictures are planned for young holiday spenders who will come to The Children's Museum of Boston following Christmas. Every day except Sunday from Christmas Day to New Year's there will be admission-free vacation motion pictures in a special holiday program. Exhibits set up by Miss Eva Taylor of the exhibits department are of special interest, as they include a Christmas tree decorated in the German fashion with paper ornaments, gilded nuts and cones, decorated egg shells, and other "foreign" trimmings. Gifts found at the foot of a German Christmas tree are also included in the display.

An exhibit prepared by Prof. Frederick K. Morris of M. I. T. is of unusual appeal as it follows the recent lecture by Roy Chapman Andrews and is a collection of personal souvenirs and specimens gathered by Prof. Morris while he was with Dr. Andrews in several of the well-known Central Asiatic Expeditions.

CUSTOM HAIR CUT AND SHAVE

The secret of beautiful hair is cleanliness. The practice of immaculate scalp cleanliness as the road to hair health should continue from infancy to old age.

Billions of Dwellers in the Ocean's Depths

Only 115 kinds of fish were known to the great naturalist and philosopher, Aristotle, whilst Pliny, who lived a good deal later, knew 170, and thought that there could not well be more. Today more than 20,000 kinds of fishes are known, and new species are discovered at the rate of about a hundred every year. We are finding out, too, new facts of the most surprising kind about fish that have been known to man since the earliest ages.

Few realize the teeming population of the seas. Did you know that the Atlantic alone yields every year 400,000,000 cod and 3,000,000,000 herring? This means that the number of herring caught each year is considerably greater than that of the human population of the world. Yet there is no sign that their numbers are decreasing, despite the war waged upon them.

Nor is man the greatest of the herring's foes. He is probably among the least dangerous of his enemies. The herring is a food fish. Its business is to feed upon the minute animals and vegetables that float near the surface of the sea, and, by means of these, to convert its own body into food for larger fish. Salmon, hake, dogfish, and tunny to mention a few, all live upon herrings, and a single one of such fish may require as many as forty or fifty herrings to provide a day's meals.—London Tit-Bits.

Islands Come and Go When Earth Is Shaken

Two uncharted islands appear off the coast of Brazil, the product of a sub-oceanic volcano and the property of whoever claims them first. They are hailed as possible landing places for transatlantic airplanes. Two nations see in them valuable refueling bases, and dispatch fast navy ships in a race for priority. And when one of the ships comes, it sails over the place where the islands were reported, for they have disappeared.

The same story is repeated several times a year. The earth, usually thought of as solid itself, rises and dives again like a porpoise; no one can predict where it will bob up next, though some favorite playgrounds are familiar. Japan is rocked by an earthquake and the island of Sankai disappears. The British hydrographic department issues a statement that "the existence of Dougherty Island has been disproved" and orders all references to the vagrant to be expunged from official publications.

Flowers and Tragedies

In these days the flowers have been found to blame for many tragedies. These guilty blossoms are generally water lilies and edelweiss. The water lilies are those so tempting blossoms floating upon the water, always a little farther from the boat or from the shore than they appear to be. The edelweiss, too, always grows a little beyond the reach of the hand, upon the edge of an abrupt precipice or upon the remote side of a fathomless crevasse. What is the tragic result? Excursionists wish to pluck the water lilies, fall into the flood and are drowned. Mountain climbers strive to gather edelweiss and fall to their death in some abyss. The flowers are alone responsible for these tragedies, for have they not lured their victims to their fate—or at least suggested that certain risks are part of the pleasure of vacationing?—Le Matin, Paris.

Real Gratitude

The obligations of gratitude, like all approved obligations, are a low form of morality. Real gratitude does not consist in loving a person who does us a service and in doing him a service in return. Gratitude consists in profiting by the service that has been done so that we can act as well as possible toward the man who did us the favor and toward all men, toward the whole of humankind and not only toward the individual to whom we are grateful. He has no right to anything more. Perhaps the service he has rendered turns out well for him, perhaps it brings him harm, but this is a secondary matter.—Frederic Paulhan in Nouvelle Revue, France, Paris.

Novel Counting Method

In classical Athens 1,500 years ago, music was a very important subject in the curriculum of a boy's school. Intensive study of vocal music, and playing of the lyre, began at a boy's thirteenth year. The playing of the flute was left to professionals, as it distorted the face. Sometimes, however, music was not justified of her children, for it is related that one music master of the time could only obtain two pupils. But in his studio were the statues of the appropriate deities of the art, the nine Muses and Apollo to wit. And when this music teacher was asked how many pupils he had he would reply: "With the help of the gods, twelve!"

Not a True Spider

"Daddy-long-legs" is an archaic of the order Phalangida, more correctly called harvestman. The members of this group of invertebrates superficially resemble the true spiders, but have a small, rounded body composed of an indistinctly jointed cephalothorax to which the broad, short abdomen consisting of six segments is joined. Most of the forms have very long, slender legs and are popularly called daddy-long-legs. They feed on small insects, do not spin webs and are perfectly harmless.

MEMORY LINGERED

The not-very-young spinster called to see her doctor.

"Can you tell me," she asked, "whether influenza can be caught by kissing?"

"It most certainly can," said the doctor. He knew his patient.

"Well, when I was on holiday last month a man kissed me."

"Ha-ha-ha!" laughed the doctor. "You're all right. If the complaint hasn't developed by now, it certainly will never do so—not from that kiss, anyway."

"I thought not," confessed the woman, "but I do love talking about it."

White Mud

It was Baby Gloria's first snowstorm, and mother noted that she was lagging behind as they approached the front door, preparatory to going out. "Come, Gloria," she called.

But Gloria merely shook her head. "No, baby can't walk in white mud," she said.

REALIZATION

"Did he realize anything from his venture?"

"Yes."

"What was it?"

"That he shouldn't have undertaken it."

Costly Error

First Young Doctor (to second ditto)—Hullo, old man, what's the matter? You're looking very glum.

"No wonder," was the reply. "I'm attending that wealthy Mr. Golding, you know, and I've sent him the wrong medicine."

"Indeed! Is it a serious blunder?"

"Very serious! The medicine I've sent him will cure him in two days!"

Silence Necessary

"George Washington was a man of few words," remarked the student of history.

"Naturally," answered Senator Sorghum. "A man who tried always to tell the truth as he did would be obliged to spend a great deal of time in studious silence, checking up on his facts."—Washington Star.

More Careful Now

Salesman—You can pay for this car on time.

Ex-Convict—Nothin' doin'. I paid that way for de last one I stole.—Pathfinder.

A Counter Offer

"Will you sign a note for me?" asked the neighbor.

"No," sighed the old man who was hard of hearing. "I can't sing a note. But I'll recite a little poem for you."

LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

Boarding House Mistress—Did you say the soup had everything in its favor, Mr. McLean?

Dinner Quarrel

Wife—I little dreamed I would marry a miser.

Hubby—I told you I believed in living within my income.

Real Stuff

Finnigan—A heart-to-heart talk between man and man is the real stuff. Hooligan—Aw, get out! What about a tongue-to-tongue talk between woman and woman?—New Bedford Standard.

Humanitarian

Father—So you think we ought to see the circus.

Freddy—Certainly, daddy. How can the poor animal trainers make a living if we don't buy tickets?

Exit

Husband—From the glimpse I had of her this morning, I rather like our new cook. There seems to be plenty of go about her.

Wife—Yes, she's gone.

Wonder

Bobby—The cat scratched my finger, mother.

Mother—Yes, sorry, dear.

Bobby—Yes, but is the cat sorry?

Tea Talk

"I feel sorry," said the thin girl, "for a woman-hater, don't you?"

"Well," sighed the fat girl, "I feel sorrier for the woman he hates."

POLICE NEWS

A large sedan owned by Harry Royal of 71 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, was stolen from in front of that address between 7 and 7:30 Sunday night. At 8:50 that night Royal reported the theft. Soon after the car was captured in Shrewsbury by the police of that town and its two occupants arrested. They were Philip Catanzaro, 19, and his brother, Joseph Catanzaro, 16, of Bartlett street, Charlestown.

Before reaching Shrewsbury the costly car had been driven into an electric light pole at Marlboro, knocking the pole down and putting nearly half the street lights in that city out of commission. The youthful Charlestown automobile thieves continued on; the car although damaged could still be operated. The Marlboro police broadcast a description of it and the police in Shrewsbury were on the lookout when it passed through their town. Newton police went to Shrewsbury and brought the pair back to this city. In the Newton court on Monday they were arraigned and held for trial on December 28.
